SAYS HARDING WILL SURELY VETO BONUS

Reports Come From Florida That President Is Unalterably Opposed to Certificate Plan and Determined Not to Sign Bill.

Washington, March 11.—(U. P.)—More delay today loomed up in the path of the new soldier bonus bill. Bonus leaders of the house received reports from the Harding household in Florida that the executive is virtually certain to veto the new certificate loan plan. Meanwhile, as an indication of growing opposition to the measure, the house ways and means committee has postponed until Monday its meeting to report out the bill. This was done because some pro-bonus committeemen were absent. The congressmen who have been pushing the bonus have been in the face of the president's objections and the flood of protests that have been coming in for the last month were cheered when Representative Fordney, chairman of the house ways and means committee, spread the word that, on his trip to the Middle West, he found "sentiment overwhelmingly in favor of the bonus."

HARDING AND CONGRESS IN SHOWDOWN FOR LEADERSHIP

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1922, by The Journal)
Washington, March 11.—The showdown in leadership between President Harding and congress has come. Hints from St. Augustine correspondents that the president took a trip to Florida at this critical moment in affairs of state for reasons other than needed rest are confirmed by developments in the national capital itself. Mr. Harding isn't the type of man who would have an open break with the leaders in congress. He doesn't like bluster and political fireworks. But the truth of the situation is gradually coming out—he is getting weary of the estimate which certain leaders in congress are placing upon his leadership. FIGURED AT FORDNEY
There is reason to believe that the president isn't at all happy about the persistence of Representative Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house, in pushing to the front proposals that may let congress out of its dilemma, but only put the burden of a distasteful action upon the head of the party itself. Mr. Harding is sorry he committed himself to the bonus, but he means to go through with it just the same. What he cannot understand is why house leaders insist upon trying what appears to him to be impossible schemes for the raising of the money. The president is in favor of the sales tax for many reasons. He believes it

HARDING ARRIVES AT ORMOND BEACH

Ormond Beach, Fla., March 11.—President Harding arrived here this morning and played 18 holes of golf with Speaker Gillette, E. R. McLean and Under Secretary of State Fletcher. Threatening weather, which earlier had promised to upset the day's plans, gave way to a balmy clear day and the president enjoyed his morning to the fullest. Arriving earlier than was expected at Ormond Beach, he was met by a motorcade which was found possible to go through the canal before dark, so plans to dock at the entrance over night were changed and the boat was sent through. The houseboat was anchored "somewhere" in the Halifax river last night. The president's plans beyond this morning have not been yet disclosed.

Nampa Man Is Given Two Years at McNeil

Boise, Idaho, March 11.—Sentence was passed this morning by Judge F. S. Dietrich of the United States district court for Idaho on H. C. Eastabrook of Nampa, convicted of violation of the Mann act. Eastabrook served two years at McNeil Island. Mrs. Winifred Mullins, convicted with him, was granted a stay of 30 days.

Crime Is Leading to Anarchy Chicago One of Worst Spots

(Copyright, 1922, by The Journal)
Washington, March 11.—Crime in the United States has reached appalling proportions and unless checked soon will carry the nation to anarchy. Such is the conclusion of five of the leading members of the American Bar association appointed as a committee by that organization to inquire into the causes of the present crime wave and suggest a remedy. Five prime reasons have been advanced to the committee as the cause of the present crime wave: First, that the crime wave is the natural outgrowth of the war. Second, that the crime wave, instead of being an outgrowth of the war, is merely one of the causes which led to the war and which is continuing in aggravated form, after the war has ended. Third, a growing belief on the part of the masses throughout the country that the courts are only for the rich and deny

Klan Gives $45 to Aid Maimed Boy

Vancouver, Wash., March 11.—The Ku Klux Klan opened activities in Vancouver this morning, but the object was one of heart interest. Three men, completely disguised in the habiliments of the order, entered the office of County School Superintendent Bennett, asking for Miss Janet Worden, county nurse, whose office is adjoining Miss Worden's office. Into her hands the mysterious visitors thrust $45, saying it was to be used for the purchase of braces for a 10-year-old boy, a victim of infantile paralysis. The braces, Miss Worden said, may mean that the boy will gain use of his limbs. In addition to the contribution of the Klansmen, Miss Worden was informed by telephone Friday that an anonymous contributor would take care of the entire bill. Prior to this she had received gifts amounting to $8 toward the fund. Miss Worden plans to use the $45 to buy special fit shoes for the boy. The work of the braces and, with the consent of the donors, will use any additional funds for the benefit of another crippled boy.

