Wedding at Luncheon

By Hazel Handy

CEATED about a luncheon table which was a veritable bridal bower were the 18 guests invited by Miss Grace Kern when she entertained this afternoon in compliment to Miss Helen Haller, a popular bride-elect. In keeping with the approaching nuptials of the honor, guest an elaborate table decoration depicting a miniature wedding was used. Through an arch of flowers from which a wedding bell was sus pended proceeded the bridal party, composed of little dolls, five inches tall. The bride doll was most fetching in a gown of ivory satin with a trimming of duchess lace and peals, her long veil being arranged with orange blossoms. Dainty bridesmaids in silver tissue gowns carrying gold flower baskets, and tiny flower girls made up the procession. The minister, bridegroom and best man were in customary black. A large bridal cake, attractive place cards and colorful flowers completed the elaborate table arrangement.

The sophomores of Reed college entertained the faculty and students at a reception and dance in the college com mons Saturday night. The receiving line consisted of President and Mrs. Scholz, Miss Elva Mervey of Portland. Abbott of Portland, president A comic dramatization of the Darwinian "survival of the fitteet" was done in pantomime with Miss Margaret Richardson of Seattle, Wash. as interpreter. The cast included Three worms, James Stone of New York, Donald Abbott of Portland, and Curtis Griffin of Portland; a robin Miss Anna Lee Smyth of Portland, a butterfly; Miss Frances Gripper of Portland; and a little birl, Miss Jean Wheeler of East White Bluffs, Wash.

Musical Activities At Reed College Attract Interest

With the cooperation of leading musicians in Portland, unusually attractive musical programs have been included in the Reed college chapel programs. Services of Wednesday and Friday have been set aside for devotion entirely to special music. On other days special music will precede the speaker whenever possible. Miss Elizabeth Gore of Medford is in charge of the programs. Several selections by the Thalia String quartet, vocal solos by Mrs. B. G. Skulasen and violin solos by Miss Helen Harper, accompanied by her sister, Miss Jean Harper, are among the events enjoyed during the last two weeks. Mrs. E. F.-Xan-ton sang several selections Wednesday, accompanied by Miss Margaret Laughton on the flute and Mr. Paul Petri on the plane. Miss Laughfon also played an attractive flute solo. Miss Alice Johnson of Reed college gave an organ recital during chapel hour Friday. Ira D. Morgan sang a solo

Monday. A group of modern plano numbers will be given by Ruth Orser Sanders Wednesday. An impromptu by Faure, "The Shbmerged Cathedral," by Debussy, and "The Fountain," by Ravel, comprise her program.

The Young Fox By Thornton W. Burgess

Unless you want the world to know,
Pray tell no secrets to a Crow.

— Reddy Fox.

A FTER the young Fox had eaten the fat trout Little Joe Otter had left for him on the bank of the Laughing Brook he made his way back home to the Old Pasture. There he lay down on his doorstep and thought things over. Having no one else to talk to, he talked to himself. "The Great World is a wonderful place," said the young Fox. "Yes, sir:

it is a wonderful place. But I find I don't know so much about it as I thought I did. I've learned a lot today. I've learned that there are certain people that it is well to keep out of the way of. It is quite clear to me that Prickly Porky the Porcupine is not to be meddled with by anybody. If Buster Bear and Yowler the Bob Cat step aside when they meet him no Fox has any business to feel around him just because he looks stupid. Hereafter I'll just keep away from Prickly Porky.

"I've learned that in the Green Forest live at least two it will be wise to keep out of the way of. They are Buster Bear and Yowler the Bob Cat. I didn't like the looks of Yowler, a bit. I'll take care not to hunt where he is hunting. "I've learned that there is food in the water as well as on land." He smacked his lips at the memory of that fat trout he had had. "It will pay to visit the Laughing Brook now and then, for it is clear to me that Little Joe Otter sometimes catches more fish than he wants and it would be a pity to have any go to waste. I don't know much about that fellow Little Joe Otter, but he looks to me like one it will be best to treat re-spectfully.

