PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 21, 1922.

KENWORTHY'S BASEBALL FUTURE LOOKS BLACK

Beaver Boss Likely to Be Out All Year

By George Bertz

KENSHAW M. LANDIS, high commissioner of baseball, has broken his silence regarding the case of William J. Kenworthy, manager of the Portland Baseball club.

The Judge—from the tone of his message to the writer and also to Gus Moser, one of the vice presidents of the Portland Baseball club, does not intend to reinstate the Beaver leader for some time.

THE JUDGE SPEAKS

Following are the messages received:

"George Bertz, Sports Editor, Journal—Delay and uncertainty due to difficulty in getting complete facts. Hope to dispose of matter in two or three days." (Signed) Kenesaw M. Landis.

"Gus C. Moser, vice president Portland Baseball club—Your wire of May 18 received. Matter will be disposed of in all aspects within two or three days. Meanwhile the Portland club should make no plans on assumption that Kenworthy will return to its line-up. See last sentence in my wire of April 18 to President Klepper."

(Signed) Kenesaw M. Landis.

BOLDT INVOLVED

What the Judge means by "difficulty in getting complete facts" is a question to the writer and the club officials. The Portland club officials presented the facts of the case to Landis nearly three weeks ago. It may be possible, however, that Landis is investigating another angle to the case which was called to his attention by President Klepper during the conference, April 26.

This angle brings President Boldt of the Seattle club into the controversy in this way, that Boldt was dickering with Walter McCredie, ex-manager of the Portland club, before he canceled his verbal agreement with Kenworthy.

KENNEY IS GOAT

As far as the officials of the Portland club are concerned, Landis has all the facts possible to obtain. He has a copy of all messages that passed between Kenworthy and Klepper prior to his suspension.

It certainly does appear as though Landis intends to throw the hooks into Portland. Why he should have difficulty in securing facts is more than we can see.

Kenworthy is the goat of the case at present, but mayhap he will follow up his original intention of taking his case into the civil courts. At Pasadena, over two months ago, Kenny announced that unless he was reinstated he would take his case into the civil courts. If Kenny does that, the baseball world will be rocked to its foundations.

Judge Landis knows that the reserve clause of baseball will not hold in a civil case.

MAY ASK INJUNCTION

The first step in the case, should Landis bar Kenworthy from playing, is to secure an injunction against President McCarthy of the Pacific Coast league and the Coast league umpires from preventing Kenworthy appearing in the Portland lineup.

Should this fail, then there is still another step to be taken, and that is to request the return of Marty Krug, who was traded to the Seattle club for Kenworthy. Krug is at present a member of the Chicago National league club, having been sold to the Cubs by Seattle. Krug, according to reports, is to be shipped to the Los Angeles club.

DEAL MADE WITH "IF"

With a contract that is binding regarding the trade no court will pass it up as being no good as Judge Landis and the national baseball commission have decided that the side agreement given Kenworthy when he assumed the management of the Seattle club that he would be declared a free agent in case that he was not retained as manager.

The Seattle club had no intentions of keeping Kenworthy after William Klepper and James R. Brewster resigned as president and secretary, respectively of the Seattle club. Judge Landis ought to be able to see that angle of the case without the aid of a pair of field glasses.

DEPLORES SITUATION

The sentence Landis refered to in his message to President Klepper April 18 is: "Certainly I deplore the present situation, but it must be distinctly understood as a fundamental of baseball that no club will be permitted to profit from conditions fraudulently created on another club for the definite purpose of enticing the other club's players away."

That sentence covers a lot of ground, but Landis ought to be able to see that Seattle never did intend to keep Kenworthy as its manager. Seattle is satisfied with the conditions as they stand, Portland is satisfied, in fact everybody is satisfied except Landis.

Landis' action is hurting baseball in Portland. After seven years of tail-end baseball, in which no effort was made to give the Portland fans a baseball club, Landis steps in and has the fans using the hammer against the club and its officials.

COURT ACTION RECOMMENDED

Landis is "grandstanding" in the case. Why should this little matter take so much time to decide when there are cases in the major leagues that should be given attention. Why should the New York clubs be permitted to buy the pennants? That situation has been going on for a long time.

If the Giants want a player they offer the money and they get him.

A court action is recommended against the baseball leaders who keep Kenworthy out of the game. The quicker the case is taken into court, provided Kenworthy is banned from the game for a longer period than he has already been kept out, the better it will be for baseball.

WHY WAS TRADE SANCTIONED?

Another angle to the case which has been like looking for a needle in a haystack is why Landis permitted the trade to be made and then not reinstate Kenworthy. Landis was not playing fair with Portland, Kenworthy or anybody else when he permitted that deal to be made when he had no intention of putting Kenworthy back in the good graces of baseball.

