

IMPROVEMENTS ARE TO BE MADE IN COLUMBIA FOREST

Plans are under way for the greater recreational development of the government mineral springs on Trapper creek, about 17 miles northwest of Carson, Wash., in the Columbia national forest, through the improvement of public grounds and the building of a road to a colony of summer homesites which will soon be offered for lease, according to Supervisor Adam Wright, who is working with Assistant District Forester C. L. Buck on the project.

The new road will leave the main automobile road about a half mile from the hotel, at the edge of the public camp grounds, which extend from the edge of the green timber to the hotel, and cross Trapper creek to the summer home sites which have been surveyed just across the stream. Other summer home sites are to be laid out on the west side of Trapper creek, upstream from the hotel.

The road leading to government mineral springs is to be improved by the planting of trees along each side of the road for a distance of about two miles before the green timber is reached. Planting will begin next week. The areas will be used as help nature, which will, in time, reproduce the area which has been logged off by the Wind River lumber company and burned over, and make the drive more attractive along that portion of the road which is most desolate before green timber is reached.

Government mineral springs can be reached by automobile in a four or five-hour ride from Portland.

Civic Departments To Act Separately At Marine Hearing

That the port and dock commission and the Chamber of Commerce will act, not jointly, but individually in legal representation of Portland in interstate commerce commission hearing to be held here in June on the enforcement of section 23 of the merchant marine act of 1920, was stated Tuesday by Frank M. Warren, president of the port of Portland.

The port commission will be represented by Gus C. Moser, its attorney; the chamber commission by Walter F. La Roche, its attorney. Negotiations are now under way for legal representation of the chamber, said H. B. Van Duser, president of that organization.

There is no plan for personal representation of Portland at the hearings to be conducted by the section 23 committee of the shipping board on the Atlantic coast, the first to be held April 21 at Boston, and others at New York and Savannah.

Bonding of Firms To Guard Builders Of Homes Urged

Resolutions urging the passage of an ordinance by the city council requiring the licensing and bonding of firms and individuals engaged in the erection of homes were passed at a meeting of the Portland Home Builders and Contractors' association Monday night. For the protection of the public against incompetent and dishonest contractors it was proposed that persons or firms engaged in home construction be required to give bond for not less than $1000 and satisfy the city building department of their qualifications before a license would be issued.

Officers of the association are: R. Hies, president; T. B. Winship, vice president; P. L. Read, secretary and treasurer. Other members are: Robert B. Reel, Hies Construction company; P. B. Turner, J. W. McFarland, George A. Ross, R. B. McFarland, A. Pajunen, C. A. Stever, Frank A. Read, M. L. McMillan, N. O. Ecklund, H. R. Kibler, H. E. Doherty, Cleland & Hubbard, T. A. Wetherland, John E. Ness, Pacific Building company, Elmer E. Katlinger, J. Bryson Moore, H. H. Harris, I. R. Caples, Emil Johnson, Emil Johnson, C. O. Westland, A. C. Malouin, Herman Nelson, M. Ness, G. E. Maxwell, R. Christman, Herman Prooty, William Hildebrandt.

Game Law Violated In Redmond District

Game law violations have been unusually numerous this year in the Redmond district, according to C. A. Adams, game warden, who was in Portland Tuesday. A hard winter and heavy snows have forced the deer to the lower levels, where many have been killed unlawfully, says Adams. The deer are extremely poor, because most of the bushes upon which they feed are buried in the snow.

DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

Frank Mitchell, legal adviser of the federal prohibition director, will speak Wednesday at the Social Workers' luncheon, Seaside hotel, on "The Enforcement of the Prohibition Law in Oregon."

SNOW KEEPS RIVERS LOW

Lewiston, Idaho, April 19.—Continued snow in the mountains and surrounding country has checked the rise of rivers in this vicinity, the Snake river dropping four feet in a week.

Dye Stockings or Sweater in Diamond Dyes

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, napery, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can use. New, rich, fadeless colors for worn garments or dyes even if they have never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—other dyeing material will come out right, but Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Petitions Seeking Recall of Williams And Buchtel Ready

Salem, April 18.—Petitions for the recall of Chairman Fred A. Williams, chairman of the state public commission, and Fred G. Buchtel, a member, were deposited with the secretary of state this afternoon, the former bearing 42,000 signatures and the latter 32,000.

The petitions will not be filed until April 25, the first day on which it will be legally possible to take such action. It was explained that by that date petitions for the recall of H. H. Corey would be ready for filing.

Within five days after filing the two men named must resign or their names will automatically appear on the ballot at the recall election, which must be held within 30 days if enough of the signatures are found valid to make the election compulsory.

