

PARENTAL DUTY IS POINTED OUT BY MAYOR BAKER

Bobbed hair, short skirts, low necked dresses and lack of parental respect have created a "jazzy condition" which is responsible for much of the waywardness among boys and girls, Mayor George L. Baker told Oregon Sunday school workers this morning at the opening session of their annual convention in the First Methodist church. Delegates were in attendance from 18 counties.

The mayor declared that the need of the day is not so much to save the boy or girl who has gone wrong as it is to keep boys and girls from going wrong. The delegates were urged to emphasize the need of parental responsibility and declared that children parents will not rear children unless the parents are strict with themselves and willing to give up pleasures for the sake of their offspring.

J. Shreve Durham of Chicago, home visitation superintendent for the International Sunday School association, and Mrs. Durham arrived this morning and will remain for two days of the convention. At the noon luncheon of the state executive committee, Durham urged extension of Sunday school work into every district where there are enough children to make up a day school. Several hundred such districts are now declared to be without Sunday schools.

Durham's program begins with institute sessions at 7:30 o'clock. At 8:15 the Jennings Lodge orchestra will give a concert, after which Durham will give the main evening address. Thursday morning session from 9 to 11 o'clock will be devoted to institute classes. The last hour before noon will be given to denominational leaders in Oregon for special addresses.

The afternoon program, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, includes an address on the "Near East Situation," an address on "The Changing World Order" by Dr. Norman K. Tilly, a presentation of the various community agencies whose purpose is religious education, a meeting for men addressed by Chief of Police Jenkins and a meeting for women addressed by Mayor Baker.

At 6 p. m. banquets will be given by the children's division, young people's division and adult division.

The pledges are: Florence Campbell, Ann Roberts, Maxine Walkup, Frances Cornell, Catherine Henderson, Eleanor Holman and Helen Weber, all of Portland; Katherine De Sisti, Baker; Iris Rice, Roseburg; Margaret Morrison, Hood River; Frances Pierce, Eugene; Madeline Connor, Vancouver, Wash.; Lucinda Dell, Athens.

DR. J. H. MINTHORN DIES AT HOSPITAL

Salem and the citizens there gave a 400-acre tract at Chemawa for the school.

BECOMES COLLEGE HEAD
"Dr. Minthorn made all the arrangements, but he did not take charge of the school again. Instead he accepted appointment as the first president of Pacific college, then Pacific academy at Newberg."

"I was at Newberg at the time and a member of the college board. About this time, Dr. and Mrs. Minthorn having lost their young son, they received word of the death of Dr. Minthorn's sister, Hulda, at Long Branch, Iowa. Her husband had died previously and they left one son, Herbert Hoover-Bert."

"Thinking that Bert would take the place of his own boy, Dr. Minthorn went for the lad and put him to school in Pacific college. He was then 13 or 14 years old.

"About this time the doctor and I became interested in the prune industry, and he resigned as president of the college. We went to Salem and there organized the Oregon Land company, which developed thousands of acres of prunes in the Willamette valley. Hoover came along with us and was in our office at Salem for three years. Then the doctor had him go to Stanford university, from which he later graduated.

"We left Salem in about 1900, going to Hot Lake, where the present great sanitarium stands. We built the first hotel there and handled some 1500 patients. We sold out to Walter Pierce and other men in the locality.

MANY ALASKA TRIPS
"Since 1900, Dr. Minthorn has made frequent trips to Alaska as physician at Duncan's station, sometimes staying for years and sometimes only a few months. After the first trip, he returned to Oregon and located at Newberg and built the first bathhouse and sanitarium. Newberg has always remained his home. Everyone there knows him.

"His first wife died while on his way back from one of his Alaskan trips and he later married Matilda Atkinson, a missionary worker. That was four years ago."

Through all of his business enterprises, Dr. Minthorn retained his zealous missionary spirit. While at Newport, he conducted a Bible class, and took of some 150 business men and laborers gathered in a little tent back of the Presbyterian church at the coast town, listening to the doctor's quiet, forceful talk.

Besides the widow, Dr. Minthorn is survived by two daughters, Gertrude Minthorn, a missionary in India, and Mrs. Mary Strench, whose husband is in the government service at Ketchikan, Alaska. The latter reached Portland to be with her father at the last.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 11 a. m. at the First Friends church, East 39th and Main streets. The body will be taken at once to Newberg for final services at 2:30 o'clock.

ORDINANCE WOULD SAVE CITY FROM EXTRA EXPENSE

An ordinance introduced by Commissioner Mann, which was adopted by the city council today, will protect the city funds from expense in relocating public utility facilities when streets are vacated and other street areas opened in their stead.

The ordinance provides that when the council has petitioned to vacate streets in which the water mains, gas mains, steam heating mains, conduits, sewer mains or laterals, poles, wires or other utility facilities, the petitioners must file a surety bond to insure removal within 30 days after the streets are vacated of all such utility facilities to locations designated by the city engineer.

HOSPITAL PERMIT REFERRED to City Attorney Grant

An application from the Klock Sanitarium company for a permit to maintain a sanitarium at Tillamook and East 15th streets, before the city council today, raised a protest from residents in the district. It also developed that the hospital may not be required to make any application at all. The question was referred to the city attorney.

