

STATE GATHERING OF '98 VETERANS ON AT PENDLETON

Pendleton, Or., June 15.—Oregon's veterans of the Spanish-American war today opened their annual encampment in the Odd Fellows hall, as the guests of Malbone camp No. 5 of Pendleton. During the past two days little informal conventions have been held as different comrades from different parts of the state chanced to meet.

The city, decked with flags and bunting, suggestively dressed for the occasion, is doing its best to entertain Uncle Sam's former fighters and their ladies, here as delegates for the convention of the Women's Auxiliary, U. S. W. V.

This afternoon, in the first formal session, the veterans were welcomed by Mayor George A. Hartman. Leon Willett Hyde of Hillsboro, department commander, responded. A banquet is to be held this evening.

Nearly every camp in the state is represented. The list of accredited delegates already numbers more than 300.

In arrangements for the spectacular parade of the Militant Order of Sentinels, fun order of the veterans' organization, the committees met a back-log, when they were informed by Mayor Hartman that he was not certain he would be able to permit the pageant.

Saturday night is the time set for the affair and a committee was named to confer with the mayor, who is a past commander of the local camp, to persuade him to change his attitude in the matter.

Auto Crash Sequel Of Nuptial Party; 2 Arrested, Fined

Celebrating a wedding anniversary was expensive, both in the way of automobiles and police court fines, for Harry D. Proctor and A. F. Stowell, arrested early this morning at Rodney avenue and Hancock street, while they were trying to extricate their machine from a bed of roses on top of a 10-foot terrace.

Instead of taking the curve at Hancock street, where Rodney avenue ends, the machine plunged straight ahead over a high curbing and up the embankment. Both front tires were gone from the machine, which was so badly wrecked that police were unable to take it to headquarters.

Mallett Sees Fiend So He'll Know Him If They Meet Again

Jackson, Mich., June 15.—(I. N. S.)—Harold Mallett, brother of Miss Alice Mallett, who fell a victim to a parver's axe last Thursday night, was to start for his Oregon ranch with the body today.

Mallett led an automobile party of 500 would-be lynchers in a thrilling ride to Lansing late last night, but consented to abandon the attempt to lynch George Straub, the confessed slayer, when Colonel Roy C. Vandervoort of the state department of public safety halted the motor car five miles from its state destination and urged its members to return home. Mallett abandoned the chase conditionally. His condition was that he be allowed to see the confessed murderer of his sister, "so he would know him when they met again." The request was granted. The party continued its course and Mallett and four others spent half an hour in the Lansing city jail under the vigilant eyes of a hundred heavily armed police and state troopers masked against an expected assault. Then the erstwhile mob returned to Jackson.

An appeal from the decision of the district court in the case of Husted A. Walters, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Patrolman Jerome Palmer, will be heard by the supreme court July 7, according to word received today by District Attorney Stanley Myers. Palmer was shot and killed November 17, 1920. He was watching for two men in uniform who had held up a man in the north end.

Walters and a companion, both soldiers from Vancouver barracks, were accused by Palmer and another policeman. Walters fired at the police when he was ordered to stop and throw up his hands. "Palmer was shot through the heart. Walters was sentenced December 23, 1920.

On the same date the supreme court will hear an appeal from the decision of the circuit court in the case of Marshall Fraser, sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for violation of the Blue Sky law. Fraser was convicted of selling stock in a corporation known as the Tour Transportation Lines without the permission of the corporation commissioner. He was sentenced May 21, 1921, by Circuit Judge Kavanaugh.

UNION RESTAURANT WORKERS DENY CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Members of the local cooks, waiters and waitresses union declared in papers filed in the circuit court replying to a petition for an order restraining them from picketing restaurants now boycotted by the union that they were not conspiring against restaurant owners, but were seeking to prevent the employers bringing back a seven-day working week with 12 to 15 working hours each day.

The petitions for a restraining order were filed by the Liberty Cafeteria company and A. Rohde and W. C. Rupert, owners of the Oyster Loaf and Panama restaurants. Both factions say there is no dispute over wages. The union members claim the employers have engaged persons who work from nine to 12 hours a day for seven days a week.

COURT EXAMINES PLAINTIFFS' TEETH; DECIDES AGAINST HIM

Teeth that were false and would not fit did not win sympathy from District Judge H. K. Hinkle Wednesday when C. C. Buckman brought suit against Dr. E. P. Brown, colored dentist in Vancouver, Wash., for the return of $60 paid for the imitation molars.

Buckman was well armed, appearing with two sets of teeth he claimed Dr. Brown made for him. One set fit after a fashion, but the other set wouldn't fit even when cemented in place, he said. Dr. Brown examined the teeth and said they were no handiwork of his and were false teeth substituted to deceive the court. The dentist produced witnesses who said Buckman admitted the teeth made by Brown were the best he ever had.

Frank S. Baillie, grand master of Oregon Masons, and Mrs. Charles H. Eastner, grand worthy matron of the Eastern Star, officiated in the dedicatory ceremonies. The home was established for the care of aged and indigent members of Masonic orders in the state and their dependents. It is being managed by J. S. Roark and Mrs. Roark.

Moonshiners Get Heavy Sentences

Two still owners, haled into the municipal court this morning by Patrolmen Harms and Nutter as the result of raids Wednesday, took heavy sentences at the hands of Judge Ekwall.

Daniel Kull, No. 432 East Sixth street, was fined $250 and sentenced to 30 days. Part of a still and four gallons of moonshine were found on his premises. Leonard Bentley, No. 2603 53d avenue southeast, was fined $250 and sentenced to five days. Police found a complete still at his place.

Corporal's Finger Is Mashed, but He Goes on to Camp

That same spirit which sent American soldiers through the Hindenburg line against the greatest odds during the World war, today imbued one of Portland's citizen soldiers, Corporal Campbell of Battery A, Oregon National Guard, who despite a mangled finger joined his comrades for the trip to Camp Lewis.

Corporal Campbell was assisting in the loading of a three-inch field rifle on one of the special trains early this morning when his finger was caught. The whole lip was crushed. The surgeon advised removal to the hospital, but the soldier insisted that the wound be tied up immediately so he could leave with his comrades. The train pulled out with him aboard.
