But, Politics Aside, Mrs. Emrich Says That Orphan Children of Near East in Need of Help

"If I could explain the Near East. I could explain God," declared Mrs. Jeannette Emrich, recently from Constantinople, in addressing the Oregon Civic League at the Benson Saturday afternoon.

"I looked at the ruins there and said, 'Christ crucified again.' I observed the trickery, deception and cruelty of the statesmanship and I said, 'They are weaving His shroud.'"

On the fateful first of September last, there was but one nation in Europe that gave sign of a single spark of idealism, said Mrs. Emrich. That was England.

FRANCE CONDEMNED

"Because England stood at the Dardanelles, I believe Europe was saved. I don't believe that England was thinking of Mesopotamia and oil wells, but of endangered lives that must be saved," she explained.

"But France sold her soul, bidding for a place in the new empire that it now seems includes Russia, Turkey and Germany. I don't see how a nation could descend lower than France descended when Turkey and France, hand in hand, in Paris a short time ago, dedicated a huge mosque to the worship of Mahomet."

Mrs. Emrich said that people might say they disliked Armenians or Greeks, they might say that they liked the Turks, but regardless of personal likes or dislikes, no one with a heart could reject the massed, orphaned childhood of the Near East. The spectacle of thousands and thousands of little children, afflicted with all the diseases born of starvation and dirt, is one that must move the hardest heart, she declared.

MANY NATIONS ARE REPRESENTED

Among the 65 member of the Oregon Cosmopolitan club, comprising students banded together on the University of Oregon campus to promote friendship among those far from home, a score or more of nations are represented. The picture above includes students from the United States, Canada, China, Germany, England, France, Russia, Austria, Poland, Korea, Palestine, New Zealand, Philippines, India, Persia, Alaska, American Indian, and Egypt. Officers shown in the front line are, left to right—Henry Derksen (Persia), member of the executive council; Daisie Leffler (United States), secretary; C. S. Phi (Korea), president; Josephine Evans (England), treasurer; Lester Turnbaugh (England), vice president; Ida Flanders (United States), social chairman; Dr. Warren D. Smith (United States), faculty advisor.

The continuance of the Near East emergency, she added, is due to the systematic extermination of Christian minorities by the Turk. Since 1914 2,000,000 Armenians and 1,000,000 Greeks have fallen under the Turkish scimitar, according to her figures.

The 100,000 orphans whom America has been supporting for several years are regarded as the permanent work. About 95 per cent of these

At the annual election of officers which followed the regular program members of the Oregon Civic League selected the following to direct league affairs next year: President, A. C. Nevill, re-elected; directors, Mrs. G. L. Buland, Mrs. C. B. Cady, Arthur M. Churchill, Miss Henrietta Fanning, Miss Julia Spooner and Charles A. Rice. The league has no vice president and the executive board selects the secretary,
