

THROWS LIQUOR OUT OF WINDOW AND IS ARRESTED

When somebody else brings a suitcase of liquor into your rooming house, and you throw suitcase and contents out of a window as soon as you discover it there, can you be charged with violating the prohibition law?

O'Hara, Astoria rooming house proprietor, says no. Prohibition Agent Christensen of Astoria says yes. O'Hara was brought to Portland Tuesday by Deputy United States Marshal Reed and lodged in the county jail pending the verdict of the federal grand jury.

complaint, charging O'Hara with possession of liquor. The legal question for the court to decide is whether O'Hara actually had possession of the liquor while carrying it down the hall to the window.

Tubercular Cases To Be Treated by U. S. Vets' Bureau

The city council at an adjourned session Monday afternoon passed an ordinance granting the United States Veterans' bureau permission to treat tubercular patients in the Hahnemann hospital, at East Second and Multnomah streets, now held under lease by the government.

Murphy Appeals From Conviction In Bootleg Case

Dr. Joseph Murphy, who was sentenced seven months ago to six months in jail by Federal Judge R. S. Bean after he was found guilty of bootlegging, perfected his appeal to the circuit court of appeals Monday.

The sentence, which is the maximum under the law, was imposed April 12, after Judge Bean remarked: "There is no question of the defendant's guilt. He is not only guilty of violating the prohibition act, but also of defrauding his victims."

According to the testimony given by the government's star witness, Leonard C. Torgerson, Dr. Murphy sold him a bottle of denatured alcohol, mixed with caramel coloring and glycerine, for $5.50, and represented it to be "Old Peblisford" whiskey.

James Spencer, paroled convict, was found guilty of impersonating a Federal prohibition agent by a jury Tuesday and was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Federal Judge Bean.

The court sentenced Spencer even though the act was committed prior to his recent trial and parole by the state court. Spencer was convicted in the circuit court of putting out bad checks. His federal conviction was for having checks cashed and securing credit at several stores under the representation that he was a government agent.

BUNGALOW APARTMENTS
W. H. Ross and N. C. Soule filed with the city building bureau Tuesday plans for a bungalow-type two-story apartment house at a location on North 25th street, between Raleigh and Savier streets to cost approximately $12,000. It will have 20 apartments with a court entrance from which occupants of the ground floor may have entrance to their apartments through individual outside doors.
