

HERRIN MASSACRE JURY SELECTION MAKES PROGRESS

Marion, Ill., Nov. 14.—(U. P.)—William county is willing to pass judgment on the five union men indicted for the murder of one strikebreaker during the Herrin massacre. A jury was in sight as the fourth day of the trial opened today.

Three farmers were tentatively accepted by both sides. Prospects were that a jury composed of about six farmers and six former miners would be finally obtained, although the state was bent on obtaining an all-farmer jury at the opening of the trial.

SELECTION DIFFICULT
Four days of examination of veniremen, however, has convinced the prosecutors that it will be impossible to obtain 12 farmers who have in no way been connected with mining. The majority of the farmers are union members and work in the mines during the dull season.

The state has used six of its peremptory challenges while the miners have used only one. The defense is accepting both farmers and miners alike. The prospective jurors are closely guarded and both sides make exhaustive inquiries into their past life before finally agreeing to allow them to go into the panel.

DEPUTIES ON GUARD
The three farmers for the first panel, wearing rough woolen shirts, their best Sunday suits, and heavy shoes, stamped into the big courtroom smiling. Two deputies were constantly at their sides.

A large group of union friends of the five prisoners were in court today. They had laid off work to attend the day's session. The accused men and their friends spent most of the time discussing the prospective jurors. There will be no great crowd of spectators until the opening statements were made.

Suspect to Fight Burglary Charge

William A. Anderson, 26, wanted in Los Angeles county, California, on a charge of burglary, was arrested Monday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, 30 East Sixth street. Anderson, who gave his occupation as a rivet heater, refused to talk and stated he would fight extradition.

Harding to Go Back To Soil When He Is Done, Says Friend

(By United News.)
San Francisco, Nov. 14.—When President Harding leaves the White House he will go "back to the soil" and operate a 300-acre model farm near Marion, Ohio, according to Eugene H. Grubb, internationally known agricultural expert.

Grubb declared he had had a long talk with President Harding a short time ago in Washington and that Mr. Harding told him that he was negotiating for a 300-acre farm near Marion.

President Harding is keenly interested in agriculture and told me his ancestors were farmers and that he himself intended to go "back to the land" when he leaves the White House. He plans to make his farm a model establishment and in operating it, he looks forward to the keenest enjoyment of his life in fulfilling an ambition he has always had.

Recall of Cross Loses by 694 Votes; Constables Chosen

Oregon City, Nov. 14.—Complete figures on the recall of County Judge H. E. Cross were tabulated yesterday by County Clerk Fred A. Miller. The completion of the abstract of votes was held up by failure of Oregon City precinct 10 to turn in figures. The recall, the figures show, lost by 694 votes, the ballot being: Yes, 4915; no, 5564.

The list of constables and justices of the peace was also completed, marking the final tabulations on the general election. Two justices were named, W. R. Telford at Boring and Albert Erickson at Beaver Creek. The constables are:

Wilsonville, No. 1, A. W. Ward; Oswego, No. 2, Austin McVey; Milwaukie, No. 3, F. E. Lowe; Oregon City, No. 4, Ed Fortune; Oak Grove, No. 5, J. Julian; Canby, No. 6, August Rothenberg; Barlow, No. 7, C. F. Ziegler; Molalla, No. 8, Mack Hattenhauser; Beaver Creek, No. 9, App Jones; Clifton, No. 10, John Shober; Carver, No. 11, L. H. Snyder; Sandy, No. 12, R. C. Face; Estacada, No. 13, A. G. Ames; Needy, No. 15, E. K. White.

WILLIAM A. LOGUE
Vancouver, Wash., Nov. 14.—The funeral of William A. Logue was held at the Masonic hall in Yaocot this afternoon. Rev. Mr. Roosevelt officiating, with Knapp in charge. The Masons conducted the rites at the grave.

