Wheat Trade Is Stubborn, but Low-Prices Are Forced

Chicago, Aug 5.—Wheat had a sink-ing spell during the last hour of trading to-day. There was a dip in opening values as day. There was a dip in opening values as the result of hedging pressure but support developed after a moderate break and while prices did not rally much the break was halted Locals tried to press the decline and the market acted stubborn but during the late trading it was apparent that locals were largely on the long side and they received Winnipeg Wheat Options

Boston, Aug. 5.—The lethargy in the wool markst in Summer street showed signs of awakening as the week closed. The volume of trading was not exceptionally large even for a short week-and day but there was avidence that the manufacturers had determined their requirements and were on the point of entering the market. Developments in the wool schedule of the tariff at Washington have not served to affect prices although some irregularity was in evidence.

Some buying of small lots in the west was reported at prices approximating $1.15 to $1.20 scoured, Boston. Ohio and Pennsylvania delaines remained at $4 to 56 cents in the grease.

Oosl Situation Better

While the railroad stocks had some new and threatening developments, noted chiefly in the desire of the railroad brotherhoods to lay complaints of the operating condition before President Harding, the street found material in the coal strike outlook to promote confidence in railroad stocks when operators and miners meet on Monday. Reports that Illinois operators were offering the men the old wage scale and new working conditions made it look as though mutual concessions might be evolved when the interested parties get together in conference.

get together in conference, Marks Alone Weak Sterling exchange and france were quite firm and a reaction of the Berlin rate under 13 cents was accompanied by no new information about the foreign situation. The cables brought word that the German government would refuse to meet the stipulated $10,000,000 pre-war business debt payment by August 15, but this has been expected as a part of the effort to have reparations and other indebtedness scaled down or postponed.

A noteworthy incident was the sudden jump in steel common from 100% to 101% between sales, on the announcement that some of the steel furnaces would operate as usual next week, regardless of the existing fuel shortage. Corn Products led the industrial group, making a new high for the year of 111% just before the close, while Brooklys Edison ran up sharply to 115, also a new top for this stock. Rails continued to lead the market, and in the late dealings an increasing demand was in evidence for New York Central, Rock Island and Baltimore & Ohio.

WEEK WITH SOFTER TONE New York, Aug. 5.—The market for cotton goods concluded the ewek ithout responding to the increased prices current for the raw staple and while there was little change in print cloth and affecting prices today, the tone of the market was softer than at the tone of the market was softer than at the beginning of the week before the government cotton report was published. Trading in the standard print cloths was of fair volume although the individual lots dealt in were small. The sheetings disposed of were largely for the jobbing trade with export demand not the evidence. There was a fair demand for sateens, twills and fine count goods.

The tone of trading in raw silks was improved by the better demand for ribbons and portions.

Trading quieted down considerably in the cotton market today and price changes were small throughout the two-hour session. Wall street and local operators were the first the chief sellers. After the first hour session was a street and local operators were the market steadied acmowhat on sweek end short coverings and then closed easy off 3 to 11 points. Prices reported by Overbeck & Cooke Co.
