

SUIT STARTED TO CLEAR UP DUFUR ORCHARD PROJECT

The Dalles, Sept. 14.—The second step in the liquidation of the affairs of the Dufur Orchard company, owners of the 3600-acre tract of land, all of which until this year was in apples, was taken here yesterday when suit was filed in behalf of the Portland trust company and A. C. Churchill, receiver; the Northwestern National bank of Portland and Edward H. French and Emory Olmstead, trustees. The suit was filed with the consent of Circuit Judge Fred W. Wilson, whose court has jurisdiction over the receivership, as a result of the agreement reached last spring at a big meeting of the creditors.

At that time a general plan of reorganization was agreed upon and the suit was filed as part of the salvage scheme laid out in favor of the trust company is anticipated, with a sheriff's sale following, when the Washington Securities company, acting as mortgagee, will probably bid in the property.

If this agreement carries all the way, then a new company, known as the Dufur Orchard company, will be organized and stock and bonds issued to the creditors on a pro rata basis.

WILL RAISE WHEAT

The east half of the Dufur property, consisting of 1800 acres, was cleared of trees this summer, under arrangement made last spring, and will be sown to wheat this fall. The balance is being operated for the present as one big orchard.

It is commonly known as the "west half" and is most productive from a horticultural standpoint. Outstanding obligations last March were $144,485, including about $90,000 held by unsecured creditors, according to J. B. Kerr, attorney of Portland, who formulated the reorganization plan. Property and equipment at that time was approximately valued at $450,000.

Jury Convicts Two On Liquor Charge; Sentence Deferred

Morris Silverman, held by the United States district court at San Francisco under bail of $15,000 on a charge of tampering with government securities, was found guilty in municipal court Wednesday by a jury on charges of selling and possessing intoxicating liquors.

M. Brasham, jewelry store proprietor at No. 114 North Sixth street, was found guilty by the same jury of maintaining a nuisance. Brasham was charged with conducting a bootlegging business in connection with his jewelry store under the guise of a free employment bureau.

According to statements from the office of the city attorney, Brasham and Silverman had catered to loggers and mill workers. Sentence will be passed in a few days.

Haines Ad Club to Boost 1925 Caravan

Haines, Sept. 14.—Members of the Haines Ad club, many of whom are members of the Baker County Chamber of Commerce, plan to join the Baker body in entertaining the "1925 Special" crowd on the evening of September 19, when the Portlanders will spend about 10 hours in that city. Trips about Baker, including one over the Haines-Baker section of the Old Oregon Trail state highway and on through the foothills overlooking the most scenic section of the beautiful Haines valley, are planned. A big meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the Baker opera house, first operated by George L. Baker, now mayor of Portland, who will be the principal speaker.

Jackson County's Fair Opens With Large Attendance

Medford, Sept. 14.—The Jackson county fair was opened to the public Wednesday with hundreds of exhibitors in the booths, while finishing touches were placed on other exhibits. At noon a plane whirred overhead in a maze of maneuvers indicating the official start of the first day's program.

Dedication of the new grounds, set for 1 o'clock, was deferred until today. A tract of 118 acres on the Pacific highway one mile south of Medford, bought by the county, has been improved by modern buildings, the nucleus of an extended plant, all of which was worked out by experienced designers from the Oregon Agricultural college.

The grandstand seats 1000 facing the 1/2 mile track designed by Jack Prince. Advance ticket sales, arrivals and the sale of concessions indicate heavy attendance.

Bishop Rowe to Be Central Figure at Foundation Meet

The Rt. Rev. Peter Trimble Rowe, bishop of Alaska, will be the central figure at the mass meeting in the Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, at which the Bishop Rowe Foundation fund will be presented by Bishop William Ford Nichols of California.

The occasion and the presentation of the fund will mark the completion of Bishop Rowe of 25 years of work for the church in Alaska. The exact amount subscribed to the fund has not yet been announced, but some believe it will be fully $70,000. The money will be held as a trust fund by the Domestic and Foreign Missionary society of the Episcopal church and the annual income will be used by Bishop Rowe so long as he is bishop of Alaska for work in that vast missionary territory.

Other speakers will be Bishop Lucien Lee Kinsolving of Brazil, Bishop G. F. Mosher of the Philippine islands and Bishop C. S. Quin of Texas. Motion pictures will be shown at the General Convention of 1919 and of missionary work among the Indians of South Dakota.

Girl Is Killed Under Her Father's Truck

Butte Creek, Or., Sept. 14.—Jumping from the running board of her father's wood truck, the 6-year-old daughter of George Griffin was fatally crushed when she lost her balance and fell under the rear wheel of the heavily loaded vehicle. The father attempted to stop when he saw her jump after a puppy, which had wriggled from her arms, but the machine skidded on the steep grade, dragging the girl and mangled her body. She was rushed to a hospital at Condon, but died two hours later. The child had climbed on the running board of the truck for a short ride with her father as he left for Fossil, eight miles west of the home.

TARIFF BILL SENT BACK AFTER ROW

(By United News)

Washington, Sept. 14.—The administration tariff bill is back in conference again, dispatched there by the house late Wednesday with instruction of its conferees to eliminate the dye embargo and potash sections of the bill. The vote was 177 to 130.

When the tariff bill was originally before the house there was a successful fight against the dye embargo provision by progressive Republicans and Democrats. The bill went to the senate without the dye embargo and the senate, after a hard fight, defeated efforts to reinstate it.

When the bill went into conference however, the conferees inserted the embargo and the senate, after a hard fight, defeated efforts to reinstate it.

When the bill went into conference, however, the conferees inserted the embargo to be effective for one more year. The provision as inserted, contained an added clause that the president could continue the embargo for another year in event he deemed it wise.

Instructions to strike out the potash levy of one and one-half cents a pound—which provision also was inserted by the conferees, was a victory for the bloc. Farmers, needing potash badly, wished this kept on the free list.

She is survived by the following sons and daughters: John White, Alberta; Mrs. Eva Shorno, Spokane; C. E. White, and Mrs. John Richardson, Colfax; Dr. W. E. White and Mrs. August Paulson, Spokane. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. B. F. Shoemaker of the Christian church conducting the services.

Astoria Has Hope Burned Mill Will Be Reconstructed

Astoria, Sept. 14.—According to a message received in Astoria Wednesday from George B. McLeod, vice president and Oregon manager for the Hammond Lumber company, who with

J. A. Rankin, superintendent of the local mill, is no wiser route from California to Astoria, the company "hopes to adopt a policy that will prove satisfactory and justify resumption of operations by the company in Astoria." McLeod called attention, however, to the fact that the destruction of the Astoria plant had materially interfered with the plans of the company, that the matter of adjusting losses had to be gone through with and other business details disposed of before the company would be in a position to talk of future operations. Local people however, are greatly encouraged by the tenor of McLeod's message and some see in it a forecast of the early reconstruction of the mill and resumption of operations on as large or larger scale than before.
