

Luncheons Are Given for Visitors

By Hazel Handy
TEAS and luncheons complimenting the summer visitors still maintain the ascendancy on the calendar of social events. One of the most charming of these affairs was a luncheon Monday afternoon at Waverley Country club, when Mrs. Thomas Sharp Jr. and Mrs. John Cabene Beauty entertained a number of friends in compliment to Mrs. Edward Clark III.

At a table most attractive in its decoration of summer flowers were seated, besides the honor guest, Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mrs. C. Hunt Lewis, Mrs. Victor A. Johnson, Mrs. Edwin C. Shevlin, Mrs. William D. Wheelwright, Mrs. Edmund L. Devereaux, Mrs. Donald W. Green, Mrs. Margaret Burrell Biddle, Mrs. Robert H. Noyes, Mrs. Wells S. Gilbert, Mrs. Earle F. Whitney and the hostesses.

One of the attractive affairs given for members of the younger set was the bridge tea this afternoon when Miss Louise Nixby entertained in honor of her house guest, Miss Edna Pollman of Baker. Four tables of bridge were in play and additional guests called for the tea.

The dance Wednesday evening aboard the Swan by the Women's Ad club promises to be a most enjoyable event. A splendid program has been arranged. Miss Louise Royer and Miss Opal Bowen and Mrs. Elva D. Skothelm are in charge of the arrangements. The boat will leave the east approach of Morrison street bridge at 8:30 p. m. and a large attendance of members and their friends is urged to make this party a great success.

Mrs. Margaret Burrell Biddle and her daughter, Miss Margaret Biddle, entertained quite informally with a tea Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. A. B. Hopper and Miss Natalie Hopper of South Orange, N. J. Mrs. William C. Alvord and Mrs. William Lewis Brewster presided at the tea table. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hopper, with their daughter and son, have taken the Ferdinand Smith home on Barnes road for the summer.

Miss Florence Holmes will entertain the members of Eta Alpha chapter, Chi Omega sorority, with a dinner party at her home, No. 821 Marshall street, Wednesday at 6 p. m. Miss Harriet Malcolm, a delegate to the national convention, will give an interesting report.

One of the attractive visitors in Portland is Miss Kathryn Phillips of East Orange, N. J., who is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Malarkey. She accompanied Mr. Joseph Huntington Malarkey and Mr. Herbert Malarkey west and will remain until September.

Madame Esther Pallister, who won so many friends with her charm of manner during her short visit to Portland, left the house of Mr. Joseph Mahon and daughter Virginia of Portland.

Mrs. E. O. Royal entertained over the week-end at her cottage, Umatilla, Long Beach. Mrs. C. H. Rupert and daughter Dorothy, who are visiting from Chicago, Ill. Also Mrs. Cecil Mahon and daughter Virginia of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Duzer have returned from an outing in Rainier National park. They were accompanied by Miss Clara Reed, who is their guest for the summer from Elmira, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Severin Harkson (Doris Henningson) have returned from their wedding journey and will be at the Henningson residence until their new home is completed.

During Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tucker's visit to Portland last week they were delightfully entertained with a number of informal affairs.

Miss Martha Ide is visiting her sister, Miss Marjorie Ide, in Tacoma. A number of informal affairs have been planned in her honor.

Miss Eugenia Page of Hood River was entertained by Mrs. H. H. O'Reilly during a short stay in Portland last week.

FRATERNAL
Rose Social club of Oregon Rose camp, Royal Neighbors of America, will meet at the home of Mrs. Ada Gerlach, No. 3629 64th street S. E., at 10 a. m. Wednesday. A potluck luncheon will be served. All Royal Neighbors and friends are invited.

GIRLS! LEMONS
BLEACH FRECKLES
AND WHITEN SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which is a quart size will supply for a year. Shake well and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan bleach, and complexion whiter.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy white the skin becomes.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream

Frank Mayo Has Heroic Role in Rivoli Film

FRANK MAYO, the rugged, handsome star of many cinema triumphs, is being starred at the Rivoli this week in his latest picture, "Out of the Silent North." Mayo is given plenty of opportunity to show his worth as a character actor, as his part calls for many emotions. His strength also is used to good advantage, as numerous snowstorms and other obstacles are wound into the picture at convenient angles. He encounters many hazards, including battles with rugged men of the North, but in the end he wins out, with the heroine safely in his muscular arms.

