Angels Beat Portland in Opening Tilt

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13.—Portland dropped the opening game of the series with Los Angeles Wednesday by a count of 7 to 6.

The Angels got off to a two run lead in the first two innings and scored two runs in the sixth, but the Beavers put up a fight and tied the count in the sixth inning, only to have the Angels slam out extra base hits in the seventh and jump into the lead again. Two battery errors and a couple of hits gave the Angels what proved to be the winning run.

Portland rallied in the ninth and scored two runs, but the rally was cut short when King was caught off first base on a snap throw from Baldwin.

Sammy Hale was added to the hospital list of the Beavers when he injured his leg in sliding to first base. Jimmy Poole started the game but was forced to quit.

The batting of Dick Cox, who made two doubles and a triple in three times up, and Baldwin, featured the contest.

A doubleheader will be played this afternoon.

Wills Likely to Box "Tut" Jackson Before Title Go

By Henry L. Farrell
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(U. P.)—Because it is prescribed part of every build-up, Harry Wills will have to fight someone to show that he qualifies for a chance at the heavyweight crown. Carpentier had to knock off Battling Levinsky as required proof that he was good, and Wills will have to polish the hide of one "Tut" Jackson, the latest phenom from Ohio.

Dave Driscoll, matchmaker for the fighting department of the Brooklyn baseball club, is after a Wills-Jackson fight for early fall, and Jackson is said to be in more than a listening mood.

Wills can't make as much in six months on the Hoboken docks as he could get for an hour against Jackson, and he probably will accept.

Being as Dempsey wants to fight himself back into condition, and since the jury boy of the ring is inclined to put thumbs down on the champion operating on one of his former victims, the British champion, Joe Beckett, may be lured across the pond to lay himself on the altar.

Doubleheader Is Billed for Sunday

The City Baseball league will use the 24th and Vaughn street grounds Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement made by President Leon S. Jackson. A doubleheader between the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and Multnomah Camp No. 77, Woodmen of the World, tossers will be the attraction, the first contest to start promptly at 1:30 o'clock. While these games are going on, Nicolai Door will be playing Montavilla at Columbia park, while the Alberta Commercial club will entertain the O-W-R. & N. contingent at Alberta park. The Columbia park battle starts at 3 o'clock and the Alberta park affair at 2:30 o'clock.

Because of the inability to obtain the grounds for any length of time prior to the Nicolai-Montavilla engagement, the proposed game between the "Blind Bats," a team made up of umpires from semi-pro circles of Portland, and Nicolai has been postponed until a later date.

LENTS PARK TEAM WINS

The Lents park baseball team defeated the Kenilworth park team in a loosely played but hard hitting game of indoor ball Wednesday afternoon, 21 to 16. Delf and O'Brien and Heldendager formed the battery for the winners and Grant and Ayers for the losers.

Grip Essential to New Golfer Both Styles Are Discussed

By Alec Herd
(Written for the United Press)
CHAPTER II.

Editor's NOTE—In this second of his series of instructions to golf beginners, the noted British golf expert enlarges on the importance of learning the proper grip.

IN THIS article I want to amplify my remarks on the grip. After all, the way in which you grasp the club is the very first essential in golf. It comes even before the swing, because, before you learn to swing you have to make up your mind how you are going to hold the club.

There are two choices—the overlapping or the natural "V," or palm grip, as it is called. In the overlapping grip the left thumb lies down the shaft of the club, and the little finger of the right hand rests on the forefinger of the left hand. Both hands come together in the palm grip, but there is no overlapping. The thumb of the left hand goes round the shaft of the club, the right hand gripping the shaft just below the top joint of the left thumb.

BE NATURAL

Both styles have produced champions, but so much has been written about the overlapping grip that beginners think either that it is the only effective method or that the adoption of any other is rank bad form.

Nothing of the kind. I may be accused of prejudice in favor of the palm grip because it happens to be the one which I have always used, but my contention is that it is the natural way of holding a club. A woodman does not seize an ax with an overlapping grip in order to cut down a tree. He holds the implement as nature teaches him to hold it, otherwise he could not get the full force of strength into the blows. Every movement in golf should, first, last, and all the time, be natural.

I have noticed that beginners who adopt the overlapping grip experience some difficulty in completing the upward swing. It becomes complicated because the left thumb, being down the shaft, hampers the player in getting the wrists in position at the top of the swing.

INJURED THEIR GAME

I have had to make the change with some pupils because the knuckle of the left forefinger has become sore and the skin is broken. How many players do you see with a piece of adhesive tape round the knuckle of the left forefinger? This is a sure and certain sign of overlapping. I say definitely that a great many players have permanently injured their game by resorting to this method.

If you have become used to overlapping and like it, then stick to it. It is obviously the grip for you. I do say, however, that the champions and ex-champions who are regarded as shining examples of the new method—for it is new by comparison—would probably have had just such success with the palm grip. I believe that up to the present the American amateur championship has never been won by a player who uses the overlapping grip. This is a fact which should hearten those beginners who, wrongly, I think, bother themselves about its complicated finger work.

