and citing other alleged discrepancies, F. C. Bartholomew yesterday filed suit

The official count showed the two tied for the position, Ely won by lot and was duly declared elected. Bartholomew claims that two votes which were cast for Ely by George Jack and Clara Nelson were illegal because the voters had not been in the city for the statutory period. He maintains also that the judges refused to allow Bertis Rhodes and Joseph R. Einerson to wote, and that these two would have cast ballots for him.

cast ballots for him.

It is also alleged in the petition that the name of Nellie Hayman appears on the lists as having voted and that she was not given a city ballot and did not vote on the city election.

Bartholomew also charges that, although he was duly nominated, he was not notified by the recorder to appear and certify, and that his name did not appear on the ballot. He charges further that ally has not filed his certificate of expenses as required under the corrupt practice act.