The supporting cast is good, with no stars but many sterling actors and actresses. The photography is well done, with lots of beautiful scenery and snow scenes, while the action is fast and the plot thick. Gladys Lucille Bates, a pretty little 10-year-old soprano, sings some beautiful songs with clear high notes and octaves that win lots of applause. Gladys has a truly marvelous voice for one so young, and she helps the Rivoli bill to no small extent.

Salvatore Santella, the masterful pianist, and his symphony orchestra play several stirring operatic airs. Several fillers and "Screen Snapshots" complete the program. Frank Mayo and the others will be at the Rivoli throughout the entire week.

White Signs Will Decorate Streets

Commissioner Barbur conferred Monday with representatives of the Hotel Men's association on the style of street signs to be placed in the downtown district, for which appropriation has been made by the city council. It was decided to use a sign with white lettering on a blue enamel background. The district to be covered with two signs on standard diagonal corners of the street intersections, includes Yamhill, Morrison, Alder, Washington and Stark streets, from First to 11th streets, which will require the placing of about 110 signs.

Two-Ton Maximum Is Fixed for Bridge

Kelso, Wash., Aug. 1.—Because of the heavy traffic over the Kelso bridge the board of county commissioners has placed new speed and load limitations. Autos must not exceed eight miles an hour and trucks four miles an hour in crossing the bridge and no load of more than two tons can be carried across. Two special officers have been placed upon the bridge to see that these orders are obeyed. Establishment of the Long-Bell ferry to Rainier has greatly increased auto travel across the local bridge. Saturday 1226 cars crossed the bridge between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. and yesterday more than 1500 cars crossed in the same period.

Cotton Fabrics and the Summer Mode
In spite of all sorts of predictions to the contrary, cotton fabrics are undoubtedly the fashion in the summer wardrobe. The morning frock at the left, which illustrates the continued favor for the sleeveless dress so much featured last year, is developed in cream color. The long bishop sleeves are developed in cream color. At the right is a rose organdy frock trimmed with inserts of ecru Irish lace or linen entre-deux. The sash may be of crisp taffeta in Du Barry blue.

Pantages Has Topnotcher Program

By C. L. S.
CONVENTIONALLY speaking, "the Pantages" theatre has a good bill this week. But conventionalities do not apply to the popular playhouse's current offering, in the face of a brilliant aggregation of artists who feature several vaudeville acts.

Dance des Artistes, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Douglas Jr., featuring Mrs. Hamilton and her company of terpsichorean specialists, which closes the program, is the embodiment of grace which would make any Big Time. Beautifully costumed, the flying ballet, depicting butterfly-like girls, opens the show. It is a marvelous bit of aerial maneuvering. One of the high spots in the performance is the Dance des Artistes by Mrs. Hamilton Douglas Jr. and Leo A. Granke, a combination of refined acrobatic dancing and toe dancing, in which Mrs. Hamilton stars. Vieing for honors also are the acrobatic specialists, which closes the program, is the embodiment of grace which would make any Big Time.

Words and Music is a violin and piano number with Fred Berrens at the bow and invisible "spirits" at the keyboard. The violinist talks to the piano and executes a few strokes with the bow. The piano either answers or accompanies him, keeping perfect time. The puzzle-act is a novelty and leaves the audience guessing the nature of the unseen harpist. If artistically done, approaches art, as it is demonstrated in "The Last Rehearsal," in which several women and two men appear under the direction of a harpist. Characters depicted are a fierce villain, a ponderous vamp, the heroine and hero. The act has some clever lines which all run gross exaggerations which are amusing.

Parish and Peru, versatile vaudeville acts, open like a zephyr and close like a whirlwind. They get better as the act proceeds, dancing a little, chattering and toying with the concertinas. Take-off on the golf links and acrobatic dancing with a barrel as the chief stage instrument and some clever balancing are strong features.

