

VAGABOND GLOBE TROTTER TELLS OF THE JOYS OF LIFE

Most people don't take time enough when they travel and they don't want to exert themselves. You get vastly more pleasure by roughing it than you do by staying around with any Cook's tour.

Harry Franck, veteran "vagabond" traveler, whose travel books are among the "best sellers" in their line.

It is rather difficult for the average man or woman, however, to break away from a very comfortable life.

It reminds me of the tourist party that went over to Europe by schedule. Two women were in the same room.

While his book will be on China, he expects to go through Japan and Korea, and after his China book is done he will remain in the Orient for the winter and travel through India and the Philippines.

He will be accompanied to the Orient by his wife and 2-year-old son who will remain in the cities while he takes the more strenuous side trips.

Among his books are, "Working North From Patagonia," "Roaming Through the West Indies," "Vagabonding Down the Andes," on which he will talk tonight.

Frank's entertainment in Portland is largely in the hands of the Library Association and the Oregon Writers' League.

He will be a more intimate trip. I will touch very thoroughly most everything of interest.

WATCH THYSELF FOR SYMPTOMS, DOCTOR ADVISES

Dr. Ernest Tucker of the University of Oregon Medical school, before physicians and health workers at the health conference at the Multnomah hotel today, emphasized the importance of early treatment of cancer, and said the only way to cure it is by surgery while the disease is yet in its early stages.

Many a little case of indigestion is the beginning of an ulcer on the stomach which can be located by a proper X-ray examination.

Dr. Tucker said that while 30,000 men lose their lives in the war in this country, 300,000 persons lose their lives annually from cancer which might have been prevented had the victims taken early treatment.

Dr. S. M. Gellert of "The Cedars" urged modernizing of treatment of social diseases, saying that old methods often used are now out of date.

Dr. T. Homer Coffen, speaking on "Pneumonia and Influenza," said influenza is of unknown origin and influenza bacillus was not the cause; that influenza, accompanied by a high temperature for more than four days, is certain to be pneumonia, caused by the lowering of resistance.

Judge Jacob Kanier, speaking on "Delinquency and Courts," said the increase of delinquency is due to the popularity of divorce.

COUNCIL ALLOWS $5000 ITEM FOR BUREAU APPRAISAL

To cover preliminary costs the city council Wednesday appropriated $5000 from the water fund for use in the appraisal of the physical properties of the water bureau.

In passing the ordinance the council discussed the question of the engineering expert to make the appraisal.

Mann said that Willard had agreed to take the work for $25 a day and expenses, the expense to be the hire of clerical help.

Definite decision will be made at a meeting of the council Friday.

In making an estimate of the total cost Mann said the appraisal could be made for $18,000 to $20,000.

Demands were made today by residents of Woodlawn that Dekum avenue be paved from Durham avenue east to 18th street.

A delegation of 50 appeared before Commissioner Barbur, asking that the improvement be made at once, as the street is practically impassable.

In the original petition it was asked that Dekum, Madrona, Fern and East Ninth streets be made into a district improvement.

The cost of the improvement was estimated at $35,000. It was deferred because the property of the district is of low value and the owners would have to bond and in addition pay cash varying from $20 to $500 a lot.

The question will be put up to the city council, as the year's program was complete and the improvement, if carried through, would necessitate an emergency measure.

The residents agreed to waive all other improvements if Dekum avenue could be paved. The cost of this street alone is estimated at $25,000.

MAN WHO COLLIDED WITH POLICE CAR RELEASED ON BAIL

After remaining in the city jail more than 35 hours because he was unable to raise $1000 bail demanded by the police, Edwin Hughes of Corvallis, whose automobile collided with a police car which carried no siren, was released Wednesday night on $100 cash bail.

His case was brought to the attention of Municipal Judge W. A. Ekwall, Hughes was released on the small cash bail. He was charged with reckless driving.

Nurses at the Good Samaritan hospital report Patrolman E. A. Ripley improving slowly. He suffered a fractured arm and severe contusions of the body.

Both automobiles were speeding. Ripley was answering an emergency call. His automobile had no siren or any other means of distinguishing it from a private automobile at that time of night and Hughes had the right of way.

The case will be tried Tuesday.

TWO SEEK FREEDOM Oregon City, April 12.—Divorce suits were filed by Ada May against Clyde May, married in Portland in March, 1920, and Otto Bluff against Myrtle Bluff, married in Marion county, March 23, 1919.

Dr. A. T. McCormack gave another talk early this afternoon on "The Health Officer as a Leader in the Community," and other talks were given by Dr. William House on "Overwork and Strain" and Miss Grace Chase on "Care of Girls."

Dr. McCormack will give his last talk Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, just before the close of the institute.

That the most learned authority on tuberculosis in the world was devoting his time to the study of diseases in furriers instead of research work for the prevention of tuberculosis, was the statement of Dr. Gerald E. Webb in his address before the institute Wednesday.

Dr. Webb, himself an authority on this disease, declared it a pity that so much money and brains were devoted to the construction of war materiel and so little to stamping out this plague.

He stated that complete rest and relaxation under the care of a competent physician is the only sure cure for tuberculosis.

Dr. Webb will speak at Central library tonight at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Oregon Tuberculosis association.

gal said were concealed in the coal bunkers.

The following day Lightner is said to have learned through subterranean sources what was aboard the ship.

At Wauna he found Ura, who could speak both Japanese and English, and engaged him as interpreter. Lightner is said to have shown several letters written in Japanese, in which he was introduced as "John Roberts" to the masters of all vessels, as an honest American business man, willing to purchase anything the crew had to sell.

On this trip Lightner is said to have offered to purchase all the whiskey and narcotics on board, and to have secured samples, agreeing to return the following night by launch.

Later when four men boarded the steamer from the launch, Naki became suspicious. Fiegel said, and demanded an identification from Ura.

Lightner is said to have explained that Brown was the "boss," and that the other two were the engineers on the launch.

After the drugs and liquor were transferred to the launch, the two "engineers" are said to have hung back their coats and represented themselves as customs officials, whereupon Naki and Ura fled in terror.

Ura fled in terror. Ura said he staved out in the woods all night.

Sentenced to Jail For Making Liquor

After serving 50 days in the county jail awaiting trial on a liquor charge, Gardner Mason appeared before Federal Judge Bean this morning and retracted his plea of not guilty, and threw himself upon the mercy of the court.

Judge Bean sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail for manufacturing liquor.

Mason was charged with teaching Edwin Greig, 17-year-old Baker orphan, and Perry Richardson, his guardian, how to manufacture liquor, and then with purchasing all the liquor they made.

The boy was sentenced to 10 days and Richardson to 30 days. They pleaded guilty at the time of their arrest.
