

25 MEET DEATH IN TWO-DAY WAR IN TIPPERARY CO.

Belfast, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—Twenty persons are reported killed and 100 wounded in a two-days' battle between Republican irregulars and Free State troops at Remagh, County Tipperary, according to advices reaching here. Five irregulars have been killed in an engagement with Free Staters at Castle Pollard.

FREE STATE SOLDIERS GET READY FOR GUERRILLA FIGHT

Dublin, July 6.—Although the republican irregular army had been broken up and all the rebel strongholds in Dublin have been captured by Free State troops, the Irish provisional government today set about preparing for long guerilla warfare in the southern and western counties.

Reports that Eamon de Valera, commander-in-chief of the irregulars, had been wounded and captured proved untrue. It is understood that De Valera escaped from his headquarters in the Gresham hotel on Tuesday night and is now at Bray, in County Wicklow, directing the reorganization of the rebels in that district.

Among the 500 rebel prisoners captured by the Free Staters are a number of women who were fighting in the republican ranks. They include Mrs. MacSwiney of Cork and Miss Barry. The whereabouts of Countess Markiewicz, who was in command of the communist faction of the republican forces, were unknown when this dispatch was written.

In addition to "Rory" O'Connor, former commander of the irregulars, who was captured when the Four Courts building fell, the Free Staters have captured Cathal Brugha, De Valera's chief aide, and R. D. Barrin. Brugha was wounded in the final assault of the regulars upon the Granville hotel. When the garrison surrendered, Brugha rushed up on the Free State soldiers with a revolver in his hand, firing right and left.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Brugha was reported dying.

Coal Conference Resumes Session

Washington, July 6.—(U. P.)—The anthracite section of the Harding coal conference resumed session here today with government officials hoping strongly that the two sides in the hard coal controversy would be able to reach at least a tentative agreement within the next few days.

Bath Tubs Make Flying Sky Trip Over White House

Washington, July 6.—A flock of bath tubs flew over the White House Wednesday. This simple and truthful statement was carefully verified. The tubs—eight of them had been used by President Harding and his party at the marine maneuvers at Gettysburg—were being transported by airplane back to the marine camp at Quantico, Va. Cows and pianos and congressmen have been carried by airplane, but this is the first time that bath tubs have gone cloud-hopping. No credulous reader, they did not encounter showers.

day with government officials hoping strongly that the two sides in the hard coal controversy would be able to reach at least a tentative agreement within the next few days. Administration representatives believe that if the anthracite operators and miners could solve their differences, it would have a most wholesome effect on the bigger problems in the bituminous regions.

Americans Are Held For Hatching Their Own Kidnaping Case

Mexico City, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—A. Bruce Bielaski, former chief of the bureau of investigation of the American department of justice, and Manuel Barcena, a Mexican lawyer, are in the custody of the Mexican authorities on the charge of being responsible for their own kidnaping near Cuernavaca, state of Morelos, on June 25. The order to take Bielaski and Barcena into custody was issued by the judge of the criminal court of Cuernavaca. Judge Moreno Vaca of the criminal court of the federal district allowed Bielaski and Barcena to remain at their hotel under civilian guard.

70 Injured When Engine Hits Train

Porter, Ind., July 6.—(U. P.)—Seventy persons were slightly injured when Pere Marquette passenger train No. 6, westbound, collided with a New York Central locomotive near here. The train took a siding instead of the main line. Most of the injured were from Chicago.

BRAZILIAN REBELS ARE BEATEN; LAST FORT SURRENDERS

Buenos Aires, July 6.—(U. P.)—Private dispatches received here shortly before noon announced that Fort Copacabana, near Rio Janeiro, surrendered to the Brazilian government forces at 10 o'clock today.

Buenos Aires, July 6.—Leaders of the Brazilian revolt are reported to be near capture by the loyalists, according to reports from Rio de Janeiro, the capital. The center of the city continued quiet Wednesday night, although practically all commerce had been suspended during the afternoon and cannonading outside the city was frequent.

The Gazette Noticias issued a bulletin that Edmundo Bittencourt, proprietor of the newspaper Correl Damiana, was held prisoner in the marine barracks and that a marine detachment was hunting the confederate candidate for president, Nilo Pecanha, to imprison him for his part in the uprising.

The government dreadnought Minas Geraes attacked Fort Copacabana, the final stronghold of the mutineers, and Marshal Hermes Fonseca, fomentor of the rebellion, was said to be fleeing. A statement to the United Press by President Pessoa's secretary said: "The military school and the Fifteenth battalion of the army revolted and marched toward Villa Militar. En route the party encountered a group of government troops which defeated the rebels."

"All the sailors and a majority of the soldiers in Fort Copacabana revolted. The fort was surrounded by land and sea."

"The center of the city of Rio continues quiet. Practically all business houses were closed throughout Wednesday afternoon. Some cannonading was audible in Rio during the afternoon."

"The Brazilian dreadnought Minas Geraes shelled Fort Copacabana, which was believed to be the last stronghold of the mutineers."

President Pessoa met the situation by asking the chamber to declare a state of siege for 30 days in Rio and the federal district, which the chamber unanimously approved.

Rio De Janeiro, July 6.—(U. P.)—(6:40 a. m.)—The roar of heavy guns thundering in Rio bay early today told of insurgents who revolted yesterday still holding out against overwhelming numbers of government troops.

Brazil's embryonic revolution still smoldered, although rebel surrender was believed at hand.

Insurgents holding Fort Copacabana were subjected to sporadic cannonading.

STATE DEPARTMENT IS ADVISED OF REBELLION

Washington, July 6.—(I. N. S.)—The state department today received from Selden L. Crosby, the American charge d'affaires at Rio de Janeiro, confirmation of reports of a revolt in the Brazilian army. Crosby's dispatch, dated last night, said the rebellious soldiers had captured and were holding Fort Copacabana at the mouth of the Rio harbor.

It is a mistake to associate absolute cleanliness with soaps that are colored and perfumed. For essential oils of perfume are not always beneficial to the skin. Color in soap has no influence in soothing the skin.

White cleanliness is to be associated only with a white soap. For whiteness is an assurance of purity. In Fairy you have the whitest soap in the world—a soap which does not put a mask over the skin, but thoroughly cleanses. And not only thoroughly cleanses, but soothes.