HAWAII STRONG FOR 1925 FAIR

Honolulu, Feb. 27.—(By Mail.)—The islands on a rainy day, on such a day as this, are not to be seen at their best. Or so maintain those whose delight it is to share with outsiders the beauty of Hawaii. The mists that wrapped the group this morning, the clouds that pressed close upon the tawny mountains and cliffs of Oahu, wrought an effect that to the humble tourist leaves naught to desire. The white shore line was embroidered with iridescence, with mother of pearl; the sea was a softened sapphire; and over the land and far across the harbor clinging the heavy breath of foliage and flowers. GREETED IN HONOLULU
Here in the capital folk have not only heard of the Oregon 1925 exposition, but are enthusiastic in its behalf. When Julius L. Meier, commissioner for the enrollment of participants in the fair, landed for the few hours of the Taiyo Maru's stay in port, he found many representatives of the Chamber of Commerce ready to greet him and voice their keen interest in his mission. For Honolulu and all Hawaii is persuaded that the holding of the exposition on the Pacific coast cannot but vastly benefit these delectable isles of the tourist. Even as the citizens of San Francisco, they perceive that, however great the benefits to be heaped upon Oregon, they too will share. EXHIBIT IS PROMISED
"You may confidently count upon us for such an exhibit as will be worthy of Honolulu and Hawaii," promised George H. Angus, prominent in the chamber and chairman of the committee in charge of the Shrine trip next June. "We have often discussed the Oregon

Senate Halts Over Treaty Fight When Lady Asquith Comes

Washington, March 11.—(I. N. S.)—Heated debate on ratification of the four-power treaty momentarily lost the spotlight in the senate today when Lord Asquith entered. The wife of the former British premier took a seat in the diplomatic gallery directly facing Senator Underwood, the treaty leader who was defending the pact. Other senators diverted their attention to the gallery as Lady Asquith produced a gold-filled pencil and a sheet of paper. She calmly laid an ominous bottle of smelling salts on the gallery railing in full view of the senate. Underwood was not deterred.

Cloudiness and Rain Predicted for Coast

Fight on White Pine Blister Rust Begun By U. S. Government

C. R. Stillinger, in charge of quarantine inspection of the board of horticulture, arrived in Portland from Moscow, Idaho, today to get under way the inspection of all shipments of gooseberry and currant bushes and of five-pine needles in Oregon and Washington. This is one of the first steps in the campaign of the government and private agencies for the eradication of the white pine blister rust which has appeared in Northern Washington and British Columbia. Special attention will be paid to shipments to and from Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane and all nursery stock will be closely examined for the species affected by the blister rust. Justice to the poor, with the resultant tendency on the part of the poor man taking the law into his own hands. Fourth, that the trouble is largely with the members of the bar themselves. Magistrate practicing law today, the committee has been told, ought to be in jail, instead. Fifth, that conviction for crime in the courts is difficult and that the criminal, consequently, is not punished sufficiently to deter others from repeating his offense. The committee, consisting of W. B. Swaney, Chattanooga, Tenn.; former Governor Charles S. Whitman, New York; Judge Marcus A. Kavanaugh of Chicago; Charles W. Farnham, St. Paul, and Wade H. Ellis of this city, having concluded a session at Ellis' office here, is to meet again shortly to devise a program of relief from present conditions.

INDIANS ARE SHOT DOWN IN UPRISING

Several Reported Killed When Police Turn Guns on 2000 Tribesmen in State of Rajasthan, India, Dispatch Says.

London, March 11.—(I. N. S.)—Indian police today fired on a force of 2000 Bhil tribesmen in the state of Rajasthan, killing 20 and wounding 29, according to a dispatch from India. MUTINY OF TROOPS FOLLOWS ARREST OF GHANDI IN INDIA
Washington, March 11.—(U. P.)—Mutiny of Sikh and Punjabi troops at Amballa, India, followed the arrest of Ghandi, according to Saliendra Ghosh, the non-cooperative leader's representative here. He said he received this information in a cable from India. Ghosh said hartals (campaigns of revolutionists to stop all business) began today in principal cities of India. The troops that revolted, Ghosh said, recently appeared with Ghandi camps. In the big cities, where extra British troops were on duty, quiet was reported. The famous Indian leader was quietly arrested at Ahmedabad, 200 miles from Bombay, and spirited away to prevent attempts at rescue. The incarceration of Ghandi, who is believed to be the most powerful "mahatma," possessed of miraculous powers, is the British government's direct deft to growing sedition in India. It is a sign that repressive measures have been determined upon, and that the moderate policy of Edwin S. Montagu, who resigned as secretary of state for India, has been definitely abandoned. Lord Denby may be chosen to succeed Montagu as secretary for India, the Daily Express intimated.

EX-CAPTAIN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Captain R. P. McChesney, former master of the steamship Blue Eagle, is in the county jail today in default of bonds of $3700 fixed by the federal court to ensure his appearance to answer a charge of embezzlement of funds from the Blue Eagle when he was in command. Complications arose, however, which led to the dismissal of McChesney and the complaint made to the United States attorney. The Blue Eagle was built in Portland and left here under the command of McChesney in 1919. The West Coyote plies between Portland and the Orient.

Union leaders and employers conferred throughout the night and this morning, but without result. The strike directly and indirectly affects a million workers. The community chest fund reached a new high level Friday afternoon, when the total subscriptions were reported to have reached $525,041. Various groups report progress in their individual recanvass work, and reports of money obtained probably will be made soon.