The statement that the Portland club should make no plans that Kenworthy will return to its lineup bears out a fear that has been in the minds of several of the club officials that the Beaver manager is to be barred from baseball for a period extending from three months to all year.

President Klepper took a step to strengthen the Portland club by purchasing Brazill, a hard hitting infielder. But Brazill is not a Kenworthy in any sense of the word and Portland needs Kenworthy like the flowers need the sunshine and like Landis needs nice weather in which to play golf during the mornings spent in Chicago.

Washington Scores Victory Over Idaho

University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho, May 20.—Washington evened the series with Idaho here today, winning the second game, 6 to 3. The Vandals recorded all their runs in the first inning, while Washington made two in the second and four in the fifth. The contest was replete with sensational catches by Washington outfielders. After the first inning Leonard settled down and held the Vandals to a minimum number of hits. The split in this series gives Washington practically undisputed claim to the coast and Northwest conference championships. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Idaho	3	7	2
Washington	6	9	3

Batteries: Marineau and R. Fox; Leonard and Maloney.

IS THINKING ABOUT IT

Milwaukee, Wis., May 20.—(U. P.)—Judge John G. Gregory today took under advisement appeal by attorneys for Oscar Felsch to bring Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, here for examination under the discovery statute.

CORNELL WINS REGATTA

Derby, Conn., May 20.—(U. P.)—Cornell today won the triangular two mile race of Housatonic river, defeating Princeton, who finished second, by three boat lengths.

The time was 10 minutes 11 seconds.

An international match for the Seawanhka cup, between a British and an American boat in the 6-meter class, off Manchester (N. H.)— in September, is regarded as a possibility by Boston yachtsmen.

Beavers Win From Solons; 'Suds' Is Star

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 20.—"Suds" Sutherland stepped into the breech in the ninth inning of today's game and halted a Sacramento rally, which threatened to turn the tables on the Beavers, who had piled up an early lead. The Beavers won by a score of 7 to 5.

"Rube" Walberg, after pitching a no-hit-no-run game for six innings, was touched up for two runs in the eighth inning and three in the ninth. After allowing the trio of runs in the ninth and walking Sheehan, Sutherland was called from the bullpen and halted the rally by catching a line drive from Mollwitz's bat and doubling Sheehan off first base.

GET EARLY START

Hampton, a youngster, started against the Beavers and was hit for a quartet of runs in the second inning. Hale was safe at second on Pick's error, but was out at third on Cox's tap to Hampton. Poole flied out to Ryan and then the fun started. Thorpe doubled, putting Cox on third and Elliott walked, filling the sacks. Walberg drove in two runs with a single to left and Elliott counted on Wolfer's single. Sargent's double scored Walberg and put Wolfer on third. High grounded to Mollwitz for the final out.

In the sixth, Elliott's double, Walberg's bunt and Pick's error, Wolfer's out, Sargent's single and Hale's double gave Portland two runs. Walberg's infield hit, Wolfer's sacrifice, Sargent's hit by a pitched ball, Hale's walk and Pierce's error gave the Beavers another run in the seventh.

THE NEAR BLOWUP

Pick's walk, a forceout, Sheehan's double and a single by Mollwitz scored two in the eighth for Sacramento. Schang's pinch hit, McGaffigan's walk, Peacre's single, Ryan's double scored three for Sacramento in the ninth.

The Beavers will wind up the series with Sacramento today with a double-header. The series stands Portland three games, Sacramento one.

Brazill's Bat Record Classy

Beavers' Hitters Are in Slump

P. C. Schedule Has Its Faults

By George Bertz

TUESDAY, the Kenworthyless Beavers will return to their own hole-in-the-ground with a hope of "chewing" their way up in the pennant race against the Salt Lake Bees and the Sacramento Solons.

The club will be strengthened by Frank L. Brazill, infielder, who, with Ollie Fuhrman, a catcher, was secured from the Philadelphia Americans in a trade for Frank Bruggy, the holdout receiver. Brazill and Fuhrman are due to reach Portland this morning.

Fuhrman will take

These two players, especially Brazill, are expected to be a great help to the club. Brazill will be placed on second base until Judge K. M. Landis makes his decision in the Kenworthy case. If he hits well, he may be moved over to the short peg in place of Sargent.

Brazill, judging from his record, must be a natural hitter. His grand average for the past three seasons is .347. During the 254 games he participated in he drove out 284 hits for a total of 358 bases.

Brazill is 24 years old and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He is very fast and is bound to help the club. Fuhrman, the catcher, is built along the same lines as Brazill and is the same age.