Bondurant, president of the nursery. left undone to have the little mohers, many of whom are very young, keep their babies. They establish a sense of responsibility that keeps the young nother from taking another misstep. I know of scores of cases in which the babies have proved to be the salvation of the mothers. Last year 14 girls were married from the nursery to the fathers of their babies and many girls marry men other than the fathers of their babies.

"We have three sets of twins born in the nursery this year. The father of the second pair was so delighted when he heard of their birth, that he married the girl when the twins were a few weeks old and they are living together fined just to the care of unmarried mothers. Three years ago a Portland woman gave birth to her seventh child and soon afterward lost her mind. She was sent to the asylum. The father managed to care for the six, but asked us to take the baby. We did, and last week he came for the child. Another one of our bables, who lost his father, has a tubercular mother; she has gone East for treatment and she writes us that she is improving and will soon be able to come back and take her baby. Two babies have been born in the nursery within the past few months with club feet. In both instances, had the births not taken place in our nursery, probably nothing would have been done. Treatment was at once begun on the feet and both children will be made practically normal. We are deeply indebted to the specialists of Portland for their gratuitous work of this kind.

The nursery receives state aid on the basis of $20 a month per child, those cared for at the nursery who are able to pay even a small sum, are expected to do so. The deficit is met by an allocation from the Community Chest. In commenting upon the work of the chest in connection with the nursery, Mrs. Bondurant said: "The Community Chest has been a great blessing to the nursery and the officials connected can devote all of our time and thought to the humanitarian work of the institution."

A course of Bible study will be given by the Very Rev. Vaudeville life isn't all thorns an bull rushes! Bill Bailey and Lynn Cowan, coming to the Orpheum next week as headline stars do not find it so, at least. For throughout their long association in variety the two have been accompanied by their wives, who will be in Portland with them. Mrs. Bailey is professionally known as Jean Marsh and Mrs. Cowan is Estelle Davis, who appears in the act. Mrs Bailey is not seen by the audience, but is an important part of the act. make an interesting decoration.

"My wonderful furs and my husband's winter clothes are ruined by moths." Thousands of housewives who thought the clothes they packed away this spring were free from moths are having those regrets right now. Thousands of housewives will have them next spring. Yet a few cents worth of Enoz will save all that grief.

Remember that moths are not the result of indifferent housekeeping. You find them in the best kept homes. A flying moth may-indicate that others are hidden in your nice things where they have laid their eggs. And the eggs (which are too small to see) are invariably laid in hidden places in dark closets, cracks and crevices, in the folds and seams of garments and in the filling of upholstery, in rugs and draperies.

Bear this fact (this irrefutable truth) in mind

Moths work all year round

You seldom see moths flying in the fall and winter but the eggs laid in the warm months will be hatching into worms all winter long. Your only real safety is in completely destroying not only the moths but the moth worms and the eggs as well.

ENOZ KILLS MOTHS (Will Not Stain)

Enoz is a powerful spray. It destroys moths and moth worms instantly and more important still, it destroys moth eggs. So thoroughly processed that it cannot stain or injure or effect the dyes in the most delicate fabrics. Enoz is extremely penetrating; it permeates down where the moth eggs are laid and destroys every vestige of moth life. Simple to use. Just spray it on. Enoz is the original guaranteed moth killer. It does the work so thoroughly that it has been used for many years in millions of homes and also by leading manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of garments, woolens, furs, fabrics, upholstery, feathers and rugs to protect their own valuable stocks. Pronounce it Ee-noz and be sure you get it.

Imitations should be avoided. Enoz will not stain. Drug stores, department stores and hardware stores have it.

A pint of Enoz and a sprayer $1.60 In larger quantities the cost is much less Also put up in large containers for industrial use

In Answer to Thousands of Inquiries You know that a rifle powerful enough to kill an elephant will kill a coyote. Bnoz kills moths—the toughest of household pests. Of course it kills other household insects.