Assassin's Bullet Crashes Through Window and Crushes Skull of John T. Brunen, Friend of Movie Director Who Was Slain

Camden, N. J., March 11.—(U. P.)—Police are working on the theory that the man who killed John T. Brunen, theatrical producer, at his home at Riverside near here, last night, are the same that murdered William Desmond Taylor in Los Angeles, February 1. Brunen, formerly a close friend of Taylor, was killed by a shot in the neck as he was sitting in the kitchen of his home. The assassins, three men, were seen to drive up to his house in an automobile. One entered, then hurried out and they hastened away. No shot was heard, however, because of the "wiping out of old scores," was the basis of the theory that Brunen was killed by Taylor's slayers. Both Taylor and Brunen, it is believed, may have been marked for death by a gang with which they had quarreled, possibly years before. The assassins' methods were the same in both murders. In both the victim was shot from behind. In neither case was the shot heard, leading to the belief a silencer may have been employed. Taylor was killed with a bullet; Brunen with small lead shot. Brunen's home had been robbed under mysterious circumstances some time before he was slain, just as Taylor's was. County detectives have a description of the men who entered Brunen's house and are checking it up with the description of Edward F. Sands, suspected as Taylor's slayer. According to Sheriff Stecher, who lives next door to the Brunens, the first warning he had was the heavy report of the firing.

CONTRACTORS SAY FUNDS ARE WASTED

Competitive bidding on building construction for federal, state and municipal governments was urged by speakers at the third annual convention of the Pacific Northwest chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, at the Multnomah hotel today. Wastes of public funds and inefficient workmanship, resulting from handling construction operations by public officials, according to Arthur E. Bent of Washouet, president of the national organization, and other speakers at the meeting. O. G. Hughson, manager of the Portland builders' exchange, led the discussion on the public official contractor. L. H. Lloyd of California talked on bonds and insurance and R. P. Duncan of the department of labor and industries of Washington, delivered an address on the need of safety measures in construction work. The convention opened Friday morning and will close tonight with a banquet in the Arcadian grill of the Multnomah hotel. The entertainment program will include a luncheon for visiting ladies at the Waverly Country club at 1 p. m. today. A dinner dance in the Multnomah dining room was a feature of the program on the opening day. Walsh of Tacoma and H. W. Morrison of Boise, Idaho.

Fred Love's Secret Is Alive Unwritten Code May Step In

Contrary to opinion, the secret of who shot Fred Love, old-time yegman, rouser and well known character of the underworld, did not die with Love when he passed away at St. Vincent's Hospital last Wednesday. All of Portland's underworld knows who fired the shot two years ago that broke Love's spine and kept him bed-ridden and helpless until death brought him succor. Fred Love's secret, the unwritten code of the underworld will step into the breach, a gun will flash once, perhaps twice or three, and two brothers will bite the dust. Then the attempted cold-blooded murder of Fred Love will have been avenged. If one doesn't want to be too morally

Bread Price To Soar One Cent Higher

Advances which mean practically a dime a loaf, beginning Monday morning, are announced by local bakers for bread, effective in Portland Monday morning. This, according to bakers' interests, ends the low priced period for bread and the staff of life will be quoted hereafter on the basis of advancing prices for flour and wheat.

The new retail price of bread will be a dime a loaf, beginning Monday morning. This applies to the pound package. The 1 1/2 pound loaf will be 15c and the Pullman loaf will be 25c a pound thereafter. The price of doughnuts will be advanced to a dozen at wholesale to 25c and at retail the new price will be 25c a dozen. The new wholesale prices are: New Old 1 pound loaf 8c 7c 1 1/2 pound loaf 12c 10c 2 pound loaf 16c 14c Doughnuts 20c 15c Bakers place the full responsibility of the rise in the price of flour on the higher cost of flour. Flour has advanced very heavily during recent months while bread has been unchanged. Few of the bakers, however, have as yet paid the advanced price for flour as they were all given full opportunity to purchase their requirements for an extended period at the former low prices. The extra, however, been some advance in lard and compound.

MOTHER'S PLEA FOR CHILD WINS

Mrs. Hattie Rand has been a good mother, but she may have "spared the rod and spoiled the child," and she shall keep her little family intact. Circuit Judge Gates decided this morning after hearing the bitter arguments over the petition of H. F. Rand that his boy be taken from his divorced wife and given into his care. "The hands" two grown girls and the little boy were in the courtroom sitting with their mother and glaring at their father. The eldest boy is in the navy. Judge Gates said he based his decision in the case largely upon the attitude of Rand and the witness stand. Rand accused his daughter Mabel of wrongdoing and blamed the mother for it. His charges were emphatically denied. Mrs. Rand described her former husband as a swindler, a robber, a drunk, a scoundrel and a man who had been in the penitentiary. She said she had been a witness to his crimes and that she had been a witness to his cruelty to her and the children. "The time has passed," said Judge Gates, "when the double standard of morality can be applied to the home. Men who go out with women other than their wives are not to be excused for their children. I believe that if any of these children have done wrong it has been largely due to the example of their father. There is not a word of testimony to show that the mother has been at fault in any way, unless perhaps she was a little too lenient."
