150 Guests Meet Distinguished Visitors

By Helen Hethelison
MORE than 150 guests called during the afternoon today at the home of Mrs. Wallace McCannant, in King street, to greet Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, the president of the United States, and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, who is a member of the official party which is touring the West this summer.

MARIE RICH, who is closing an interesting engagement this week at The Oaks with Armstrong's Baby Doll Revue in "Sattires of 1922."

Lending charm and graciousness to the productions of Edward Robinson at this season at Oaks park auditorium has been the work of Marie Rich, a winsome little player direct from two seasons with Kolb and Dill.

FASHIONS REALM

Paris, Aug. 15.—An unusual trimming for one of the early autumn hats is a combination of the two favorite decorations, ostrich feathers and coque. A hat on which the combination was retained the wide brim so much like this summer. The brim was cinnamon felt, the Tam o' Shanter crown of taffeta in the same shade.

Film Depicts Romance of South Sea

By F. A. C.
A handful of rose pearls, one dainty bit of femininity and a large brassy fist mix delightfully in "The Man Unconquerable," starring Jack Holt, now playing at the Rivoli. It's well worth seeing.

CLUB NOTES

Special interest attaches to the luncheon meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club to be held Wednesday at 12:10 when the speaker will be Dr. Glenn Levin Swiggett.

Willard Mack Underworld Skit Vivid

By C. L. S.
THE underworld, with its sordid, mysterious phases of crime, is vividly portrayed by the Willard Mack playlet, "Kick In," at the Pantages theatre this week. Those who have obtained fleeting glimpses of that portion of the world which thrives on nocturnal adventures and dark deeds, and whose ethical code is the law under which the players in real life operate, will get a post-graduate course by viewing this masterful presentation by the Mack company.

BURGESS' BEDTIME STORIES

Mrs. Reddy Is Provoked
By Thornton W. Burgess
A long time ago I was forced to decide that worry and anger are closely allied.

REDDY FOX had been misled at home. He should have been there shortly after daylight, or even before. Mrs. Reddy had the four young foxes to look after and she needed Reddy's help. You know they were big enough now to get their first lessons in the Great World and to be taught how to hunt for their own food.

When Reddy was late Mrs. Reddy became provoked. The young foxes were teasing and to watch two of them and keep them out of mischief was about all Mrs. Reddy felt she could do. So when Reddy was late Mrs. Reddy became provoked. The young foxes were teasing and to watch two of them and keep them out of mischief was about all Mrs. Reddy felt she could do.