'WE WENT TOO FAST,' WARNS NIKOLAI LENIN

Special Cable to The Journal and Chicago Daily News
(Copyright, 1922)

Moscow, Nov. 14.—"We went too fast," said Nikolai Lenin in his keenly expected speech before the communist international Monday. He spoke for more than an hour in justification of the new economic policy and Russia's departure from the first communist decrees. His tone was quiet and his style free from "purple patches" or cheap appeals of any kind. It was the sort of statement the president of a great undertaking might make at an annual meeting of the shareholders.

Russia, he said, had adopted state capitalism because the small bourgeoisie was predominant in numbers. State capitalism was most serviceable for Russian conditions, and through state capitalism they could work their way to socialism.

ADOPT NEW POLICY
"It is not difficult," he said "to prepare a program for attaining power. Your enemies sometimes do many things that give you the victory. It is a much harder task to prepare a program that will enable you to build up a socialistic state when power is attained. In February, 1921, the situation was disastrous. The masses of peasants, and even the town proletariat were dissatisfied. After attaining power we went too far. The masses felt that we launched our transformation too fast without sufficient forces at our disposal, and so we decided unanimously that a new economic policy should be adopted and applied."

Now, a little over a year and a half after they could review the results. He claimed that the success of the new policy had helped to stabilize the value of the rouble.

PEASANTS SATISFIED
There were, he said more than a quadrillion of roubles now in circulation. They could not comprehend this fantastic figure, but they could reduce it by cutting off the nothings at the end. Some had already been cut off, and more might be. They kept the rouble stable for three months last year, and for five months this year.

They Must Try This Case of Mine, Says Wm. Allen White

(By United News)
Emporia, Kan., Nov. 14.—William Allen White, noted Kansas editor, will be brought to trial on charges of displaying a contraband placard, sympathizing with striking railroad shopmen, if he himself has anything to say about it.

"When rumors were circulated Monday that the case was likely to be dropped, White, in characteristic manner, issued a statement:

"Governor Allen is too good a sport to quit this case. I don't mind arrest. I don't mind conviction. I don't mind even going to jail to prove to the people of Kansas what kind of a law they are carrying on their books. But I do not like to rot under suspicion of faking up a case that means nothing and gets nowhere just for a little notoriety."

White's case is scheduled for November 22, before Judge Harris of the Lyon county district court, but Attorney General Richard Hopkins has virtually washed his hands of it. In a letter to Roland Boynton, county attorney of Lyon county, Hopkins declared that if anything was done in the White case by the attorney general's office it would be done at the instance and under the orders of Governor Allen.

The peasants, formerly hostile, were now economically satisfied. "The peasants were against us a year ago," continued Lenin. "There was such unrest among them that we were in danger of losing the revolution, but the new economic policy won the peasants for us."

"The small industries had been freed and had made great advances, but the situation as to the large industries was very hard. That was the government's greatest problem. To put the large factories and big industries on a firm basis meant the expenditure of 100,000,000 gold roubles ($30,000,000). They did not have that much money, but they had about 20,000,000 gold roubles ($10,000,000) which they had saved and were devoting to this purpose."

"Building up the industry of the country is a most important thing for the nation. If we do not succeed we will cease to be a civilized people and be doomed to destruction. We must save," cried Lenin, with a flash of his old energy and enthusiasm. "Spare, spare. Spare, economize, economize, economize. We must not do anything which is not absolutely necessary. There must even be economy in expenditures for education."

Germans have invented a baby carriage, having a removable body which can be used as a crib.

Lodge About Holding Even Break in Count

(By United News)
Boston, Nov. 14.—Senator Lodge appeared to be holding his own in Monday's recount of votes in the Massachusetts senatorial race with Col. William A. Gaston. The check in Boston gave Lodge a net gain of 200 in thirty-eight precincts, while Gaston gained 370 votes outside of Boston.

FOLLY TOUR SCHEDULED
Eugene, Nov. 14.—The Lane county fall poultry tour will be held Wednesday. Farmers in the southern part of the county will be visited. George I. Gilmour, poultry project leader for Lane, will have charge. Experts from O. A. C. are to give talks.

