Among those indicted were William Coburn, former grand goblin of the Klan in the Pacific Coast domain; G. W. Price, king klaner of the Klan in California; and Nathan A. Baker, klaner of the Klan and confessed leader of the raiders. Others in the list are Walter Mosher and Leonard Ruegg, both of whom were wounded in a battle with Deputy City Marshal Frank Woerner, Kieglie Nathan Baker, who is in the county hospital, is held under $10,000 bail. The others have been released on bonds of $1000 each. The shooting, in which one of the raiders was killed by Woerner, took place while the masked band was conducting a raid on the home of Fidel Eddyayen, alleged bootlegger of Inglewood. The indictment charged kidnaping, false imprisonment and assault with intent to commit murder. The maximum penalty for a conviction upon these three charges is imprisonment for 34 years.

Realtor Is Vital Link In Prosperity Chain, Asserts N. J. Upham

Prosperity of Pacific Coast cities during the next decade depends in a large measure upon the intelligent cooperation of men engaged in the realty business, according to N. J. Upham, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Development of the agricultural, mineral and other natural resources of the country should go hand in hand with the growth of the cities, Upham stated, and the realtor in Portland should understand that his success in business is tied with the success of every business man, manufacturer and farmer in the Northwest. Upham will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Portland Real Estate board in the assembly room of the Multnomah hotel Friday noon. He is one of the most prominent realtors in the United States and is president of the International Realty Associates, owners of Westover Terraces and several million dollars' worth of property in other cities throughout the country.

Divorced Wife Is Killed by Indian, Who Shoots Self

Klamath Falls, June 8.—Investigation of the death at Yainax on the Klamath Indian reservation of John Jackson, 39, and Emma Miller Jackson, 35, his divorced wife, revealed that Jackson had shot and killed Mrs. Jackson following a quarrel in their cabin Tuesday night, then had shot himself. Their 8-year-old daughter, Cynthia, found the bodies Tuesday morning that it was not until Wednesday morning that she realized what had happened and notified her teacher at school.

Jackson had shot Mrs. Jackson first through the jaw, then through the back of the head, later shooting himself through the side of the head. A bloody handkerchief in Mrs. Jackson's hand testified to her attempt to stem the flow of blood from the first wound. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson had recently been brought before Justice Snook at Chilquin and had promised to re-marry, but had not fulfilled the promise. That the two quarreled Tuesday afternoon, previous to the shooting, was the statement of the daughter.

BAN ON ORIENTALS URGED AT SESSION OF STATE GRANGE

McMinnville, June 8.—A ban on Oriental immigration and on giving citizenship to children of Orientals and total restriction of immigration from Europe for from three to five years were urged in resolutions passed yesterday by the Oregon State Grange, in session here.

Another resolution adopted favors a closed season for quail, as the birds are weeded seed eaters. The committee on agriculture reported in favor of a state law requiring manufacturers of fertilizer to label sacks, giving the percentage and nature of the filler and percentage of organic and mineral matter.

C. E. Spence was re-elected worthy master of the grange at the election Wednesday afternoon. Other officers were elected as follows: Overseer, M. C. Glover, Oregon City; lecturer, Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, Eugene; secretary, Mrs. Bertha Beck, Albany; executive committee, B. G. Leedy, Tigard.

J. J. Handaker addressed the convention on Near East relief and the grange voted a donation of $100, duplicating its contribution of last year. Wednesday night's program included a lecture by Walter M. Pierce of La Grande, and readings by M. L. Carter of Union county, the "Blue mountain poet."

At a meeting of the ladies' home economic committee, reports were given on work in the various granges of the state. Six hundred members of the grange are here for the convention, including 215 delegates.

EFFORTS OF BOUCK FAIL TO WRECK GRANGE, REPORT

Yakima, Wash., June 8.—Fred W. Lewis, secretary of the Washington Grange, reported that, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of William Bouck, expelled master, to wreck the organization and lure its members into his Western Progressive association, the loss in membership for the past year was less than 28 per cent and this is being rapidly regained. With the passing of Bouck and his followers, he said, no longer does any dissension exist in the ranks and the organization is in splendid working order.

The resolutions committee, in framing its report, was asked to voice opposition to the 30-10 initiative school money measure, to approve the amendment of the state game laws to permit farmers to kill Chinese pheasants at all times, to oppose the recommendation for military training in all high schools of the state, to authorize the board of education to publish or purchase text books for all the public schools of the state for distribution at cost, to advocate state standardization of text books, to demand that all unnecessary public officials be abolished and that all state auditing officials scrutinize more carefully the expense accounts of public officials.

Establishment of a standard ratio for traveling and hotel expenses is also favored. Resolutions are expected to be presented on the drug and liquor traffic, with a demand that the laws governing the prohibition and use of both be rigorously enforced. The attendance is approximately 400. Snohomish and Bremerton are bidding for the 1923 convention. Election of officers occurs today.
