The bride is a graduate of Iowa State college and later attended Columbia iniversity. She was head of the deartment of household sciences at Oregon Agricultural college. She is a er of Kappa Delta sorority. She is a sister of Mrs. Anthony Euwer (Ruby Page Ferguson) and Mrs. Ralph liett of Portland. Dr. Osborn is University of Montana man and also of the University of Chicago. After a short wedding trip Dr. and Mrs. Osorn will make their home in Portland. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. T. B. Balley of St. Anthony, daho, Mrs. Virginia Euwer of Pitts-burg, Eugene Euwer of Hood River, liss Mary Miller, Dean Ava B. Milam, sen Rodenwald and Allen Oliver of Corvallis, and Miss Genevieve Fisher of Ames, Iowa.

One of the large social affairs of the week will be the ball given at the Hotel Multnomah this evening by the Oregon chapter of the American Institute of Banking honoring the delegates and their wives who are attending the national convention. A very large attendance is expected and both the grand ball room and the assembly m will be used. As an added at-ction, Miss Jessie Merriss, the late Mile. Fift of American Legion fame, fume which they are said to retain for will dance and rumors are about con-cerning a clever black face stunt which the Kansas City delegation will put on. A very enjoyable evening is being lar hems on most of the new gowns and although its popularity seems undiminished, there is an effort by some of the leading coutorieres to make the hem line even once more. Consequently one sees here and there a frock with an absolutely even hem, which it must be confessed looks neat and trim in comparison with dipped and scooped hems roundabout it. Yet even the gown with the straight hem makes a concession in the matter of a floating panel or so.

THE discovery that Peter Rabbit was a prisoner in a pen in Farmer Brown's henvard was such a shock to Sammy Jay that for once in his life he was speechless. He had known that someone was a prisoner there, but not once had he thought of Peter Rabbit. You see he thought Peter knew too much to get into any such scrape as

But Sammy wasn't speechless for long. No indeed, Sammy wasn't speechless for long. Here was news indeed, and Sammy enjoys nothing more than spreading of news. So away he started, shouting at the top of his lungs, "Peter Rabbit is a pris oner! Peter Rabbit is a prisoner! He is over in Farmer Brown's henyard! Now Sammy's voice can be heard long distance. Everybody in the Old Orchard heard him at once and of course everybody at once started for what Sammy had said was true. Then he headed for the dear Old Briar-patch. Before he reached it he saw asked Sammy Jay, Johnny Chuck getting his breakfast in Johnny Chuck a clover patch.

"Hi, Johnny Chuck! What do you think happened to Peter Rabbit?" he sitting up and talking with his mouth "He's a prisoner!" cried Sammy Johnny Chuck stopped chewing. Whose prisoner is he?" he asked "Farmer Brown's boy's. Anyway he is up in a pen in Farmer Brown's henyard," replied Sammy.

"How do you know?" demanded ohnny Chuck looking at Sammy susolciously. You see Johnny had lived ong enough to learn that he couldn't believe everything that was told him. "Because I saw him," snapped Sammy Jay. "Anyway I saw his tail. which amounts to the same thing! Then' he told Johnny all about that pen in Farmer Brown's henyard, and how he had watched and watched to see who was in it, and finally that very morning had caught a glimpse of a white tail disappearing inside the little box in the pen.

"Perhaps it is some other Rabbit, suggested Johnny Chuck. "I don't believe Peter Rabbit would be so stupid as to be caught and put in pen. It must be some other Rabbit."
"When did you see Peter last?"

Johnny Chuck scratched his nose thoughtfully. "I haven't seen him for several days," he confessed. "I hadn't thought of it before, but now you mention the matter I haven't seem Peter Rabbit in the dear Old Briarpatch for several days. But that doesn't mean that he hasn't been

Just then Sammy Jay's sharp eyes spied the face of little Mrs. Peter at the edge of the dear Old Briar-patch. She was looking anxiously out across the Green Meadows. At once Sammy called to her. "Where's Peter?" he

"I don't know," confessed little Mrs Peter, "I'm worried about him. He hasn't been home for several days." "You needn't worry any more," re-plied Sammy, "I can tell you where he is. He's a prisoner up in Farmer Brown's henyard." And then Sammy Jay couldn't understand why little Mrs. Peter looked more worried than ever. You see to Sammy it was a great joke that Peter Rabbit had been caught. So all the rest of that day he flew about spreading the news.