Fuhrman played two years in the Western Canada league and last year topped the Virginia league in batting with an average of .376. Fuhrman's average for three years is .300. Fuhrman will take Kilhullen's place on the catching staff. Following are the batting averages of the two players for the past three years:

REGULARS FAIL TO HIT HORSEHIDE

The Beavers' offensive needs a little oil. Before the opening of the season, the Beavers were to have a "murderers' row." Past records and the form shown by the players at Pasadena indicated as much.

But the players have not lived up to the dope. Sammy Hale is the only regular who is clouting the "agate" and he is hitting at a terrific pace. His latest unofficial average is .370. Charley High is hitting around the spot picked for him, .325. But the remainder of the regulars are far below their selected mark.

Jim Poole, who was expected to be among the league leaders, is hitting but .275. Dick Cox is batting .262. "Rowdy" Elliott, although he is picking up in his batting, is down at the .233 mark. Sargent is hitting .254 and Joe was picked to be the weak sister. McCann is far below expectations and Wolfer, although he is getting on the bags a great deal, is hitting but .215. Thorpe is not slugging the baseball as was expected.

The fact that Kenworthy is out of the line-up has hurt the morale of the club. True, the weather has handicapped the club but with the good weather at hand the club is expected to get going pretty quick. Mayhap it will during the stay at home.

WILL MEET THE SEALS SOON

The 1922 schedule of the Pacific Coast league, like a good many others adopted in the Pacific Coast league, is a farce.

Portland will have played two series against Oakland, Sacramento, Seattle and Salt Lake and one week with Vernon and Los Angeles before meeting the San Francisco Seals.

Two months and a half of the season will have passed before the Beavers tangle with the Seals. That's not good business for a Class AA league. It seems as though the schedule makers could arrange to have two clubs get together earlier than they have in this year's schedule.

THE MANAGERIAL SITUATION

When the 1922 season opened, the Coast league was going to have five playing managers and three bench leaders. That was only a couple of months ago.

At this stage of the race the figures are reversed. There are five bench bosses and three playing leaders and one of those figured to be a bench manager is included among the playing bosses and two playing bosses are on the bench, and one—William J. Kenworthy—occupies a seat in the grandstand.

Walter McCredie of Seattle and Bill Essick of the Vernon Tigers are the bench bosses. They are playing the bench because they are too old to play. "Dots" Miller of the Seals has benched himself, as has "Red" Killifer of the Angels. Ivan Howard, who was to be the bench boss of the Oaks, has been forced to play because of an injury to Jack Knight.

If Judge Landis would only reinstate Kenworthy, the league would be evenly balanced as far as managers are concerned.

INJURIES HANDICAP CLUBS

Two Coast league clubs—Oakland and Sacramento—have been hit unusually hard by injuries.

The Oaks are shy their regular second sacker, Jack Knight, and Bill Marriott, third baseman, as result of injuries, which has handicapped them in their efforts considerably and has taken a lot of punch out of their offensive.

Sacramento has had four players on the shelf at one time or another. McGaffigan was hurt right off the bat and when he got back into the game, Merlin Kopp, left fielder, and Billy Orr, shortstops, were injured. Manager Pick was forced to play despite the fact that he is nursing an injured hand.

Toney Faeth, one of Vernon's pitchers, will be out of the game for some time with a broken leg.

That's the fate of a ball club and no one can tell when a player is going to get hurt.

Thye and Barnes May Meet Thursday In Lyric Theatre

NEGOTIATIONS are under way to arrange a wrestling match between George Barnes of Lincoln, Neb., and Ted Thye, wrestling instructor of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club. Thye has been out of the city for several days but he is expected to return today or Monday.

Those in charge have hopes of staging the contest in the Lyric theatre next Thursday night, the theatre management consenting to turn the show house over to the followers of the mat game at 8 o'clock instead of after the first show, as was the case last month. Because the first show audience was unable to exit in time to start the Santel-Pergantis bout it was almost 10 o'clock before the championship affair could get under way and this made it almost midnight before the fans were able to file out.

At present Barnes weighs 163 pounds and Thye is getting under 165, so if the two get together they will be of the same poundage. The Nebraskan holds the light-heavyweight mat championship of Montana, no middleweights or men of his own class being available there and he was forced to take on opponents much heavier than himself.

Thye has been spending a short vacation at his former home in Spokane, but he has been keeping in condition. It was only two weeks ago that he defeated Louis Pergantis in one of the best matches seen in Portland this winter.

Reed Quartet Is Victorious Over Rowing Club Four

REED college made its public appearance in a rowing race for the first time in the history of the institution, and the event was crowned with success Saturday afternoon. The Reed four defeated a crew representing the Portland Rowing club in the annual spring regatta staged on the Willamette river just south of the east approach of the Sellwood ferry.