The petitions were brought to Salem by R. Duncanson, president of the recall committee, W. Ellis, secretary, and F. S. Myers. The three said the committee has no announcement to make as to candidates to be named in the event the election is called, preferring to wait until the time expires in which Williams and Buchtel may resign. Should the resignations of both be turned in, no recall election would be necessary, as successors would be named by the governor. Should one resign only one election contest would be held.

Bodies of 5 More Soldiers Are Due To Arrive Tonight

Bodies of the five soldiers en route to Portland, will arrive at 8 o'clock tonight, according to announcement Tuesday of the army quartermaster. Those of the two Portland men, Lieutenant Robert A. Sherwood and Private Lee C. Meadows, will be buried here, while the other three will be sent out Thursday morning to various points in the Northwest.

At the request of his mother private funeral services will be held for Sherwood. Sherwood was in the medical department attached to the 39th Infantry and was killed in action September 17, 1918. He was the son of E. F. Sherwood of the Portland police department and Mrs. Voda H. Sherwood.

Military honors will be accorded Lee Meadows, who was killed in action August 5, 1918, after service in company B, 162nd Infantry, and Company A, 127th Infantry. He was the son of Charles H. Meadows, 383 Ross street. His funeral will be conducted at the Finley undertaking parlors at 2:30 p. m. Saturday by the Allied Veterans. Men of company B, 126th Infantry, will act as honorary pallbearers, a platoon to be led by Captain Fred M. West, Rev. E. W. Seaman will officiate.

The last bodies to be sent to Portland from overseas will leave New York City April 27, according to latest advices.

Penny Managers to Assemble in Annual Meet in Portland

Managers of 85 stores of the J. C. Penney company in Oregon, Washington, California and Montana will participate in the annual conference of the company's Northwestern managers with buyers and executives from New York and St. Louis, beginning at 8 a. m. Friday at the Multnomah hotel. George H. Bushnell, vice president and controller of the company, will be in charge of the convention and will be assisted by 25 buyers and other officials from the Eastern headquarters.

W. G. Hoag, sales manager; R. L. Whitman of the advertising department and Dr. Thomas Tappier of the educational department of the Penney company will be among the principal speakers at the conference. The company operates 312 stores in 27 states and will open stores in two additional states, West Virginia and New York, during the current year. A total of 60 new stores have been planned for the year.

Mill Wage Dispute Awaits Transcript

Klamath Falls, April 19.—Five hundred pages of shorthand notes were taken in the state conciliation board's lumber strike hearing here, which, when transcribed, will make approximately 700 typewritten pages. Until the transcript is received by the board, little progress can be made toward reaching a decision, it is understood here. It is expected the work will be completed within 10 days, but completed portions will be forwarded from time to time.

One Sore Throat Case Is Reported

One new case of septic sore throat was reported at the city health office Tuesday, Mrs. H. C. Baker of No. 235 1/2 11th street having a malignant attack. This report was the first filed since Saturday. Other cases are said to be progressing favorably. The morning report showed 45 cases of smallpox, 26 cases of diphtheria and 17 cases of scarlet fever now prevalent in the city.

Third Hearing for Broker Commenced

Sokane, Wash., April 19.—Following a decision by Judge Hugo Oswald overruling an amended motion of previous acquittal, made in behalf of Irving Whitehouse in order to block further prosecution of cases against him, the third trial of Whitehouse, head of the former brokerage firm of the Irwin Whitehouse company, in an Oregon court, Whitehouse is charged with grand larceny for alleged misappropriation of funds.

LEWISTON MAN DIES

Lewiston, Idaho, April 18.—Rudolph A. Walther, former Lewiston boy, died of pneumonia in a United States hospital ship at San Pedro, April 12.

STILLWELL ADMITS TESTIMONY UNTRUE

Bead, April 19.—George Stillwell, star witness for the state in the trial of A. J. Weston on a second degree murder charge for the killing of R. H. Krug of Sisters, admitted under cross examination this morning having signed a confession, implicating him as a technical accomplice of Weston. The admission was the basis for a court ruling, ordering the state to hand the defense a copy of the statement. A defense motion to this effect had been ruled on adversely by the court two hours before.

Stillwell, confronted with his own sworn testimony, given at the trial and preliminary hearing in 1920, admitted that his former evidence, in which he denied having accompanied Weston to the Krug cabin on the night of Krug's death, was untrue. He had been prevented from making a clean breast by the defense attorney's warning to answer only the questions put and because he was afraid that the news report might worry his wife, he said.

TELLS OF STRUGGLE

Mrs. May E. Arnold of Bead was the first prospective woman juror ever examined in Dechutes county, called in the third venire required for the murder trial, was passed for cause by both sides, and excused on a peremptory challenge of the state. She is the only one of 19 women called this term who did not claim exemption.

That he had seen Weston strangle Krug with a rag in an effort to extort money from him, and that a few minutes later Weston had declared Krug dead, and had set fire to the cabin in which he lived, was the statement on the witness stand Tuesday afternoon of Stillwell.

