

ARMISTICE DAY BRINGS ARREST OF 120 YOUTHS

Armistice day, as celebrated by the youthful and over-enthusiastic population of the city, caused the police department much grief Saturday night and resulted in the arrest of 120 persons for various infractions of city ordinances.

Most of the unfortunate funmakers who landed behind the bars of the city jail were guilty of imbibing too freely of intoxicating liquor, but many were caught fighting and causing disturbances. Several were taken to the drive automobiles while under the influence of liquor and were quickly arrested.

The first trouble began shortly after 6 o'clock, when several unruly youths played havoc with an arresting officer in the north end. Reinforcements were sent to the trouble spot and the troublemakers taken to jail.

No sooner had the patrol wagon parked at the station than a call was sent in from Matt Davis' home, No. 253 Everett street. A squad of police hurried there and found that Gerald Craig, Edward Marland and Herbert Smith, laborers, were attempting to force their way into the place when they had been denied entrance. They were arrested for disorderly conduct.

POLICE KEPT BUSY
From that time on the patrol was kept busy answering calls to all parts of the city.

At midnight Sergeant Sherwood attempted to arrest a man at 400 Washington streets, but was prevented by a crowd of young rowdies. Sherwood then called for help with the result that 40 youths were sent to the station for disorderly conduct.

Clifford Harlow, a druggist, was using Everett street for a speedway when police arrested him, charging him with driving while drunk. Harlow, who stopped at Fourth street, to take a drink from a bottle, had kept pedestrians running in safety for several blocks, police said.

Oak street in front of the police station is no place to drive when a person has been drinking moonshine whiskey. George H. Burbott, age 21, learned when he was arrested. Morris O'Neil, Clarence Cassey and Louis Emrick, who were with him, were held on charges of intoxication.

POOL HALL RAIDED
The morals squad entered a pool hall at No. 113 1/2 Sixth street late in the evening and arrested Arthur Manning and Lawrence Johnson, charged with having liquor in their possession. Harold Jenkinson, a friend of the couple, tried to "fix things" by offering the four arresting officers a $5 bribe. He was held on an attempted bribery charge.

Frank Leahy, 22-year-old farmer, and Patrolman White had an argument at Second and Madison streets over the advisability of Leahy driving his automobile. White believed that the man was in no condition to drive and attempted to dissuade him. Leahy grew angry and began to fight. He was arrested, charged with driving while intoxicated.

Clyde Wiest was another who learned that gasoline and whisky are a poor mixture. He was found in his machine at West Park and was arrested. Although there was no direct attempt made by police to prevent the use of any noise-making devices, the motorists will appear in court today to tell why they let their mufflers roar their joy Saturday.

Six automobiles were reported stolen during the celebration, but all were recovered.

Gov. Miller and Victorious Rival 'Bury Hatchet'

(By United News.)
Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 12.—One week ago Governor Nathan Miller of New York and Governor Elect Al Smith were at the climax of a bitter election campaign in which each told the public what a terrible menace the other would be in the governor's chair at Albany.

But Miller and Smith put in a chatty Sunday together at the Seaside Golf club near here. After a luncheon party the governor and his victorious rival, rival, sat on the porch of the clubhouse and discussed the election in such a way as to dress the children these days.

CAR SHORTAGES GROWING WORSE

Car shortage paralysis is steadily creeping over industry of the Northwest and shippers are facing the most serious transportation situation in years.

During the past 10 days the filling of car orders by the three major roads serving this territory has decreased approximately 25 per cent. The average number of orders filled last week was about 23 per cent.

Relief is not yet in sight, according to car service officials, who predicted that the available supply would shrink to an even lower percentage this week.

Since railroad officials of Western lines and public service bodies of the West have been doing everything in their power to obtain release of Western owned cars from Eastern lines, shippers have taken the situation with little complaint and have been making the best of the predicament, according to rail heads.

The Southern Pacific reported that it filled approximately 25 per cent of its orders last week. The Southern Pacific reported the filling of 30 per cent and the S. P. & S., 22 per cent.

The Southern Pacific reported that most of the perishable goods are being handled and that the lumber mills are the worst sufferers. Officials reported that a 30 per cent filling of orders practically amounted to no cars, as practically all the available equipment is needed in emergency movements.

The consensus of opinion among rail officials was that relief can only be obtained through the issuance of a car movement order by the interstate commerce commission, so that Western lines can obtain their own equipment now lying idle on Eastern lines.

Bank of Sherwood Closed; Depositors' Loss Perhaps Small

Conditions described by Frank C. Bramwell, state superintendent of banks, as "bad," resulted today in the closing of the Bank of Sherwood, but with a prospect of early reorganization and probable small loss to depositors.

Consideration of the bank's plight was taken up by other Washington county bankers Sunday night and, after discussions lasting until after midnight, decision was reached on tentative reorganization plan whereby deposits are to be assumed on a percentage basis.

"We have been watching the bank for more than a year," Bramwell said today, "and have been hoping that Providence might intervene in some way to prevent its final dissolution."

"It is proposed to reorganize the bank and continue its operation, with the assets of the bank being sold to pay the Bank of Sherwood was organized in 1906. It is capitalized at $25,000 and has a surplus of $6500. Bramwell stated that C. I. Collins, president, and Earl Reiser, cashier, had turned over property to the state bank department which, with the surplus and 100 per cent assumption on the part of the very nearly absorb outstanding bad loans.

