Miss Murphy's Engagement Is Told at Luncheon

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss Julie Murphy and Mr. John Edward Finerman of St. Louis. The news was told at an informal luncheon for which the Misses Mary and Florence Holmes were hostesses at their home in Marshall street Saturday afternoon. Spring blossoms centered the table and dainty ribbons held the betrothal cards attached to a corsage bouquet which marked each place. Covers were laid for Mrs. W. F. Smetton, Mrs. Joseph Adams Hill, Miss Marjorie Crittenden, Miss Marie Saramona, Mrs. Thomas Maguire, Mrs. John Gibson, the guest of honor and hostesses. Miss Murphy is the daughter of the late Dennis Murphy and Mrs. Mary Murphy of Irvington. She is a member of Chi Omega and is attending the University of Washington. Mr. Finerman, who has visited in Portland and has many friends here, is the son of Mrs. Ellen Finerman of St. Louis. He is associated in business with the Gardner-Glenrick Advertising company of that city. The wedding is set for the middle of June.

The Laurelhurst club house was the scene of an attractive musicale and bridge tea given by the Phillip Blumauer club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. R. Mattingly, president of the club, received the guests as they arrived. An interesting program followed for the afternoon and included two beautiful solos by Mrs. Charles W. Yelding, accompanied by Mrs. Walter R. May, and two Scottish dances by Miss Alice Griffith, accompanied by Mrs. Cofer.

The Pleasant Lady Behind the Counter

Chapter VI

The matchless beauty of Harriet's golden hair was still further enhanced by the cheery morning sun shining upon it through the open window. She was studying a card upon which were listed "things to be done" in connection with her wedding. Many of them were already crossed off, and Harriet's spirits rose as the list grew smaller. "I see the announcements are next on the list," mother," she remarked, as she rose to answer the telephone. It was Phyllis—yes, they would have luncheon together, shop and, most important, look at wedding announcement samples. These events passed quickly in the order mentioned and soon the two girls were looking over a counter full of samples. "If I may suggest it, Miss Hewitt," ventured the pleasant lady behind the counter, "I think you will do well to take this Penntext style since it matches your invitations, and do let us plan your announcement as follows:

Mrs. and Mrs. James Byron Hewitt announce the marriage of their daughter Harriet Louise to Mr. Chester Dyer Converse on Thursday, June the first nineteen hundred twenty-two in the city of Portland

"All my worry settled in a moment," exclaimed Harriet. "Righto," answered Phyllis, "if I ever marry, which of course I won't."—"Yes, yes," broke in Harriet impatiently, "what you mean to say is that when you finally decide to take Jack, which thing you'd better do in a hurry—his so attractive—that you'll have your engraving done here at
