GOETHALS GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO IRRIGATION PLAN

Tacoma, March 2.—(U. P.)—"The Columbia river basin irrigation project is a great project. The opportunities are wonderful. Looking into the future, I can see the water flowing over the dam and through the canals of the basin. I can see miles of tunnels, of sluices and of canals. I can see the entire district populated. I can see the acres blooming and fertile under the touch of water."

Such was the enthusiastic conception of the fulfillment of the Columbia river basin project given by Major General George W. Goethals, to members of the Commercial club at a banquet in his honor at the Tacoma hotel last night.

The remainder of his speech dealt with the subject of free tolls for American ships, which he disavows as a violation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty with Great Britain, which he explained in full.

"If America would have her shipping pass through the canal without charge, then she may do it in only one way. That is to collect the tolls and turn the money back by congressional appropriation. This is perfectly legal and is in accordance with the custom of the British in the Suez canal," said General Goethals.

The business men present vigorously applauded the general's statement that he believes the west the only section of the country in which to live, and that he intends to persuade Mr. Goethals to make their home here.
