

SENATORS DEBATE TARIFF'S EFFECT ON FARM PRICES

Washington, July 6.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Will the high rates of the tariff on agricultural products raise or keep up farm prices and thus benefit the farmer? Or will the high rates merely fool the farmer and do him no good, because so many farm products, like wheat, are produced with a surplus that is exported, with result that the price is fixed by the surplus in the foreign market?

These questions made the issue for a day of fencing in the opening debate on the agricultural schedule between Chairman McCumber of the finance committee and Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, who led the assault on behalf of the minority. Walsh asserted that the purpose of the Republicans is to tell the farmer that the rates are protective, and at the same time to tell the workers of the cities that the tariff on farm products has not added to the price.

SOME THINGS TO GO UP

Senator McCumber denied that he was confronted with that kind of a dilemma. He said he would not contend that when the farmer receives more for the fruits of his labor somebody does not pay the increase. The results will be different with different products, he said. In the case of eggs and milk and articles in which there is only a small "spread" between the cost of production and the selling price, the tariff will be added to the price. In other things, where there is a large "spread," the tariff will not cut much figure, he asserted.

As to wheat, he said he believed the tariff will be effective in the years of short crops, when the farmer should be able to receive the full benefit of the duty of 30 cents a bushel. In years of large crops, the Republican leader thought, the farmer may get not more than half the benefit.

LABORER TO PAY MORE

Admitting that the laboring man in the cities is going to pay a higher price in at least some instances, he ought to be willing to do so, said McCumber, because he is receiving for an hour's work five or 10 times what the farmer gets for equal labor. The effort he is making is to grant better pay for the labor on the farm, he said.

"I have the greatest sympathy for the worker in the city," said McCumber. "I am not unmindful of the condition of whom the senator from Massachusetts talks, who is so much interested in this tariff bill. But every man who gets up at 4 o'clock in the morning to do the chores and milk the cows, and every good wife who gets up at half past three to get breakfast, and every little girl in tattered skirts and bare feet who hunts a stray egg to make up a dozen so she can buy stockings for the winter is also interested in this tariff."

WANTS AN "EQUALIZER"

McCumber said he wants the tariff to be an "equalizer," and one of the greatest inequalities is in what the farmer gets for his labor and what the man in the city gets.

Walsh declared that the high rates on farm products hit the consumer in the present bill as never before, because they threaten to increase the already high cost of living, and leave him no escape from the things he must have in order to sustain life.

McCumber said that if the consumer were to pay in the cost of bread all the tariff that is put on wheat it would amount to $1.49 a year on 300 pounds of flour, and the man in the city in return for a good job at wages many times what the farmer receives, ought to be willing to pay a penny every two days to help out the farmer.

Russell Brougher To Preach Twice At White Temple

The Rev. Russell Brougher of Los Angeles will fill for the last two Sundays in July the pulpit of the White Temple, from which his father, the Rev. James Whitcomb Brougher, preached for many years. The Rev. Brougher Sr. left here in 1910 for Los Angeles, where he is still preaching. His son arrived in the city Wednesday.

The younger Brougher will go from here to Tacoma in August and will preach there in the Baptist church. From there he will go to Salt Lake to assume the pastorate of the Lutheran Baptist church. He is accompanied by his wife, formerly Miss Celeste Foulkes of Portland, and they are guests at the David Foulkes home.

Part of the stay in Oregon will be spent at Gearhart, where the Broughers have had a summer home for 18 years. Mrs. J. W. Brougher and J. W. Brougher Jr. will join them there.

Willard Brewer Is Placed in Forest Map Department

Willard Brewer has been transferred from the geological survey to the section of maps and surveys of the forest service, and will instruct young men doing topographic work on special maps for the forest service. He will also lay out geodetic control for special map projects.

Brewer is now in the Cascade national forest, assisting in laying out the control for a large area to be mapped in preparation for a timber cruise. Egon Burkland is assisting Brewer in drafting work.

DEMURRAGE CASE HEARD

The municipal paving plant was the only bidder Wednesday on the improvement of George Street from the south line of lot 5, block 22, Rose City Park, to the north line of lot 2, block 22, in the same addition.
