

THREE OF BANK BANDITS TAKEN HOUR AFTER ACT

Tacoma, Wash., March 21.—(U. P.)—Deputy sheriffs today were bending every effort to capture the fourth member of the quartet who yesterday afternoon held up and robbed the Eatonville State bank and left J. G. Raley, cashier, and Mrs. S. J. Roseburg, bookkeeper, in the bank vault.

Michael Kelley, J. S. Scott and John O'Keefe, all of Seattle, are held in the county jail here, where they were taken following their capture near Eatonville by a posse of citizens.

The bandits obtained $2540 from the bank and all but $103 of this has been recovered. This amount is believed either to have been lost or to be on the person of the fourth member of the gang, whose identity the captured trio refuse to divulge. Police, however, have a good description of him.

CAUGHT ONE HOUR LATER Less than one hour after the men had robbed the bank three of the robbers were caught and brought back to Eatonville. The $2000 stolen was recovered.

The robbers were headed for Tacoma when their car broke down about three miles from Eatonville. They then stole Ernest Jacobson's Ford car, but had proceeded only a short distance before they were overhauled by Fred Johnson and E. H. Jackson. The posse which had been organized here then arrived on the scene and the robbers were brought back. They were searched and the money recovered.

Kelly and one of the other two were recognized as men who had worked on the state road here last summer. The third was a stranger. About two weeks ago the three came here in a laundry truck. They walked out of town, and the bank was held up five minutes before closing time.

ONE STAYS OUTSIDE Two men entered the bank at first while a third remained outside for a minute or two and then also entered. They covered the cashier, J. G. Raley, and the bookkeeper, Mrs. Roseburg, with revolvers. A customer entered the bank about that time and all three were ordered into the vault. The robbers took $2000 in currency and $1000 in silver.

No one passing thought anything about the pulling of the blinds as it was so near closing time.

A posse, heavily armed, at once took up the chase. When Johnson and Jackson came up to the trio of holdups, Johnson asked them who they were and where they were going. They said they had been working on the road and were en route to Tacoma when their car broke down.

When Johnson, who is an Eatonville blacksmith, spoke of the bank robbery, the trio wanted to join the man hunt, but Johnson said they did not look good to him. He ordered them to stay where they were. All this time Jackson had them covered with a Winchester.

NO RESISTANCE OFFERED When the full posse arrived the trio offered no resistance. After their first car had broken down the robbers held up Frank Krones, a farmer living west of Eatonville, who was en route to Eatonville. One stuck a gun in Krones' stomach and ordered him to get out quickly. Krones refused and a second of the trio stuck his gun in Krones' ribs. Still Krones refused to give up his car, whereupon one of the robbers took his gun by the muzzle and pointed it at Krones over the head with the butt. Krones pretended to be much concerned and said he had a family of six children and did not want them to become fatherless.

The robbers then told him to go about his business and say nothing about the affair. Coming on into Eatonville Krones learned of the holdup and when the trio were brought in, once recognized them. The men were taken to Tacoma by the sheriff Monday evening.

Oregon Wilson Fund Needs $4000 New Foundation Givers Are Named

Sixty per cent of Oregon's quota in the Woodrow Wilson Foundation has been pledged, including reports due from county chairmen, according to a message sent Hamilton Holt, executive director of the campaign, by the Oregon committee Tuesday afternoon.

This means that from the counties of Oregon and from those who want the ideals of Woodrow Wilson perpetuated there must come as speedily as possible subscriptions aggregating $4000.

The quickest way to subscribe to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation and thus join in the plan to award conspicuous future contributions to democracy, peace, human welfare and liberal thought, is to fill out the accompanying coupon, which appears in The Journal today, and forward it to state headquarters at the Lumbermen's Trust company bank. The subscription will be credited to the county by whom it comes as reported by a county chairman or one of his committeemen.

Subscriptions acknowledged today came from J. W. Brister, Mrs. A. F. Peterson, Mrs. C. A. Finley, Mrs. Edgar Dolan, Mrs. F. I. Gollehur, John G. Townsend, E. A. Townsend, J. E. Townsend, G. E. Townsend, B. A. Townsend, Mrs. B. F. Younger, H. A. Young, Helen Eborall, Edith Eborall, Mrs. I. C. Eborall, Mrs. H. B. Meyer, Elizabeth Donald, Verna Davis, Mrs. J. B. Fitzgerald, Charles I. Chesley, Ella Goodspeed, Earl H. Millett, all of Portland. From outstate towns: Harvey Robbins, Hood River; D. H. Pupils and J. S. Smith of Bend; R. H. Davres of Redmond; J. B. Randall of North Bend and H. J. C. Egbert of The Dalles.

London's Huge Rail Station Opened by Ceremony of King

(Special Cable to The Journal and the Chicago Daily News, 1923.)

London, March 21.—Londoners are proud of the Waterloo railway station which was opened today with color and pomp by the king and queen. Thousands of Americans know the station well. They have traveled into and out of it on the boat trains for many years. It is the old station extended and beautified until in respect to size and equipment it is the first terminus in Great Britain and the largest in Europe.

Vast crowds witnessed the royal procession and the ceremonial opening. These people took comparatively little interest in the remarkable details of the new station, such facts, for instance, that it has been 20 years in building, that it covers over an acre of more than 24 acres and that 1300 ordinary trains and 140,000 passengers use it every day.

What the people were thinking about mainly was the history of the structure in connection with the war.

Number of Social Disease Cases Gains As the result of the activities of David Robison, legal advisor of the United States public health service, who is attached to the city health bureau for temporary duty, 228 cases of social diseases were reported last week. The average for a city the size of Portland is 25 weekly. Robison said physicians are unusually negligent in making reports, trying to shield their patients. This, he said, is contrary to law, and will be prosecuted by his department.

