

MEN ARMED WITH RIFLES VISIT INN, NO LIQUOR FOUND

Astoria, June 21.—Fifty Warrenton residents, some of them armed with rifles, kept their rendezvous with the owners of Whistle Inn, notorious roadhouse, Monday night. Two nights before they had given Sam Stotter and Frank Holland, the proprietors, 48 hours in which to close up the place and leave the country. Precisely at the expiration of the period of grace the vigilantes approached the inn only to find it in the possession of Sheriff Ole Nelson, of Clatsop county and his deputies.

The sheriff told the leaders of the crowd, Mayor F. M. Warren and City Marshal Thurston, that he had been called to the inn by its owners, who were in fear of violence. He stated that he and his deputies were there to prevent the use of force.

TAVERN IS SEARCHED
Marshal Thurston produced a search warrant and the sheriff told him that it gave him a perfect right to search the tavern. This was done. Following an inspection of the place, which proved fruitless so far as finding liquor was concerned, the crowd shouldered its rifles and left the scene peacefully, but not until it had announced that a sentry would be posted at the tavern to make the names of all those who entered the place.

It is understood that the city council of Warrenton is preparing an ordinance which will be passed at the next meeting by which all roadhouses will be required to take out licenses before operating. A rider is to be attached providing that the council can deny licenses if it chooses.

TRIAL DUE NEXT
It is expected that the agitation aroused over the roadhouse question will subside the next move being the trial of the owners of Whistle Inn on charges of selling liquor to members of the automobile party which was wrecked Monday night with the loss of three lives.

A final chapter was added to the story of the auto wreck Monday night when the coroner's jury which exonerated Len Stinson, driver of the death car, met again and appended to its that Stinson's drivers license be revoked indefinitely.

Ten Violations of Game Laws Result In $250 Fine Total

Ten arrests for violation of the state game laws during the last week-end netted the game commission $250 in fines, according to reports filed at the commission headquarters. Of this number eight were for angling without license, one for taking trout under six inches and one for putting out poison where game birds could get it. The eight arrested for angling without licenses were each fined $25 and were as follows: E. O. Ostrander, Bridge; George Quappe, Reedsport; Clarence Johnson, Bridge; W. R. Stanley, Garibaldi; Guy E. Dobaoh, Redmond; H. R. Stanley, Garibaldi; J. T. O'Neal, Pendleton; and L. A. Martin, Pendleton. O. E. Young of Pendleton was arrested on the charge of having trout under six inches in his possession and G. Katzama of Hood River was arrested on the charge of putting out poison where game birds could get it.

Prineville Fire Doesn't Burn Ardor For Rose Festival

Despite a devastating fire that practically destroyed the business district of Prineville, some three weeks ago, the Crook County Irrigators will be present in the floral parade of the Rose Festival Friday en masse, King Alfalfa, Perry McD. Fuller of Prineville announced Tuesday afternoon.

Through the efforts of Fuller and Mayor Baker a holiday was declared in Prineville for Friday by Mayor Wurtzweiler. All stores will be closed and the entire town will flock to Portland for the gala event. This word was received Tuesday by Fuller from George Nicholas at Prineville.

The irrigators are represented now in Portland by their king, who preceded them to make all preparations for their participation in the festival. The marchers in the parade will number more than 150. There will also be an elaborate float, details of which the king refused to divulge. That, he said, was to be a surprise for the spectators at the parade.

Dinner Arranged For Candidates Who Lost Fight

George S. Shepherd, recently defeated candidate for justice of the supreme court, believes in the golden rule. Also he believes that the surest and the quickest way to sooth the hurt and balm the wound of unrequited ambition is by way of the stomach of man. Therefore he is arranging a dinner to defeated candidates at the Multnomah hotel on Friday evening, June 23, a most fitting date for those told by the electorate to go otherwise than where they went vulturing for.

Invitations are being sent out by Mr. Shepherd to all those who suffered and bled upon the field of political battle at the recent primary election. The motto of the evening is to be "do unto others as ye would have others do unto you," and the only thing to be barred is the alibi.

It is being suggested, also, that any defeated candidate who is contemplating a recount of the vote by which he met his Waterloo may attend the meeting on probation, let the fellows give him the once over and if he looks good to them they may feel sorry that he is licked.

It is also understood, and, according to current allegation, agreed by and between the parties that they mutually believe in and subscribe to the theory that those who dance must pay the fiddler, so that each unfortunate candidate is expected to bring the price of what he eats with him or it will be considered a corrupt practice and punished accordingly.