R. MacVeagh Eliminates Californian

ONE Californian, William Whelan of Berkeley, was eliminated from further play in the 24th annual Oregon state tennis championship tournament as a result of Wednesday's play on the Irvington club courts. Rogers MacVeagh of Portland worked his way to the fifth round, as did Whelan, and they were to meet Thursday. However, they agreed between themselves to play late Wednesday afternoon and the Oregonian was victorious in two straight sets, 6-1, 6-3.

The committee in charge of the tournament has decided on staging the finals in the men's doubles Friday afternoon, the semi-finals being billed for this afternoon. The men's singles finals will take place Saturday afternoon, as will the mixed doubles and the women's singles. The committee will meet Thursday to decide whether or not to hold the women's doubles finals Friday afternoon or early Saturday morning.

The surprise of the day's play was the decisive victory of Wolfard over Steffen, 6-0, 6-0. Wolfard, who is a former Oregon state men's singles championship, has his eyes set on the Ralph W. Wilbur trophy eblematic of the 1922 title, and he has displayed a better brand of tennis than for several seasons.

The first matches of the women's doubles were played Wednesday and several contests in the women's singles were disposed of. Unique Golfing Foursome Match Being Planned

Roscoe C. Nelson, president of Tualatin Country club, has hopes of arranging a unique foursome to start at the zero hour in the 1922 Oregon state championship tournament.

The foursome will be composed of Rabbi Wise, Father Moran, Fred Gifford and "Chuck" Williams. Other golfers are scratching their heads in an endeavor to ascertain the "whose who" of the match.

BOXING

(United News)

NEW YORK, July 13.—Tommy Loughran, 18 years old, a boxer of less than a year's ring experience, probably will be given a battle with Harry Greb for a big guarantee purse in one of the New York arenas before the summer is over or early in the fall. Loughran went eight scorching rounds with Greb in a no-decision match in Philadelphia Monday night, and the difference of opinion as to who had the better of the fight will build up the interest in a return match here. Loughran got $7000 for the fight. He is a light heavyweight now and may be expected to develop into a heavyweight.

Paris, July 13.—(U. P.)—M. Rousseau, president of the French boxing federation, today cabled a challenge on behalf of Eugene Criqui, European featherweight champion, to meet Johnny Kilbane, the world's champion. Criqui is ready to sail as soon as he receives an answer.

New York, July 13.—Joe Lynch, new bantamweight champion, and his manager, Eddie Mead, were suspended by the boxing commission pending an investigation of the report that Lynch guaranteed Johnny Buff $30,000 for a chance at the title.

New York, July 13. —(U. P.)—Tex Rickard says he has tentatively decided on June 30, 1923, for the Dempsey-Wills fight if he is the promoter. New York or New Jersey will be the place.

Willard Is Offered Bout by Portland Boxing Commission

The Portland boxing commission has offered Jess Willard terms for a bout to be staged in Portland in August. The former heavyweight champion of the world is in training at Hollywood, Cal., for a return bout with Jack Dempsey.

It is not likely that Willard will accept the offer as he has his heart set on meeting Dempsey again and if he fails to win back his title he will quit the game.

If, however, Willard does accept the offer he will be pitted against the best heavyweight obtainable on the Pacific Coast.

Bobby Harper and Jimmy Sacco have been matched to appear in the main event of the Portland card to be staged on July 25.

Landis Orders a Gambling Clean-up In Major Leagues

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, July 13.—Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, has ordered a sweeping investigation of baseball gambling. The order came as a result of the arrest of 40 gamblers at the game between the Cubs and the Giants here Wednesday afternoon.

Commissioner Landis asked that the names of the betters and the individual players named in the betting be turned over to him, to determine whether any of the players "worked according to form," it was said.

The raid in which the detectives swooped down on the grandstand, took place during the fourth inning. A dozen well known bookmakers were taken into custody. Nearly all gave fictitious names and addresses, the authorities said.

The roundup resulted from evidence gathered after President William L. Veeck of the Cubs complained to the authorities. Isadore Savlan, said by the authorities to be the head of the bookmakers' ring, was arrested.

A number of the big betters, it was said, escaped in the melee that occurred as patrol wagons from six stations drew up at the baseball park gates.

WHAT A NICKEL IS ABLE TO SECURE IN A CIGAR TODAY

A real smoke in a 5-cent cigar has been the dream of the Great American Smoker for a good many months, and here he has it in Wm. Penn, a real old-time cigar, at the old-fashioned price, 5 cents.

Received everywhere with an immediate popularity, it is today the largest selling 5-cent cigar in the country.

It is popularity well deserved. The Wm. Penn is the best cigar value on the market today. It is fully a year ahead of the times for the price. Manufacturer and dealer receive much less profit on the individual cigar than they really have a right to take, but they are getting it back in the enormous sale of this genuine quality smoke.

Step up and try a Wm. Penn. You will have respect for a nickel after you have bought one and smoked it.

NOTE—There is only one price for a Wm. Penn—5c straight—$5 per hundred—$50 per thousand. Please do not ask the dealer to sell for less. He cannot afford to do it.