The Reed quartet was made up of Anton Lindstrom, bow; William Graham, No. 2; Douglas Nicol, No. 3, and Royal Bigham, stroke, and they made a mighty fine showing, considering the fact that the college had taken up aquatics only five or six weeks ago. Bigham is a freshman, while the other three athletes are sophomores, all of which made some of the old-timer scullers who attended remark that Reed will be in line for further attention within the next two or three years.

In the special senior singles race, Lewis H. Mills defeated Jack McDonald about a length and a half, with Frederick R. Newill a half length behind McDonald. It was impossible to stage the usual canoe races because of the choppy weather, but Newill, who engineered Saturday's program, announced that a special canoe regatta will be held within the next two or three weeks by the Portland Rowing club.

Following are the results of the races yesterday:

Junior singles—Harry Humphrey, first; Robert Yettick, second; Oscar Miller, third.

Doubles—Harold C. Howes, bow, and Frank Stebinger, stroke, first; J. B. York, stroke, and J. A. Schoof, bow, second.

Senior singles—Lewis H. Mills, first; Jack McDonald, second; Frederick R. Newell, third.

Special four oared race—Reed college, first; Portland Rowing club, H. Humphrey bow, Frank Lindstrom No. 2, Fred York No. 3, Bill Beveridge stroke, second.

Heavyweight fours—Jack McDonald stroke, Lindstrom No. 3, Fred York No. 2 and Ted Holmes bow, defeated Mills, H. C. Howes, Schoof and Gregory in the final heat and Stevens, Stebinger, J. A. York and Robert Hamaker in the first heat.

Sun Dodgers Are Winners Over Oregon

'B. D.' Jacobson Puts Ruth and Williams In Shape in Game

By Henry L. Farrell
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Thirty-eight thousand customers jammed the Polo Grounds this afternoon at Babe Ruth's coming-out party, looking for home runs.

All of the heavy artillery of the American league was lined out, but it would have been a dud of a game if the little pop guns hadn't worked while the St. Louis Browns were trimming the Yanks, 8 to 2.

The King Bam, Ken Williams and Bob Meusel, the heaviest clouters of the age, booked as the headliners, sat by meekly and saw their act as it should be put over by "Baby Doll" Jacobson, the wonder of the Brown outfield, and Erin Ward, the puny Yank second baseman.

Coming into the ninth inning with two down and the crowd trickling toward the gates, Ward was all posed on the pedestal of the hero of the day.

In the fifth inning he had smacked one of Urban Shocker's spitters high up into the left-field stands, with Home Run Baker on base, and shoved the Yanks out to a 2 to 0 lead that looked like the Rockies.

Shocker, mourning the loss of a three-hit game that went the other way just because he grooved one, was pattering the gardens to the clubhouse when Sam Jones decided to blow.

He filled the bases and brought up the "baby doll," who decided that there hadn't been any real serious business, he caught one and emptied the bases with a clout way up in the midst of the left-field bleachers.

Russ Smith Wins Bogey Golf Event At Waverley Club

"OLD Colonel Bogey" was worrying about the outcome of the election Saturday and was given a sound beating by nearly half of the 40 members of the Waverley Country club, who participated in the attack against his strongholds.

Russell Smith, with a handicap of 3 strokes, finished 10 up on the "colonel." Smith was at the top of his game and his all-around game was well nigh perfect.

Following are the scores made by the other players, who finished up against bogey: H. F. Corbett, handicap 5, 8 up; Dr. O. F. Willing, handicap 1, 8 up; H. B. Thompson, handicap 5, 7 up; E. F. Whitney, handicap 7, 6 up; R. L. Macleay, handicap 4, 4 up; J. H. Mackenzie, handicap 5, 3 up; A. T. Huggins, handicap 8, 3 up; A. S. Kerry, handicap 5, 2 up; W. E. Pearson, handicap 5, 2 up; Dr. J. L. McCool, handicap 8, 2 up; R. T. Cox, handicap 9, 1 up; J. Napier, handicap 4, 1 up; Dr. Dubois, handicap 8, 1 up; C. E. Miller, handicap 5, 1 up; Dr. H. A. Brock, handicap 8, 1 up; George Frost, handicap 8, 1 up; Dr. J. C. Zan, handicap 8, 1 up.

Western Golf Assn. Approves Steel Shafts

The Western Golf association has made another progressive move. Its directors recently sanctioned the using of steel shaft clubs, which the United States Golf association banned.

This move is another step in the right direction. The supply of hickory is fast being devoured and a suitable substitute has been found in steel shafts.

The decision was reached after a test with the steel shaft clubs, which revealed no mechanical advantage over the wooden shafts.
