

SNAPPY NEW STYLE IDEAS

The ultra-modern in fashions for women and girls is nowhere better presented than in The Sunday Journal magazine section, which is specially illustrated with descriptions of the latest Lady Day-Gordon creations.

Mrs. J. Forbes Honored at Luncheon

By Hazel Handy MONG the smart social affairs of the week was the luncheon today given by Mrs. John C. Wilson in honor of Mrs. John Forbes, who is the housewife of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gordon Forbes, and who has been the inspiration for many courtesies since her arrival. Covers were laid for 25.

As a crowning feature to the elaborate entertaining which has been done by the delegates and their wives who attended the national convention of the American Institute of Banking was the ball last evening at the Multnomah club, given in their honor by the Oregon chapter. In robes tastefully decorated with flags and long streamers of red and gold, the association color, large throngs danced and made merry about the very latest modern train lines. On every side one heard the praises of Portland sung and a fine appreciation of the hospitality shown during the convention was voiced by the visitors. Among the features of the evening was the dancing of Miss Jessie Morrison, the Miss. Fill of American Legion fame, which was most enthusiastically received by the guests. Mr. C. Sammons, as general chairman of the committee on entertaining, was in charge of the affair.

The Portland summer term of the University of Oregon closes on the red-tiled program for the summer with two plays which the public speaking department will give in Lincoln high school auditorium tonight at 8:15.

"Enter the Hero" will be the first play with the following cast: Freda Thomas as Ruth Carey; Edith Stephenson as Anne Carey; Robert P. Sims as Harold Lawrence; and Mrs. Grace Bloxham as Mrs. Carey. The second play, "Mansions," will have in its cast Mrs. Grace Bloxham as Harriet Wilde; Margaret Westgate as Lydia Wilde and Miss M. Eleanor Singsland as Joe Wilde.

As a farewell to Mr. Pariah Williams and an opportunity for his friends to bid him bon voyage, an informal reception will be given in the parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Williams Sunday. The receiving hours will be from 3 until 7 p. m. Mr. Williams will leave next week for New York, whence he will sail for Norway on August 10 to be gone two years. While abroad he will visit the Jeanette Rossie and will make a tour of the Scandinavian countries. An invitation is being extended to all of his friends to take this opportunity of bidding him goodbye.

Eugene—Dr. William Kuykendall, pioneer Lane county physician and prominent in political circles years ago, and Miss May Rowland, formerly head of the Eugene hospital, owned by Dr. Kuykendall, were married in Salem Wednesday. Following the ceremony they left for a month in California. Dr. Kuykendall has represented Lane county in the state senate. He is the father of an illustrious family of sons well known in this state.

Virginia and Evelyn Thatcher, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thatcher, are guests at the Lancelotti Columbia gorge camp on the Columbia river highway. They arrived Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher, who spent the night in camp, and will return to Portland some time this week.

Miss May Wallace entertained at luncheon at the Anson Dayport tea house on Tuesday. Covers were placed for the Misses Dorothy Shea, Janet House, Christie, Rebecca, Marguerite, Heather, Flora, Jane, Monette, Leslie, Maras, Ruth, Bruere, Barbara, Stansfield and Marcia Knight.

Mrs. John R. Bowles and her daughter, Miss Marion Bowles, are planning on leaving Portland the last of the month for an extended European trip. They will have given up their home and will be at the Hotel Mallory until their departure. Miss Bowles has been the recipient of a number of courtesies prior to her leave taking.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Webster Talbot and their daughter, Miss Gay Talbot, will spend the week end at their cottage at Gearhart. They will have as their guests Miss Margaret Stacey of Piedmont, Cal., house guest of Miss Talbot, Miss Merrill Jones and Miss Louise Hoyt. Miss Jones is visiting Miss Hoyt.

