WEATHER FORECAST
Portland and vicinity—Tonight and Friday, fair, westerly winds.
Oregon—Tonight and Friday, fair; moderate westerly winds.
Washington—Tonight and Friday, fair, except rain near the coast; moderate southwest-westerly winds.
WEATHER CONDITIONS
A storm of moderate energy is apparently centered over Southeastern Alaska, and another over Manitoba and the upper Missouri valley, while the pressure is comparatively low over the Southern Pacific slope. East of the Mississippi river the pressure continues relatively high. Precipitation occurred in Western British Columbia, but only in scattered amounts. Heavy rain fell over the Tootoosh Island, Wash., and Knoxville, Tenn. The weather is cooler in Northern Oregon and Southeastern Washington, and correspondingly warmer in Northern Nevada. Slight changes in temperature were unimportant.
Relative humidity at Portland, Noon yesterday, 71 per cent; 3 p. m., yesterday, 64 per cent; 3 a. m. today, 67 per cent.
Precipitation since January 1: Total, 20.34 inches; normal, 26.53 inches; deficit, 6.19 inches. FRANK GILLIAM.

Radio Interference Is Scored
Votes of the radio fans, in answer to the Journal radio program questionnaire, on the question of listening hours run very closely in the same proportion as the two types of receiving sets, vacuum tube or crystal. The request for more listening hours is slightly behind the number requesting that the Journal schedule be adhered to.
One of the most frequent complaints registered on this question is that of interference by spark stations, not only during the listening hours but on program time, and also against certain Portland stations "hogging" a few minutes of time in excess of their allotted space. One complaint in particular was against a station that broke into a program recently merely to test the set. The station complained against is one of the most popular in the city.
Along with the constant requests for Sunday evening programs comes a request that the evening be devoted to sacred music and religious lectures. The number of votes for sacred music that night is on a ratio of about three to two.
To enable those who missed the questionnaire last Sunday it will be repeated this Sunday in the radio department of the paper.

Wants Jobs for Ex-Serviced Men—A. E. McCabe, recently named head of the employment department of the United States Veterans' bureau in the Northwest, came to Portland Wednesday and is holding conferences with bureau officials and employers here in an attempt to secure suitable work for a number of ex-service men in the city who have completed the training courses offered by the government but have not yet secured positions.
One Bidder on Sewer—The second advertisement for bids for construction of the Vaughn street and 32d street sewer system brought forth one bidder Wednesday. On first call there were no bidders for the work. Jensen & Rasmussen offer to construct the sewer for $1406.40. The bid was referred to the department of public works for its recommendation.
Want Auditorium—In connection with the plan to have a general observance in Portland of Father and Son week, November 6 to 13, inclusive, an appeal has been made to the city council to grant the free use of the Auditorium for the night of November 10 for a general meeting under the auspices of the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A., churches and civic clubs.

Dr. McElveen to Lecture—Introduction to a series of lectures on the Bible in the light of present day scholarship, Dr. W. T. McElveen will give tonight at the First Congregational church a lecture on "How Did We Get Our Bible?" He will give a description of the sources from which the Bible was compiled.
Marvin Entertains Peninsula Club—The Peninsula Improvement association, at its meeting in the Peninsula school building Tuesday night, was entertained by Don Marvin of the Portland community service bureau and those called in to help him. A. J. Carlson, vice president, who presided, made an urgent appeal for members.
Lot Transferred—A 50x100 foot parcel at the southwest corner of Sixth and College streets was transferred this week from Paul Spath to Joe Scheeland for a cash consideration of approximately $30,000. The property is improved with a small cottage, a frame building used as a retail store and a small commercial garage. Scheeland operates a market on property adjoining that purchased from Spath. The corner was formerly occupied by the old John Wilson homestead and was acquired by Spath about nine years ago.

Fire Interrupts Church Service—Fire which destroyed the west wall of kindling wood standing near the furnace of the East Side Baptist church, East 20th and Salmon streets, interrupted a church service with clouds of smoke Wednesday night. The janitor put out the blaze before any damage was done. Firemen say it started from a match or sparks from the furnace.

Students of Dentistry and Pharmacy Take Notes—North Pacific college, Portland, Or., announces opening of the annual session, September 27, 28 and 29 are devoted to registration, payment of tuition and physical examinations. September 30, permanent assignment of seats and lockers. Monday, October 2, classes begin. Degree students are required to enter at the beginning of the session.—Adv.

Complaint Raises Road's Status as Common Carrier
Salem, Sept. 21.—The Port of Alsea, the Walport Community association and H. D. Wagoner have filed with the public service commission a complaint charging that the Pacific Spruce corporation has been operating a common carrier railroad between South Bend and Walport in Lincoln county without complying with the public utilities law. The company, the complaint alleges, has failed to file its schedules of fares and freights with the commission, has torn up and abandoned a part of its lines without the consent of the commission and is giving a service that is entirely inadequate and discriminatory.
The commission explains that the company has never made any attempt to comply with the utilities act as a common carrier.

City Politics Gain in Interest at Albany
Albany, Or., Sept. 21.—City politics here began to warm up Wednesday, when petitions were circulated for the nomination of seven candidates for municipal office, all seeking reelection. They are Mayor P. A. Young, City Recorder D. H. Bodine, City Treasurer E. B. Williamson and Councilman F. C. Veak, E. F. Townsend, A. P. Howells and J. B. Barrett. Councilman G. E. Riggs and C. H. Clifford have announced that they will not seek reelection. Unless City Marshal John Catlin seeks reelection within a few days, Police Officer J. E. Lillard will file, he said.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish
(Modes of Today)
A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths: Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but to be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package. Mix fresh as wanted.

Bob Drygoods Store—Twenty-four knit ties and 30 pair of hose were stolen from the M. Klapper drygoods store, No. 589 Milwaukie street, police investigation Wednesday showed. Entrance to the store was gained by jimmying a window.
