

Portland Commission's Smoker Saturday Night Promises Action.: Large List for Swim Meet

Pitching Staff Well Balanced Says T. Turner

By George Berts
Journal Sports Editor

PORTLAND TRAINING CAMP, Pasadena, Cal., March 10.—Judging from the performance of the hurlers working out under the direction of Tom Turner, assistant manager of the Beavers, Portland will have a well balanced pitching staff this season.

Turner believes that Harry Blumiller, Harvey Freeman and Jim Middleton will be winning pitchers in the Coast League. There's no question about Sutherland and the trio of southpaws ought to go much better than they did last year.

Leverenz was dissatisfied with his work at Salt Lake but is more than pleased with the surroundings on the Beaver squad. Ross ought to be a winner with the Beavers. He's a hard worker and makes a study of the pitching game. Crumpler is pleased with his berth on the Portland club.

The staff is composed of pitchers who are classed as brainy twirlers. Sutherland is a brainy pitcher with a deceptive delivery. Middleton is in the same class. Both are smart heaters and possess curve balls and a good change of pace. Blumiller is a fast ball pitcher with a good change of pace. He seems to have good control in the couple of innings he has worked in the Regular-Yanigan games and may be over his wild streak that hampered his work with the Jersey City club during the past two seasons. Blumiller has a good style of delivery that makes it hard for the batters to see the ball as it leaves his hand.

Crumpler has a good fast ball for a southpaw and his change of pace is good. Freeman is a pitcher who depends a lot on the change of pace. He's got quite a pitching head on his shoulders also.

Leverenz is an old fox as a pitcher. He has great control and should make Portland a winning slaver.

Ross is a fairly wise hurler, and with good support this year, something that he has not had since he joined the Beavers he may be able to win a lot of games.

Crumpler went pretty good with the Beavers last year, but like most southpaws he went along at a great pace for several innings and then blew up. Despite the fact that he won 13 and lost 16 games last year, he finished the season with an earned run average of .34, his wild pitching chances in the pennant race this season depend on the ability of the pitchers to deliver. This is the opinion of the veterans on the club. The club has the hitting and fielding strength and if the pitchers come through, the Beavers are going to be up in the race all the time.

At the Training Camps

MYRTLEDALE, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—After a day's work, the Oaks were hard at it again today preparing for their first game Sunday, when a bunch of Oakland rooters will accompany Pop Arietti's Oakland Independents to match the Oaks show their form. The squad still numbers 22, and Manager Howard will delay cutting until the last minute.

Bols Springs, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—The problem of filling the shoes of Jimmy Cavency just now is occupying the mind of Jack Miller, guiding hand of the Seals. Miller has about made up his mind to play first himself, and that leaves the short field position yet to be decided. The Seals prepared today for a game Sunday at Santa Rosa.

Modesto, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—The early season work of the Bees' pitching staff is filling the heart of Manager Duffy Lewis with glee. He has been adding to their work gradually, and all have been coming through in fine shape. The men were a bit sore after the hardest workout of the season yesterday, but Lewis had them hard at it again today.

Stockton, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—With all of the invalids up and around again, the Indians' squad was returning normal proportions today. The Old Cubs trimmed the Papooses, 5 to 4, in the first full tilt of the season. Manager McCredie was especially pleased with the showing of Harry Gardner, who pitched the winning game. Rose Murphy's batting eye was working overtime.

Sacramento, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—With the second week of pre-season practice waning for the Senators, the outstanding features of the first fortnight's work are the brilliant promise shown by the infielders and the showings made by rookies George Gibson and Tom Rose. Gibson, a pitcher of experience, seems to have found himself this year, and Rose, under Colonel Pick's tutelage, is hitting in real fashion.

Washington Park, Los Angeles, March 10.—(U. P.)—Manager William Beach will put his Vernon Tigers through their final workout today for their exhibition game tomorrow with the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs have arrived in town and are awaiting with eagerness their tilt with the Vernons Sunday, according to Pilot Killifer.

Elsinore, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—Manager Wade Killifer, with the Los Angeles club, will depart tonight for their first trip of the season. First they go to Riverside for a practice game with the Sheetrock Indians. Sunday they take on the Chicago Cubs in the Angel City.

Hoquiam, Wash., March 10.—The Hoquiam high school basketball team defeated Aberdeen high school here Wednesday by a score of 21 to 21, the game being the annual titular clash between the two harbor schools.

The Anabel basketball team defeated the Young Men's Christian association Victorians, 25 to 22, in the Franklin high school gymnasium Wednesday night.

Haines, Or., March 10.—Haines is celebrating the victory of the local high school basketball team over the La Grande team at La Grande Saturday night. The game, which was the final one for the Haines quintet during the present season, is said to have been the fastest played on any floor of the association during the season, and resulted in a score of 37 to 27 in favor of Haines. The victory scored by the Haines team is attributed to speed, perfect team work and a passing system with which the La Grande team was not familiar.

B. Ortega Is In Best Shape Of His Career

BATTILING ORTEGA is making a "come-back" and he believes that he is going to regain the position he held a year or two ago. Judging from his last three or four bouts he is making good. Saturday night he will appear in the Armory in one of the 10-round main events against Joe Swain and Ortega is going to end the contest quick, he says.

The main reason for his being so ambitious is that his manager, Willie Bernstein, has been receiving offers for the Battling Californian ever since he met Jimmy West the first time. Ortega is in the best possible condition, in fact, he says that he has never felt better in his life. He is knocking his sparring partners around the ring and Captain Hansen, matchmaker of the Portland commission, has found it difficult to secure partners able to stand the gaff.