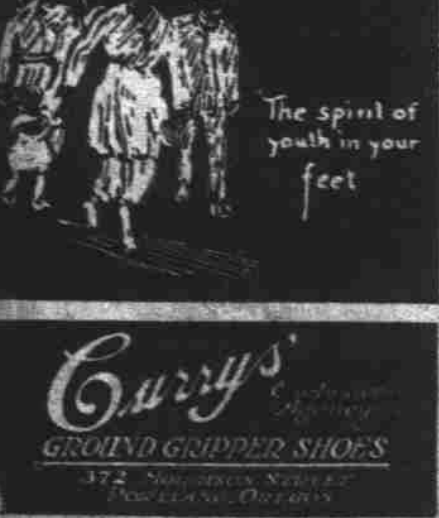

Major and Mrs. S. A. Barker, who have been visiting Mrs. Barker's brother, Mr. Kenneth Honeyman, at Mrs. Honeyman's at Palatka, Ill., will leave tomorrow for Camp Travis, Texas, where Major Barker is stationed.

Mrs. Robert McMurray will entertain with a supper party at the Hotel Portland Saturday at 8 o'clock to Miss Katherine Corbin and Mr. Henry Trowbridge, whose wedding will be an event of the week. Twenty-two guests have been invited.

Mrs. Anna Mouglin of Los Angeles was the inspiration for a delightful luncheon Wednesday at the Benzon hotel, when Mrs. Abe Tichenor entertained in her honor. Another affair given in compliment to Mrs. Mouglin, who is being extensively entertained.

Red Cross Shop In Need of Donations

Did you ever hear of a shop that sold everything, from diamond rings to a worn pair of shoes, and from a piano to a moth-eaten overcoat, with everything in between those two points? The American Red Cross shop, located at 69 Third street, between Oak and Pine, has just such a stock, and the proceeds from the sales are used to benefit disabled, ex-soldiers and their families. The Red Cross shop is dependent entirely on donations.

"We have a market for anything," said Mrs. Clara B. Lowe, secretary of the Red Cross shop. "It is almost ludicrous the wide variety of articles we can sell. We have sold everything in books, from a copy of Dickens' 'Pickwick Papers' to abstract volumes on philosophy and Einstein's theory."

"So we appeal to the public for donations of books and magazines, for used clean clothing in any quantity, for furniture, jewelry, pictures, and, in fact, anything that has a market price." The telephone number is Broadway 4452, and a truck will call for articles at any time.

It is hoped that the people of Portland will respond to the call of the Red Cross shop, now needing more than ever donations so that our ex-soldiers may not feel they are entirely forgotten.

Jackie Coogan's Parents Agree on Mother as Guardian

Los Angeles, July 21.—(I. N. S.)—Representing the unusual situation of both parents of a minor child asking the appointment of the same guardian in his estate, the case of Jackie Coogan, juvenile film star, was called today before Judge Rives. The petition was filed by Jack Coogan and his wife, Lillian Coogan, parents of Jackie, and they were in harmony with the plan of Mrs. Coogan being named legal guardian in order to conserve the estate of her child actor, which consists of his large earning power in the films. The guardianship was sought also in order that the parents might be protected from the malicious gossip of those who might believe that the juvenile star's salary was being exploited or misused by the parents.

FRATERNAL

The city chapter, Orders of Eastern Star, will hold a basket picnic at Laurerhurst park Saturday afternoon. There will be games and races. All Eastern Stars and their families are invited. Black coffee will be served by the committee.

DRESS

The Importance of Correct Sports Accessories.

The summer season lays special stress upon the prominent role played by the various types of sports clothes. Bathing-dress, which is practical as well as smart, is worthy the most discriminating selection. Illustrated above is a chic bathing frock developed in tartan and checked silk gingham. The knickerbockers button snugly just above the knees, and the skirt is full because to be attractive without detracting from the freedom of the wearer.

