

BELFAST WARFARE TAKES MORE LIVES

Belfast, May 25.—(U. P.)—A constant fire was kept today, making the overnight casualties in Belfast's secular warfare four dead and 30 wounded. Incendiary fires were reported incessantly throughout the night. Last evening was one of the worst Belfast has experienced, a severe outbreak of bombing claiming many casualties among Protestant workers returning to their homes.

John Schimpf Dies Of Injuries Received In Crash With Auto

John Schimpf, who was thrown from the seat of a garage truck Wednesday when the truck crashed into an automobile at Union avenue and Fremont street, died this morning in Good Samaritan hospital.

Schimpf was riding with A. Glebehouse, No. 764 Union avenue, driver of the truck. After the accident he walked to his home, No. 934 Union avenue north. His condition was not believed serious until he was removed to the hospital several hours later, after falling in a faint. Death was caused by concussion of the brain.

Hip Sings Reported Unwilling to Accept Rival Tong's Offer

Negotiations among local Chinese to insure peace between rival tong factions now at war were at a standstill today, according to information in the hands of police, as the result of a refusal of the Hip Sings to agree to a bonding scheme which the Bing Kung-Bow Leong tong has presented for the consideration of the various tong societies in Portland.

In addition, the Hip Sing and Suey Sing tongs, according to the proposal, will be asked to put up bonds of $200 each, to be used in prosecuting the parties who violate the compact.

The Hip Sings have agreed to sign a peace pact, according to police information, but have so far refused to consider the bonding scheme. They refuse, it is understood, on the grounds that they cannot be responsible for the actions of imported gunmen.

Kapowsin Resident Rescues Two From Burning Structure

Eatonville, Wash., May 25.—At a fire this morning in Kapowsin which destroyed the Presbyterian church, the manse, one residence and part of another, Con Erickson saved Mrs. Louis Kastrop, proprietor of a boarding house, and one of the boarders, from death. Mrs. Kastrop is in the Eatonville hospital, suffering from severe burns on the face, neck, arms and shoulders. She built a fire in the cook stove, returned to bed and awakened to find the house afire. After assisting her mother, Mrs. Blakemore, out of a window, she fainted, falling across the window sill.

Secretary Wallace May Quit Post if Bureaus Shifted

Washington, May 25.—(U. N. S.)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace may resign from the cabinet if President Harding approves the reorganization plan to transfer three of his bureaus to other departments, according to White House visitors today who urged the president to make no material change in the agricultural department.

U. S. Will Go After Alaska Fish Pirates

Washington, May 25.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Acting upon complaints received by Senator McNary from salmon packing interests operating in Alaska, the department of justice informed him that it has asked the secretary of the treasury to detail coast guard vessels to patrol waters off Juneau, and directed the United States attorney to cooperate with these vessels in suppressing fish pirates of that region.

WILL SELL POPPIES The women's auxiliary of the American Legion was granted permission Wednesday to sell poppies on and before Memorial day for the benefit of the families of disabled soldiers. Letters from the American Legion were read before the city council, which passed a special ordinance granting the permission.

Page Horatio Alger! Once Poor Boys Get $30,000 Year, Each

Chicago, May 25.—Business romances are not all between the covers of story books. Horatio Alger heroes are very much alive today, despite what Chauncey M. Depey said about them the other day.

T. J. Thompson and E. J. Bullock were named directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana today with salaries of $30,000 a year. Both started at the very bottom.

In 1882 Mr. Thompson began work by driving a dray for the company in Grand Rapids, Mich. At the end of the year he was advanced to tank wagon driver.

Mr. Bullock started in as the provincial office boy in the Milwaukee office in 1888. From office boy he rose to clerk and in 1901 was sent to Chicago as assistant manager in the lubricating oil sales division. Two years ago he was placed at the head of the purchasing department of the company.

Clatsop Votes Two Commissioners Out And Then in Again

Astoria, May 25.—Clatsop county voted to recall Fred A. Williams and Fred G. Buchtel, public service commissioners, and then actually voted them back into office, the middle of next week, the ballots showed Wednesday.

Freshet Renewed by Resumption of Hot Spell in Watersheds

Continued rise of temperatures all over the Columbia and Snake river watersheds is starting another run-off of flood waters which probably will send the water gauge soaring at Portland about the middle of next week, according to reports of the district weather office.

Today the first of the new freshet waters were pouring into the lower Columbia river. Lewiston reported a sudden rise of .8 of a foot in the Snake river and Wenatchee reported another rise of .4 of a foot in the Columbia river.

WINE POSSESSOR FINED A. Dauvain, No. 874 Franklin street southeast, was fined $50 this morning by District Judge Bell for having in his possession 20 gallons of fig wine when deputy Sheriff Schirmer, Beeman and Wolfe raided his home.

Young Immigrant, Here Year, Winner In Essay Contest

New York, May 25.—Solomon Dabinski awoke today to find himself one of the most talked of young men in New York.

But Dabinski falls to see any reason why he should be. He doesn't think there is anything unusual or remarkable in the fact that an 18-year-old Polish immigrant has mastered enough of the English language and American history in a year to write a prize winning essay.

Yet that is just what he has done, although when he landed here on the first of April last year he didn't know a word of English. Last night he was presented with the medal which was given by the National Society of Colonial Daughters of Washington.

Dabinski attributes his feat to the old-fashioned formula of application, study and work.

"Anyone can do the same," he said modestly today. "The only reason others do not is because they never try."

The fact that he has to work all day to support himself so he can attend night school does not seem to bother young Dabinski. He rather considers his work an appetizer and a stimulant for study.

His essay was on the life of Washington.

Bend Mills Have Shortage of Labor

Bend, May 25.—A labor shortage is reported here by mill employment managers, it being found necessary to import men, particularly for skilled jobs. This is the first labor shortage for more than a year.

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD TO DISCUSS FORD STREET BRIDGE A conference between the city council and the officials of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company will be held Friday afternoon to consider plans for a new bridge across the canyon at Ford street. The conference is to determine whether a new bridge is to be constructed or whether the old bridge is to be repaired and the proportion of the expense to be borne by the railway company and the manner of assessing the balance of the cost.

BUILDING CODE AMENDED TO HALT PLANS FOR HOSPITAL No business which comes under a restricted list provided for by city ordinance can be transferred from one building to another without permission from the city council, according to an amendment to the city code passed today by the council.

Under the former provision the city council could only prohibit the installation of a business on this restricted list in any new building when it was necessary to change or remodel the building. A report that plans were under way for the establishment of a hospital in a private residence in Portland Heights caused City Attorney Frank Grant to examine the code and draft the new amendment. Under the amendment to the code no hospital can be established in any building, whether or not the building is changed or remodeled, without the sanction of the city council. Numerous other private enterprises are included in this restricted list.

INSPECT CHANNEL SEWER The city council today in a body inspected the Columbia slough channel sewer and made a survey of the completed drainage system for the Peninsula district.