Stillwell shook like a leaf while he testified and appeared very ill at ease during the cross-examination which followed.

In the former trial of Weston, Stillwell was also a witness, but did not testify at that time that he had been present, but that Weston had confessed the crime to him and Wilson the day following.

Weston had suggested Krug's murder, and Stillwell had demurred, but went under a threat of death, he testified Tuesday. Weston determined to kill Krug after the latter had visited Joe Wilson's sawmill and witnessed the moonshining operations being carried on there by Weston, Joe Wilson and himself, Stillwell said.

LONE WOMAN EXCUSED

Krug invited the two into his cabin, then went to the cookhouse and finished his meal, said Stillwell. As Krug entered later, Weston struck him on the head with a club, stunning him. Stillwell stated. Weston commanded Stillwell to tie Krug; but he was unable to do so, Weston tying him, Stillwell testified.

"I always thought you were a friend of mine; if you're going to kill me, kill me quick," Krug said when he came to, according to Stillwell. Weston demanded money, and choked Krug with the rag, "tightening up" three times, the witness said.

Krug told them where to look, and Stillwell started to search. A moment later he heard Weston say, "The old man's dead," Stillwell testified.

Count the Dots for Opportunity to Share in $805.00 Cash Prizes

Read! Reflect! Act!

A short, snappy, easy contest to logically feature for two weeks our PARTIAL PAYMENT PLAN!

Starts Now!—Closes May 4!

A Word of Explanation

Most of the block of $1,000,000.00 cumulative first preferred stock of the Northwestern Electric Company—a 20 million dollar Corporation—recently offered has been sold—to former stockholders and new ones who also realize the highly desirable character of this security.

Many have wanted to invest who would not or could not pay ALL cash.

In order to quickly finish distribution of the issue and at the same time accommodate all, we have apportioned the remaining shares among those who desire them on a Partial Payment Plan guaranteeing 6 per cent interest on all payments, and focusing public attention, namely, by offering to all beginning today and continuing until May 4th, an opportunity to secure a cash prize and apply it on the payment of Northwestern shares. The conditions are plain, simple and easy, as will be observed by a glance over the details found elsewhere in this advertisement. All there is to it, in fact, is to count the dots apparent on the map herewith, estimate the number of those obscured, place your total figures in, and sign and return the attached coupon to the Northwestern Electric Company. Among the 153 whose figures most closely approach the correct number of dots will be distributed the prizes.

As is customary in activities involving the placing of securities, the Company set aside a certain amount for advertising. The remainder of the appropriation for placing this issue has been converted into a fund with which to finance the Prizes offered in this Contest.

Table of Prizes

  - To emphasize the prowess of a public utility, dealing only in power, as a regular and liberal dividend payer and as a safe, sure and conservative industry in which to invest.
  - To encourage the habit of saving.
  - To interest the general public in the purchase of sound securities AT HOME that pay a rate of interest much more attractive than ordinarily paid on one's savings.
  - To logically introduce and intensively feature for two weeks A PARTIAL PAYMENT PLAN by which hundreds unwilling or unable to pay ALL cash may now share in the distribution of the present offering of Cumulative First Preferred Stock paying 7.14 per cent, payable quarterly.
- Rules of Contest
- Contest begins April 19 and closes at 6:30 P. M. May 4.
- Each contestant is entitled to one entry only.
- Entry blank consists of "Contest Coupon" attached hereto or copy of same which may be secured at "Northwestern" office, Washington at Tenth.
- Anyone is eligible to enter and participate in the benefits of this contest except employees and members of the families of employees of Northwestern Electric Company.
- General Manager Merwin alone will know the exact number of shareholders as represented by dots on the map.
- Promptly at the end of the contest, the returns will be checked up and the prizes awarded strictly in accordance with the actual count.
- In the event of a tie by one or more persons for the prizes, the names of those who are tied will be drawn to determine the winners by a disinterested person excluded from the contest.

Simple, Plain and Easy

All who can count have an equal opportunity in this contest.

The accompanying map as you will observe, is covered with tiny dots. Each of these dots represents a stockholder in the Northwestern Electric Company.

Among the 153 persons who guess nearest to the number of stockholders or dots, will be distributed the $805.00 in Cash Prizes. No catch. No strings. No conditions with which to comply except as outlined in the accompanying "Rules."

In the Northwestern Electric display window on Washington and Tenth is a master map (large size from which this small copy is made). Your count or estimate is more apt to be correct if you clip out this map, take it for comparison with the master map in the display window, and secure, if desired, a copy of a size between this and the master map free upon request at the desk inside the "Northwestern" office, Washington at Tenth. This is a quick contest covering a short period of time and QUICK ACTION IS NECESSARY for those who wish to share in its benefits. Contest starts today and closes at 6:30 P. M. May 4.
