Fresh eggs remain scarce and very firfn. In fact, few sellers have any fresh eggs what-ever to offer and quotations are on a nominal basis so far as they are concerned. While the outlet has been unusually favorable, total heldings continue far in encess of a year ago.

Those desiring special information regarding any market should write the Commercial Ed-itor, Oregon Journal, inclosing stamp for reply.

Cattle market in general showed not enough of the real toppers to really establish a mar-ket, but the improved tone of buying in ordi-nary to good stuff could not be mistaken. This was probably due more to the fact that arrivals continue to decrease and that killers were stocking up to their full capacity in an-ticipatiton of a general betterment in the price situation. new scale. They are even less sure today. The coal strike, the rail strike and the freight congection which will follow and is still a factor have prevented industrial operation on the scale justified by plant orders, and the real conclusive test of the present wage scale has not been made. Operations at the mines and steel mills, however, are increasing just as rapidly as railroad facilities will permit.

Prevailing pessimism cannot forever continue in the cattle alleys, for holdings are decreasing fast and it takes a long time to replenish them. One load of extra good hogs sold late in the options. Flour market is quiet, but has a very firm. undertone with no early price change indi-
