Sick Vet Who Hiked 100 Miles With His Wife, Is Succored

Transfer of Thomas V. Cornwell, ex-service man suffering from tuberculo-sis, from Marshfield to a cot in Pierce's sanitarium, was accomplished Tuesday and Wednesday by the United States Veterans' bureau and the Portland chap-ter of the Red Cross with the speed and precision that characterized hospital

Cornwell and his wife went to Brook ngs from their home in California, Both came ill. The two walked from Brook ings to Marshfield, a distance of 100 miles. The Red Cross was informed of their plight, notified L. C. Jessuph, di ector of the United States Veterani arranged for Cornwell's transportation by boat to Portland. Cornwell arrived with his wife this morning and was at the dock by an ambulance.

Jury Disagrees in Narcotic Case and Is Then Dismissed

After an all-night session the jury trying Bert Swaney of Pendleton on a charge failed to agree and was rged this morning by Federal Bean. The vote is said to have een 7 to 5 for acquittal on every ballot during the night. The jury rethe case at 4 p. m. Tuesday. The rincipal witness against Swaney was George Hughes, an addict, who testified purchasing drugs from the defendant This is the second time a jury has dis agreed on this case, a similar verdict having been returned about three weeks ago. The presecution relied greatly on marked money which Hughes is said to have given Swaney. Failure of the govrument to actually prove that the money passed from Hughes to Swaney is given as the reason for the jury's werdict. An effort will be made by Swaney's attorney to have the indict-

Six Portables to Be Moved to Serve As Holladay School

Holladay school patrons were advised by the school board Monday night that business and properties committees, together with the school superintendents, would endeavor to remove six portables as rapidly as possible to the folladay grounds for the housing of a ortion of the pupils.

The Holladay delegation, appearing before the board, asked that portables sufficient to house all the pupils be moved to the grounds at once. This would require about 14.

The board is contemplating the push ing forward of the permanent new Holladay building, as soon as the insurance money is available.

Final Argument in Barker Homestead Action Completed

Final arguments in the suit brought by the heirs of Simon B. Barker against trict were heard Tuesday by Federal Judge Bean. The court took the case under advisement. Before Barker died he brought suit against Hinderman, aleging that the latter had no right to the and. According to the complaint on file Barker made entry in 1899, and his proof was allowed in 1901. No contest was filed, but following an investigation by a federal land agent the entry was canceled. Barker contends he never was notified of the cancellation. Hinderman secured a patent to the same homestead. The defendant alleges that Barker perjured himself in making proof on the land, and gives this as the reason for the cancellation. Hicferman contends that Barker never lived on the place, but resided in Condon during the time he was supposed to have resided on