Leaves to Attend His Wife's Funeral

Austin F. Fiegel Jr., former assistant United States attorney, left the city Tuesday for Eugene to attend the funeral services there this afternoon for his wife, who died Friday at Los Angeles, following a major operation. Mrs. Fiegel was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Chambers of Eugene. She attended Willamette university, Oregon Agricultural college and the Annie Wright seminary at Tacoma. Mrs. Fiegel had resided in Los Angeles for the past two years.

HELD AS WIFE BEATER.
Roseburg, June 21.—Harold Parks of Yoncalla, is in jail at Roseburg on a charge of wife beating. There are four prisoners in the county jail, all of them from Yoncalla.

POLICE TO PROBE INJURY TO CHILD

Police were asked Tuesday to investigate the injury of Jessie Grover of No. 522 Sixth street, a small girl, whose skull was fractured Saturday while she was playing at the old city reservoir at Sixth and Lincoln streets.

Police Inspector Morak reported that he had submitted the name of Harry Polissas, 14, to the juvenile court authorities on information that the boy had thrown a brick.

The girl has been at the county hospital since the episode, which was not reported until the child's mother demanded an investigation.

Desperado Fails To Carry Out His Plot to Murder

"Miller delivered. Morelock." These three words, which drifted over the wire Monday night from Denver to Portland, informed United States Marshal Hotchkiss that Deputy Morelock had encountered no further difficulty in handing over Ernest Miller, alleged mail train robber, to federal officers at Denver.

Extra precautions were taken by the marshal's office in transporting Miller, as a few hours before he left the city a plot to kill the deputy en route was unearthed. In a letter which Miller wrote to a pal on the outside he outlined a plan to kill the deputy at The Dalles and escape in a waiting automobile. The letter was intercepted by deputies before it reached the pal, so the plan failed.

Yamhill Invites General Public to Bald Peak Picnic
The Yamhill county federation of community clubs is sending out invitations to a picnic next Sunday on the summit of Bald Peak, in the Chehalis range, seven miles from Newberg by good roads and 30 miles from Portland. The invitation is to the general public. There will be music by bands, stringed instruments and vocal singing.

ers and a big basket lunch, promising a good time to all who may come. The main purpose of the picnic is to call attention to the magnificent view of the Willamette valley to be had from this peak and to popularize it. The peak is 1675 feet above sea level and from its eminence one can look over 17 counties, it is said. As a scenic view point the spot is second to none in the state. To reach the place people from Portland should leave the highway at Springbrook, this side of Newberg. From this point a smooth gravelled road leads up the hill to the top of the mountain, a distance of about five miles.

Rival Tong Sign Peace Agreement; Warfare Is Ended

Chinese tong are again at peace. Peace negotiations which have been under way for two weeks between the Hip Sing and Big Kung Bow Leong tongs were finally concluded Tuesday with the signing of pacts between the locals at San Francisco and San Jose. Peace between the Portland factions was signed in Seattle Friday, according to tong attorneys, but the peace was not effective until it was signed in each city where war had occurred.

The present feud started February 12, in Butte, Seattle and San Jose, Cal. Over a score of Chinese were killed. Three Chinese were slain in Portland, one being shot by police.

CHLOROPYRIN SEIZED
Two hundred lines of adulterated chloropyrin shipped by the Samson, Rosenblatt company of Chicago to Albany, Or., were labeled Tuesday in a complaint filed with the federal court by Assistant United States Attorney Edward D. Baldwin. An order was issued instructing the marshal to seize the shipment and hold it pending further court proceedings.

They Got a Mile of Concrete Road for Nothing

At a quarry in the Imperial Valley, California, where aggregates were being obtained for another addition to the State's system of Concrete roads, the methods used in screening the stone caused a waste of 35 per cent.

One of the Portland Cement Association field engineers interested in the progress of this work called attention to studies made by our Structural Materials Research Laboratory on the selection and proportioning of materials for Concrete. He suggested that proper application of these might considerably reduce the waste. A change in the method of screening materials was therefore adopted, reducing the waste to only 15 per cent. without lowering the strength of the Concrete.

Now the stone is costing 42 cents instead of $1 a ton, as estimated when the contract was let this year, as against $1.45 actual cost last year. On the mileage to be built, this means a saving of more than $30,000, which will be used to build more Concrete road—at no cost to the taxpayers.

This is but one example of the value of our laboratory studies to users of Concrete. The Laboratory's work is to develop continually, without cost to the public, better and more economical methods of making and using Concrete under all conditions.

The Laboratory is one of the numerous services maintained by the Portland Cement Association—the joint research and educational foundation of 85 independent manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, conducted for the benefit of those who want dependable information on how to use Concrete.

Suggestions as to how our work may be made more useful to you are invited.