GEORGE MARKOVICH FINED Municipal Judge Rossman Monday fined George Markovich $135 on a charge of violating the prohibition law. Markovich was running an alleged bootlegging place in his home at 733 Thurman street, according to the police. Several plants of whiskey were confiscated.

FIRE MARSHAL'S AIDE MOURNED BY FRIENDS

A. L. McMartin

The telephones in the fire marshal's office rang today only for routine calls. But on Friday and preceding days they buzzed almost incessantly. The question which invariably came over the wire was "How's Mac?" Mac died Friday evening. So the phones were quiet.

Mac's other name was A. L. McMartin, 561 Madison street. He became a member of the fire department in 1908, serving with engine company No. 3 at Sixteenth and Washington streets until 1920 when he went in the marshal's office. He was a favorite with his fellow firemen.

His death was caused by a complication of pneumonia and other diseases which followed an attack of influenza. He was ill for two weeks.

Funeral services were held Monday under the auspices of Samaritan lodge, Odd Fellows, in the Finley chapel. Besides his widow, four brothers, Earl and Sandy of Portland, Burr of Wood, Cal., and Daniel of Gladstone, N. D., survive.

John N. Williamson Is New Postmaster At Prineville, Or.

Washington, March 21.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Ex-Congressman John N. Williamson has been appointed postmaster at Prineville, Or., by President Harding, the nomination coming to the senate Monday. Williamson recently qualified by taking the civil service examination, and came first on the list of eligibles.

Polk E. Mays was nominated postmaster at Joseph. He is present postmaster. Ida M. Miller was nominated at Rockaway, Or.; May V. Garrison at Sumas, Wash., and George D. Polter at Springdale, Wash.

CHARLES GRASSMAN

Charles Grassman, who organized the old bartender's union in Portland, was found dead Friday in his home in Salem, according to word received by friends here. He was 73 years old. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon in Salem. When prohibition came, Grassman became a bartender in the office of the state industrial accident commission. He has no family.

MRS. THOMAS ALLMAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas Allman, former resident of Hillsboro and Reedville, in Washington county, who died at Cathlamet, Wash., were held Monday in Hillsboro. She was 61 years old. Her husband died about a month ago. He was at the time of his death county surveyor of Wahkiakum county.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes) Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed, and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

SNOW AND FLOODS MARK ADVENT OF MID-WEST SPRING

Chicago, March 21.—(I. N. S.)—The first official day of spring today found many sections of the middle west afflicted with snow, floods and temperature very reminiscent of January.

Sections of Wisconsin and Minnesota were the hardest hit. Snow and sleet storms crippled wire service throughout that territory and hampered transportation.

In Southern Indiana the Wabash river and other streams topped their banks and inundated large areas of farm lands, according to reports received here. Heavy rains caused the overflow. Parts of Northern Indiana were swept by a blizzard yesterday that was still causing inconvenience and discomfort today.

Throughout many sections of Illinois heavy rains have caused streams to rise to the flood stage, damaging crops of farmers and menacing several towns and cities.

The weather is more favorable today, however, and unless unexpected storms appear it is expected that normal conditions will be restored within the next 48 hours.

Spring was welcomed in Postland today by the highest early morning temperature of the year, the thermometer reading 50 degrees at 8 o'clock this morning.

Similar balmy temperatures also marked the passage of winter Monday, the highest maximum temperature of the year—57 degrees—having been recorded.

The district weather forecaster looked the weather map over today and decided that Portland might possibly get its first real warm rain of the year tonight and Wednesday.

To many people the change of seasons means an equinoctial storm, but to the weather forecaster that belief holds about as much weight as the forecast of the groundhog's shadow. He said he could see no storms in sight off the North Pacific ocean.

THE AVONDALE

Design 1977—in Twin Pair

IT used often to be said of American homes that they were either comfortable and ugly, or good looking and unlivable.

Perhaps with some truth a few years ago. But certainly not today.

Note, for instance, the current and growing demand for Simmons Beds—built for sleep.

Beauty of design that stands comparison with the best thought of the old master craftsmen.

And sleeping quality undreamed of a few years ago. Sturdy, firm, noiseless beds—in which every nerve and muscle relaxes—sound, refreshing sleep—all night, every night.

For every room shared by two persons—Twin Beds. One sleeper does not disturb the other or communicate colds or other infections.

Wool Men Oppose Including Diamond Lake in Park Area

Resolutions opposing the inclusion of the Diamond lake area in Crater Lake National park and the transfer of the United States forest service from the department of agriculture to the department of the interior have been adopted by the Klamath Wool Growers' association.

If the Diamond lake area were made part of the national park it would be closed to grazing and, according to the wool growers, would become a "breeding ground for timber wolves and other predatory animals such as the bobcat and the coyote."

The forest service is more efficient and more responsive to the needs of Western farmers and stockmen than park services bureaus, according to the second resolution of the wool growers.

THE LAUNDRY DRAIN REVEALS WHAT WASH-DAY RUBBING DOES TO YOUR CLOTHES

Next washday after you have let all the water run out of the laundry tub, peer down the drain and see what is there.

Bits of lint, tiny fuzzy balls, little roughed-up threads. You've noticed them often—did it ever occur to you what they were? Particles of the materials that make up your clothes. And your yourself have worn them off rubbing the clothes on a wash-board.

Now there is a way to remove every bit of dirt without injuring the material in any way.

Soak your clothes in Rinso suds. This new kind of soap is so rich in pure cleansing ingredients that it gently loosens and dissolves all the dirt. There is no hard rubbing, no wear and tear on the clothes—nothing to break or even weaken the fabric.