The other two 10-round matches promise to be knock-down-drag-out affairs. Joe Dunn, who meets Hal Clark, feels that he is the logical opponent of Bobby Harper. Joe says that he put Harper on the canvas while working out with him and that he is going to end Clark's hopes of meeting the fast Seattle lightweight and take on the bout himself. Dunn is working hard for the tussle and he wants to show the Portland fans that he has learned more about boxing since he went away than he ever knew before.

George Brandon is down to swing gloves with Mike DePinto, who is billed as a "corner." Mike realizes that he has the toughest customer he ever met in Brandon, who has been able to break championship bubbles for a lot of the boys in these parts. The former navy star is well known for his slugging ability as well as his ability to assimilate punishment. George will take three, many more, in order to get in a solid punch and his style of milling makes a hit with the spectators for he never knows when he is going to be hit.

The advance seat sale makes Secretary-Treasurer Joe Wood smile with glee and reports are that one of the largest crowds of the last three months will be on hand. Tickets are on sale at Rick's and Sillers' and the first bout of the evening will start at 8:30 o'clock.

STOCKTON, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—With all of the invalids up and around again, the Indians' squad was returning normal proportions today. The Old Cubs trimmed the Papooses, 5 to 4, in the first full tilt of the season. Manager McCredie was especially pleased with the showing of Harry Gardner, who pitched the winning game. Rose Murphy's batting eye was working overtime.

Sacramento, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—With the second week of pre-season practice waning for the Senators, the outstanding features of the first fortnight's work are the brilliant promise shown by the infielders and the showings made by rookies George Gibson and Tom Rose. Gibson, a pitcher of experience, seems to have found himself this year, and Rose, under Colonel Pick's tutelage, is hitting in real fashion.

Washington Park, Los Angeles, March 10.—(U. P.)—Manager William Beach will put his Vernon Tigers through their final workout today for their exhibition game tomorrow with the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs have arrived in town and are awaiting with eagerness their tilt with the Vernons Sunday, according to Pilot Killifer.

Elsinore, Cal., March 10.—(U. P.)—Manager Wade Killifer, with the Los Angeles club, will depart tonight for their first trip of the season. First they go to Riverside for a practice game with the Sheetrock Indians. Sunday they take on the Chicago Cubs in the Angel City.

Hoquiam, Wash., March 10.—The Hoquiam high school basketball team defeated Aberdeen high school here Wednesday by a score of 21 to 21, the game being the annual titular clash between the two harbor schools.

The Anabel basketball team defeated the Young Men's Christian association Victorians, 25 to 22, in the Franklin high school gymnasium Wednesday night.

Haines, Or., March 10.—Haines is celebrating the victory of the local high school basketball team over the La Grande team at La Grande Saturday night. The game, which was the final one for the Haines quintet during the present season, is said to have been the fastest played on any floor of the association during the season, and resulted in a score of 37 to 27 in favor of Haines. The victory scored by the Haines team is attributed to speed, perfect team work and a passing system with which the La Grande team was not familiar.

FIGHT SOLD OUT SCALPERS DO IT

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—Ticket scalpers in New York never lose a decision. No matter what the weight or what the rules are, the "specs" get there.

New Yorkers have become such easy victims of the post-bout jobbers that it is almost necessary to slip in a hallway and barter for a subway ticket.

It has gone so far that scalpers have finally swooped down on the six day bike race. Without going to some of the "speculators" and paying double or triple value of the ticket, it is impossible to get an admission slip for Saturday night, the closing night of the race.

There isn't a ticket in sight for the Gibbons-Greg fight next Monday night, and walls are being raised to the skies. The row is being given by a charitable organization and the "specs" are getting practically the whole house. Seven dollar seats are selling for $15, and the scalpers aren't anxious to sell.

Tex Rickard gave the "specs" a bad beating in a ticket fight. He knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

NEW YORK, March 10.—(U. P.)—The structure of football may be expected to result from the week-end session of the football rules committee, but some interesting changes in its nature will probably be made. It has been suggested that the committee take steps to see that the work of officials at next year's season is improved.

This, no doubt, would be a fine thing if some workable plan for accomplishing it could be devised. Some scheme whereby the central board of officials could be made a more efficient body is just as important as an expedient designed to jactup the officials themselves.

In the Lehigh-La Fayette game last year, for example, two prominent officials served at Bethlehem, one of which was to referee and which was to umpire.

Brooklyn Is Showing Real Training Pep

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

BROOKLYN is pushing steadily ahead at Jacksonville today, doing a lot of plain, old-fashioned training under the supervision of a manager who believes in old-fashioned methods. There is a reason for it. Brooklyn will be the first team to tackle the New York champions in the regular season of the National League, and Uncle Robbie is very anxious that his ballplayers shall be in some exceptional condition to play straightaway baseball.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

He isn't worrying much about what they may do on the Fourth of July, but he is perfectly willing that the Fourth shall take care of itself. But, like every other experienced manager, he knows what it means to get a good start against a team like New York. In 1921 he had the Brooklyn in such trim that he turned the Giants back at the start, and they were one of them for a long time.

Meet Old Blink McCloskey He's Real Nabob Nowadays

By Fairplay
(Copyright, 1922, by The Journal)

NEW YORK, March 10.—Blink McCloskey is the fight for the prize money of holding his job as social secretary and general equerry to His Highness Prince Mohammed Ali Ibrahim of Egypt, a position which he won by knocking out the prince's previous retainer, Angle-guy, a big ham-fisted Egyptian, in Cairo, four years ago.

Blink and the prince are new arrivals in Egypt. The glided hotel where they are stopping was besieged today by ambitious young gentlemen of the fistic fraternity, all swayed by a common impulse to knock Blink for a goal