POLICE BUREAU'S DOCK STRIKE FUND SOON EXHAUSTED

Emergency funds for policing the waterfront during the longshoremen's strike will be entirely exhausted by November 17, Mayor Baker told the tax conservation and supervision commission today when he appeared before them to ask for advice in finding some way to continue this protection to the shipping interests.

"The emergency is a serious one," said the mayor. "An ugly group of determined men are waiting and watching for an opportunity to burst upon the waterfront, and from present indications there is danger of actual violence unless this protection is continued."

The commission took the matter under consideration before offering any suggestion. Mayor Baker also reiterated former accusations against train crews who are permitting I. W. W. to ride into the city and who are accepting cards as "tickets" to ride the freights.

The commission was engaged most of the day in a detailed consideration of the items contained in the 1923 budget of the police bureau. A careful examination of the organization of the work in the bureau, the division and the men at work, and a study of the various functions of detective work consumed the morning session. Chief Jenkins was present to answer the questions of the commissioners, which varied from "What would you do if I were held up at East 32d and Sandy?" to "Do burglars usually wear gloves?"

Mayor Baker, in answering the first question, told the curious commissioner the entire department and a part of the bureau of public works and a couple of fire engines would be sent out at once.

TWO COMMISSIONERS FAVOR LOCAL BRIDGE ENGINEERS

After the reading of a letter today from the Oregon chapter of the American Association of Engineers recommending the use of local bridge engineers in the construction of the new bridges across the Willamette, the commissioners, Rudson and Hoyt expressed themselves as favoring the plan. Commissioner Holman was not present, but it is understood he doubts that competent engineers can be found here to carry out this work. The letter suggests a consulting engineer of national reputation be commissioned to examine the final plans and make a report before the work is begun. A letter was placed on file to await final action by the entire commission.

BRITISH CITIZENS ARE BEATEN UP BY KEMALISTS

Athens, Nov. 12.—(U. P.)—Rafet Pasha, governor of Constantinople, has been arrested by British soldiers, according to an unconfirmed dispatch from Greek sources today.

London, Nov. 12.—(U. S. N. S.)—Clashes in which British citizens were beaten up by Turks were reported from Constantinople today. General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander in chief at Constantinople, has ordered the withdrawal of the disorderly Kemal forces that caused the trouble.

The situation at Constantinople is serious, and the withdrawal of the disorderly Kemal forces that caused the trouble. The situation at Constantinople is serious, and the withdrawal of the disorderly Kemal forces that caused the trouble.

Although the allied high commissioners have drawn up a proclamation of martial law, it had not been put into effect at latest reports.

—Owing to the cutting of the Near East cable and the censorship, many conflicting reports are being received from the Near East. One was that Rafet Pasha, Nationalist envoy at Constantinople, had refused to recognize the allied administration and was converting the situation into a state of anarchy.

General Harrington has refused to recognize the Turkish Nationalist government of Chanak, appointed by the Turkish government. One of his restrictions placed upon the Turks at the time of the war. Reports, however, said the situation in Turkey was more favorable.

The Near East peace conference was to have opened today at Lausanne, Switzerland, and the Turkish envoys already have arrived there. Owing to the dangerous new situation which has developed in the Near East, the allies have agreed that the parley should be continued until next Monday and perhaps longer.

FARLEY TO OPEN NOV. 20

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The Lausanne conference provided for in the Turkish armistice agreement is to be opened at Constantinople and other measures for maintaining peace in the Near East, will open November 20, it is stated authoritatively.

The postponement of the conference at the request of Great Britain is regarded in French official circles as a distinct French concession, which should be fully recognized by Premier Bonar Law. It is in the hope and expectation here that Foreign Minister Curzon and Premier Mussolini, will seize the opportunity afforded by the delay to come to Paris to confer with Premier Poincare so that a Franco-British-Italian united front may be agreed upon before the conference.

It is felt here that such a conference should probably will be held during the coming week. Meanwhile France is bringing pressure upon Benet Pasha, Kemal's foreign minister, who is now en route to Lausanne to continue to Paris for a conference with Poincare and Curzon. Confidential afternoon newspapers, however, continue a tone of utmost pessimism over the Near East situation.

New Poison Victim Found in Feminine Bluebeard Mystery

Chicago, Nov. 12.—(U. P.)—A new victim of arsenic poisoning was discovered today by police as they investigated the activities of Mrs. Tillie Kulmek and Mrs. Nellie Strumer, held in connection with the deaths of their husbands.

The latest victim was discovered in a Chicago hospital. He lived in the neighborhood in which the two alleged women "Bluebeards" resided. Authorities believed the new evidence strengthened their theory that a gigantic poison ring conspiracy existed among wives in that section.

The women, they contend, obtained husbands through matrimonial bureaus and had their lives insured and then killed them through slow, arsenic poisoning.

Three of the 12 bodies to be exhumed have already shown traces of arsenic poisoning. Three others are now being tested by chemists and the other six will be taken from the ground this week. All 12 were closely connected with the two women now held and their deaths were under mysterious circumstances.