The hospital has been in operation for eight years, although not under one management, and for some time it was operated as the Gunderson Yost nursing hospital, before the ordinance required that hospitals take out permits. Commissioner Barbur maintained that the ordinance is not retroactive, and that although the permit recently passed into new ownership, its continuous operation would exempt it from asking for a permit.

LAURELHURST ASSESSMENT
HALT, PENDING AGREEMENT
Although the entire assessment for the parcel owned by Laurelhurst, by the city has been spread on the assessment rolls by City Auditor Funk, sending out of notices has been held up because of the failure of the Laurelhurst company to file an agreement to assume $4500 of the purchase price of $10,500.

The verbal agreement was that the company should assume this amount and that $600 should be assessed to the properties within the district, with the exception of $250 to be paid by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company for its right of way through the block. But as the company handling the Laurelhurst real estate has failed to come through with a written agreement on this line, and the assessment roll will not be approved by the city council until such action is taken.

CITY HALL BRIEFS
The Associated Oil company is asking the city council for a permit to erect and maintain a service station on East 39th street, between East Washington and East Stark streets.

The Northwest Stove Works contemplates making extensive changes in its plant on East Sixth street between East Madison street and Hawthorne avenue, and has applied to the city council for a permit to alter and maintain a one-story building for a foundry and moulding room.

Commissioner Barbur recommends the granting of the application of the Kenwood Land company for a permit to maintain a wood yard and erect buildings therewith on Bryant and Argyle streets, between Brandon street and Denver avenue.

An ordinance will go before the city council Wednesday providing for the change of grade in Atlantic street at certain points between Bryant and Lombard streets.

The city council at its next session will instruct the city purchasing agent to advertise for proposals to furnish wood and coal for all city bureaus.

Formal action will be taken by the city council Wednesday accepting deeds to properties necessary for the widening of East Harrison street and Forest street.

City Treasurer Adams has issued a call for proposals for the redemption of municipal improvement bonds numbered consecutively 30111 to 30285, inclusive. These are called for redemption November 1, this being the semi-annual coupon period.

The municipal civil service board has called the following examinations: For dock watchman, labor service, and for motor bus inspectors. Monday, October 23, for topographical draftsman, engineering service, Tuesday, October 24; for bridge carpenter, Wednesday, October 25; for discharge from the army or navy when filing applications for examination.

The former city of St. Johns Improvement bonds, numbered 555 to 661, inclusive, are to be paid by City Treasurer Adams November 1, according to a call just issued for their presentation for redemption.

The city council at its session October 13 will receive bids for construction of a sewer in the alley in block 1, Walnut Park, from Emerson street to Killingsworth avenue.

APPLE CROP TO COME THIS WAY

tors at his rate of about 300 per day when the normal deliveries should be almost 1200 daily.

"Special trains of box cars are being made up for the fruit. One box car special is being filled at Hood River and orders have been placed for two special trains next week. We do not have the cars now for next week's movement, but we do not anticipate trouble in getting the necessary equipment. The agent at Hood River seems to have the situation all in hand as possible under present conditions and we can only hope for a breakthrough of the congestion in the East."

SHORTAGE OF REFRIGERATOR CARS MENACES APPLE CROP

Hood River, Or., Oct. 11.—Not only are refrigerator cars not available to handle apple shipments from this point, but it now develops that there is a serious shortage of box cars. Prospects for the next week are anything but encouraging to shippers of fruit.

So serious is the situation today that the Apple Growers association, has decided to immediately investigate the full possibilities of shipping fruit by the water route from Hood River down the Columbia to Portland and from Portland on seagoing vessels to the Atlantic coast. Something of this nature will have to be done in order to keep the fruit moving, for although cold storage space is available there is not sufficient space to hold anything but a percentage of the crop this year.

It is understood that arrangements will be made with the Harkins transportation company for facilities to carry part of the crop by river boats or barges down the Columbia. Within the next three weeks it is probable that less than 60 box cars will be available to shippers here.

Large Number Sign Petition for Recall

Eugene, Oct. 11.—Between 1200 and 1400 names had been secured on petitions for the recall of County Commissioner Emmett Sharp, Tuesday, according to circulators. Twenty-three hundred names are needed. Commissioner Sharp has declared he will answer the recallers as soon as specific charges are made.

REGULATION FOR STILLS

Indianapolis, Oct. 11.—All stills made in fireproof buildings and outside the "mile square"—the city's commercial district—Mayor Lewis Shank issued this order today in line with the city's promotion of fire prevention week. The mayor's move follows a recommendation from Fire Chief John J.'Brien that all stills are "fire hazards."

Spokane Company Attempts to Block Cement Shipments

Portland is still in the midst of a cement "famine" and the situation was further complicated today when the city council was notified by officials of the Oregon Portland Cement company that it has been notified of an attempt to kill off the emergency tariff that would permit shipment of cement by rail from other fields.

The Lehigh Portland Cement company of Spokane, which originally made objection to an emergency tariff for cement on one day's notice, now has filed protest with the interstate commerce commission against the tariff's going into effect October 15, on the ground that it cannot procure cars.

Under the emergency rate it would be possible for Utah concerns, which have a surplus of more than 200,000 barrels of cement, to lay down the product in Portland at a price to the consumer not more than 25 cents above the price of the local product, the council was told.

Representatives of the Oregon Cement company said they are doing their utmost to relieve the situation, and are bringing in 27,000 barrels of Riverside cement by water.