Columbian day at Columbia Beach will be held next Tuesday, when the people of Clark county will take over the park for the day. There will be a program of games and sports in the afternoon, a lunch, and after that dancing in the new pavilion. The park has been leased for the day by Herbert J. Campbell, publisher of the Vancouver Evening Columbian, who has arranged the entertainment for his guests.

Ely Is to Book His Own Pictures

William W. Ely, manager of the Hippodrome theatre, is spending a few days in Seattle, visiting motion picture exchanges and showmen. Ely expects to arrange bookings for a number of pictures for the Portland house which, now that it has been restored to the ownership and direction of Ackerman & Harris, will buy its film features in the Northwest rather than accepting what a New York buyer chooses to book into the house, according to Ely.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multifid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely free of alkali) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multifid in a cup or glass with a little warm water. Then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Multifid coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multifid.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the Juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have a brightening cream of harmless and delightful odor. Rub this mixture on your face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

LUX FOR DISHWASHING

At last—relief from the three-times-a-day coarsening of the hands

THROW one tablespoonful of Lux into your dishpan—turn on the hot water. The flakes foam up into the richest, thickest lather you have ever had for dishwashing. Three times a day you can wash dishes in this lather and still your hands will not be rough or red. Lux contains no free alkali or any other ingredient that could hurt the most sensitive skin—it is as easy on your hands as a fine toilet soap.

Begin today to wash your dishes the Lux way—don't permit your hands to have the old three-times-a-day-in-the-dishpan look. One package of Lux will last for 44 dishwashings—more than two weeks. Start using it now. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

BURGESS' BEDTIME STORIES

Many Visitors to Farmer Brown's Henyard

By Thornton W. Burgess One better they should keep away. There better they should keep away. There better they should keep away.

OF COURSE Peter Rabbit had heard Sammy Jay's screams the night through the Old Orchard. He knew that soon everybody in the Green Forest, on the Green Meadows, at the Milling Pool, and in the Old Pasture would know that he was a prisoner. It hurt Peter's pride. It hurt it dreadfully. He knew that if ever he should get free he never would hear the end of this. You know he had done his best to keep out of sight. He had come out of that box only at night. Had not Sammy Jay been up extra late that morning Peter would still have had his secret.

"Oh dear!" groaned Peter. "Now everybody will know what has happened to me, and never, never will I hear the end of it. Sammie Jay might have kept it to himself. Yes, sir, Sammie Jay might have kept it to himself. I'll never forgive him. Now everybody who can will come over here to make fun of me."

In this Peter was wrong. Everybody who could did visit Farmer Brown's henyard. But most of these visitors came to offer sympathy and not to make fun of Peter. They were sorry for him and they wanted to know it. But Peter kept out of sight in the little box Farmer Brown's boy had provided for him. He didn't show so much as a whisker outside. His friends of the Old Orchard called to him, but Peter didn't answer. Not until the Peter Shadows had crept out from behind the Purple Hills and all the little people of the Old Orchard had gone to bed for the night did Peter come out of his box.

But there were visitors even then. Yes, indeed, there were visitors even then. And these visitors were not the kindly sort who had tried so hard all day to see him. Reddy Fox was the first. You know Reddy knew just how Peter had been caught. He sat down just outside the henyard and grinned through the wires at Peter. "I see you have moved from the dear Old Briar-patch," said Reddy in the most provoking way.

But Peter felt. "Don't worry, Peter," said he. "I don't believe Farmer Brown's boy means you any harm. Just keep your eyes open and you'll see later you will find a chance to get out." Old Man Coyote grinned again and then went on about his business. He had not been gone long when Peter heard just the faintest of sounds. He looked up to find Hooty the Owl sitting on one of the posts of the henyard and glaring down at him with such a hungry look that little shivers ran all over Peter, although he knew Hooty couldn't get into the henyard. Three times Hooty called so close that his wings brushed the wire top of the pen. Then with a scream of disappointment he flew away. Somehow with Hooty about that pen hadn't seemed such a dreadful place.
