GOLDEN JUBILEE OF ELKS CLOSES WITH CLAM BAKE

Climax of Carnival Week Comes With Parade; Salmon Dinner Will Wind Up the Festivities.

Festivities of the Elks' golden jubilee week will close Sunday afternoon when Portland lodge members and their out-of-town visitors gather at the Oaks park for an old-fashioned clam bake and salmon dinner and a program of amusement features.

The climax of the week of carnival to celebrate peace, progress and prosperity was reached Saturday night when the Elks paraded through the downtown section in full regalia, accompanied by the blare of band music furnished by the organizations from both within and without the city.

QUEEN WINS PLAUDITS

There were five divisions in the parade which was marshaled by Frank V. Smith and led by motorcycle police and city officials. The queen and her attendants won the plaudits of the crowds which lined the streets as the first division passed in review. The second division featured the band, drum corps and drill team of the local lodge.

Special interest was added to the parade when the third division passed with its out-of-town delegations and their bands in line. The Portland fire department made a good showing in the fourth division and the final division brought a variety of representative bodies from surrounding districts.

FEATURES ARE ADDED

Such success attended the Saturday night ceremonies that the carnival committee decided to arrange an extra feature for the visitors who stayed in the city over the week-end. The result of the new plans was the formulation of an entertainment program to take place at the Oaks. Dr. Earl V. Morrow will be in charge of the entertainment. Music and special features will be furnished by the Elks band and the Elks ladies' glee club.

Presentation of the automobiles and other prizes which were won by the queen candidates and contestants in the various prize contests will be made. Stunts of all kinds will be offered for the pleasure of the visitors at the park.

Graduation Programs Are Held in Morrow

The High Spots of Thrift —in Clothes!

When a man sacrifices quality for the sake of dollars he is sacrificing economy. Economically, he is walking backwards. Any man can beat the price of a Hickey-Freeman suit, but it costs him more than the difference to do it. Summed up, the difference in price represents a difference in workmanship and quality which cannot be measured by dollars. A few dollars less may buy a temporary advantage, but a few dollars more will buy the finest tailoring known.

Again, my judgment says—