The Homer Slaters open the bill with a variety of dance specialties. The sisters work fast and change costumes frequently, demonstrating a versatility that is almost without bounds.

Chapter 7 of the "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe" and Aesop's Fables feature the film scenes.

33 Boys Leave for Y. M. Spirit Lake Camping Grounds

Thirty-three boys, the second group from the Portland Y. M. C. A., left the city Monday to spend the summer at Spirit Lake, with Dr. Francis Scott Smith, W. F. Rouse and Paul S. Flegel in charge.

Dr. Ulysses Moore examined all the boys before they left, testing their lungs, hearts and giving bacteriological tests of their throats. All were in excellent condition, he reported. Miss A. B. Sprague, fiscal expert of Good Samaritan hospital, and Miss Laura Riley of the home economics department of the Portland public schools made out the lists for the boys.

Boys at the first camp who will remain during the next five weeks: Robert Warner, Robert Fontana, Romig Fuller, Robert Kewenbach, William Swimer, Lynn Wyckoff, Sam Ludors, Abbott Lawrence, Elbert Fontana, Albert Sieglinger, Dennison Lawrence, Maurice Pease, Sam Lockwood, Maurice Kinney, Tom Bransford, John Gantenbein, Gordon Donald and Joe Southworth.

Using oil heaters and water circulating in pipes to furnish warmth, an incubator with a capacity of 10,000 eggs has been built.

BURGESS' BEDTIME STORIES

Sooty the Chimney Swift Has an Accident
By Thornton W. Burgess
A second's heedlessness may bring disaster to the swift-winged Sooty the Chimney Swift.

ACCIDENTS will happen. Yes, air, they will happen. They happen to the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, to those who run and those who climb and to those who fly. Just as they do to human folks. If ever you have watched Sooty the Chimney Swift joyously darting this way and that way through the air you probably never have thought of the possibility that he might meet with an accident. Yet accidents are possible even to Sooty.

It happened that along toward shadow time one day Peter Rabbit took it into his head to go over to the Big River. He was just idly curious that took him over there. It was a long time since Peter had been near the Big River. He sat down in a little clump of grass on the bank of the Big River where he was quite hidden, but where he could look out across the water and up and down the shore. The wind was blowing straight in his face and was making quite big waves on the Big River. Peter liked to hear them gently splash on the shore.

For a long time he saw no one whom he knew. Then overhead he heard a familiar voice. It was the voice of Sooty the Chimney Swift as he raced this way and that on swift wings, chasing the flying insects on which he lives.

"Hello!" exclaimed Peter. "What is Sooty doing over here? I don't often see him so far from Farmer Brown's." Now, Sooty had gone farther than usual for his supper that night. It just happened that hunting was not good in the air above Farmer Brown's. Sooty knew that often there were very delicious insects to be found near the Big River and so he had gone over there.

Peter was filled with envy as he watched Sooty. "Oh, dear," sighed Peter. "I wish I could fly like that. It must be great. But I should think Sooty would get tired. I never see him stop to rest and he makes his wings go so fast that I should think they would ache."

One instant Sooty would be high up in the air. A moment later he would seem to be just skimming the water. In fact, he was just skimming the water. You see, he had discovered that there were many insects close to the water and these he was catching.

Peter watched him dart down until his wings almost touched the water. Just then there was a wave which was a little higher than the other waves right in front of Sooty. Peter gave a startled jump. Sooty had hit the top of that wave! Yes, sir, Sooty had hit the top of that wave, and now Peter could see him at all! Peter sat up very straight, with his eyes looking as if they were trying to pop out of his head. But though he looked and looked, he couldn't see Sooty. You see, he was looking in the air for Sooty just above the Big River, and Sooty wasn't in the air. No, sir, Sooty wasn't in the air. He had met with an accident.

Just before he had hit that big wave Sooty had seen a fat, delicious looking fly just leaving the surface of the water back of that wave. So intent was he in catching that fly that he hadn't noticed that that wave was a little higher than the other waves.