U. S. WINS BIG SUIT
Washington, Nov. 14.—(U. S. S.)—The Duesenberg Motor corporation lost in the supreme court of the United States today its suit for damages under war time contracts. Claims aggregating about $1,400,000 against the United States for breach of contract, by delaying the Duesenberg Motor corporation in its manufacture of motor engines, prevented it from making its profits and subjecting it to commercial losses.

just ask for
Bluhill
Cheese

A few of the models at $89.75

Lipman Wolfe & Co.

"Merchandise of Merit Only"

Beginning Tomorrow Morning in the Salons Devoted to Finer Garment Fashions—

A Spectacular COAT SALE

A Magnificent Collection of New Paris-Inspired, Fur-Adorned, Semi-Exclusive Models

$89.75

—Probably nowhere else on the Pacific coast are such elaborately styled coats available at a price so much below actual value. Every garment in the group was specially purchased solely for participation in this remarkable event. Everyone of the coats hand-tailored, every one with such a luxurious appearance its greater value is immediately to be appreciated. Such fabrics as

The Beautiful Lustrosa
The Exquisite Ormondale

The Gorgeous Veldyne
The Elegant Fashona

—The trimmings beaver fur, monkey fur, platinum wolf, squirrel fur, taupe wolf, black fox, genuine caracul. All of the coats fur-collared—some fur-cuffed as well.

See the Windows—See the Pictures

On the Third Floor—Lipman, Wolfe & Co.

Blistered Satin Jacquettes and Beaded Blouses in a Sale—$5

The Whole Collection at About Present Wholesale Cost

—Beautiful jacquettes and overblouses that embody the newest of French ideas in embroidery and beading. Quite the most unusual and novel blouses shown this season and really phenomenal values at tomorrow's sale price—$5. Included also are crepe de chine overblouses and hip blouses in beaded and embroidered effects. Choice of black, navy blue, bobolink, muffin, chinese green and barberry. Some of the blouses here sketched.

On the Third Floor—Lipman, Wolfe & Co.

The 1st Rule for making BETTER COFFEE

—stresses the importance of freshness. Vacuum packing insures the freshness and retains the full flavor and strength of Golden West Coffee.

Just Right

MILLER AND TRACEY

Growth of an Idea

This establishment with its superior facilities and equipment for serving all alike is a testimony to the idea that distinctive funerals can be priced within reach of all.

Complete Funerals $75 and up

Independent Funeral Directors (Non-Sectarian)
Washington St., Bet. 20th and 21st
Bdwy. 2081

Remember Your Friends with Engraved Personal Cards This Christmas

—An inexpensive gift, but one with the personal touch that "makes all the difference in the world". Place your order now so that you'll be "ahead of the rush".

On the First Floor

Guaranteed Wrist Watches Special $16.45

—14-karat white gold watches—guaranteed watches—in styles that make an instant appeal. They are being selected for gifts. They've imported 15-jewel movements.

On the First Floor

Irish Linen Tablecloths 68x68 Inch Size—About Wholesale Cost at $4.59

—Pure linen cloths and napkins imported from Ireland and landed in the United States before the new tariff went into effect. Napkins to match specially priced $5.29 doz.

On the Second Floor

A Beauty Spot Is the Art Needlework Section

—And especially does it appeal to the gift makers just now—for here are hundreds of things to be made up, mostly to be embroidered—and daily instruction in needlework.

On the Fourth Floor

Miss Crandal of New York at Lipman, Wolfe's This Week Demonstrating Stylish Stout Corsets

—Miss Crandal is well known to the women of Portland who for the past several seasons have profited by her expert advice. She is an authority on the proper corseting of the figure and her visits are eagerly awaited.

—All women are invited to bring their corset problems to Miss Crandal, who will give them the benefit of her experience in selecting Stylish Stout corsets that meet their figure requirements.

Corset Section—On the Fourth Floor—Lipman, Wolfe & Co.