

IOWA SOLON, IN MAIDEN SPEECH, FLAYS SUBSIDY

(By United News)
 Washington, Dec. 12.—Senator Smith Brookhart of Iowa has made his maiden speech in the senate—a speech representing the latest big-calibered shell from the guns of the senate Progressives now aimed at the administration ship subsidy measure.

Borah had just previously warned the administration that the passage of the bill would ruin the party.

Far more urgent than the subsidy, in Brookhart's opinion, is the recent repeal of the Esch-Cummins transportation act. Of equal urgency, Brookhart believes, is the consideration of farm credit legislation. In fact, he contended Monday, "the Republican party is filibustering against the sovereign voice of the American people, as expressed in the recent election."

FARM LEGISLATION

"I do not believe in filibustering," he added. "But I shall fight this attempt of the executive and the Republican leaders in both the senate and the house to delay enactment of farm legislation by pressing the ship subsidy."

In extension of his charges against the transportation act, Brookhart declared that the United States railroad administration was deliberately wrecked by petty officials who mismanaged its affairs at the behest of private railroad executives, who did not want the roads to be under government control. These railroad administration officials, Brookhart declared, "are as much traitors as Benedict Arnold."

In distinct contrast with the veteran senators, dressed in the formal cutaway coat and striped trousers, Brookhart appeared in brown business suit and a soft collar—his Iowa working clothes.

His speech lacked the usual ejaculations and oratorical flights common in senatorial and congressional speeches. His notes were written in pencil; another departure from custom, which dictates typewritten bond paper.

COULD SAVE MILLIONS

"If the farmers of the country could have been subsidized on a like scale with that proposed for the ship interests during the first six months of the depression, it would have saved them $1,000,000,000," Brookhart said.

"But this would have shaken the very foundation of Wall street, and while no reactionary political leader or no reactionary newspaper ever termed the proposed ship subsidy as bordering on Socialism, a like guarantee to the farmers would have set the newspapers to covering their pages in red ink with 'Bolshevism!'"

Unless a vote is reached Tuesday on Senator Norris' motion to make his farm products marketing bill the unfinished bill, it is expected that the ship subsidy debate will continue after Christmas, when the senate banking and currency committee has announced its intention of obtaining action on the farm credits bill.

Here Is Christmas Cheer for First Fifty to Apply

The first 50 young people in Portland, boarding out and away from home, and who have no place to go on Christmas day, who get in touch with the Loyal Berean Sunday school class of the East Side Christian church, are to be invited to a Christmas party at the church. Persons desiring this entertainment may communicate with the class teacher, Ralph Harris, at Broadway 5554, or call at his office, No. 515 Chamber of Commerce building.

The young people in this class feeling that practically every form of needy folk were being looked after during the holiday season except the lonely young men and women with no close friends in the city, have planned to bring joy to as many as they can accommodate. Games and music, a tree with candy canes and popcorn balls and a Christmas dinner will be provided, with no expense to the guests.

Chest Workers to Discuss Relief in Storm Emergency

A meeting has been called by E. C. Sammons, general of the Community Chest drive, of representatives of those beneficiary institutions of the Chest which are called upon to meet the relief situation resulting from the storm. The officials of the drive will hear an exchange of experiences and needs in an effort to visualize for the public and for the workers the present Chest conditions. The meeting will be held at Chest headquarters, second floor of the old Honeyman hardware building, Thursday at 3:30 p. m. The beneficiary institutions that will be represented at this time are the Public Welfare bureau, the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, Pisgah Home colony, City Employment bureau, Portland Commons and Red Cross.

Several workers are daily in the field for funds for the Chest and the total has reached $487,032.

Pastors to Observe World Peace Sunday

Washington, Dec. 12.—(I. N. S.)—Urging the powers of the world to find means other than war to settle disputes, the federal council of churches issued a Christmas call today to 100,000 clergymen to observe December 24 as world peace Sunday. The message requested concerted action not only at Christmas but throughout the year toward attaining "an eventually warless world through international cooperation."

TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION IS GIVEN $50,000

Property having a value of between $50,000 and $60,000 has been left to the Oregon Tuberculosis association by the late Mrs. Jean Holton, a Portland woman who died in Columbus, Ohio, December 4. The will was filed Monday by Frank H. Hilton, who is named as executor of the estate. The will provides that if the association is not authorized to hold real property, the realty bequeathed to it may be sold and the proceeds given to the association. The will states that the bequest is "to be devoted to special tuberculosis nursing, clinics and field work."

The association received a letter recently from a sister of Mrs. Holton's asking whether or not the association was in a position to own property and a reply was sent at once stating that as the association is incorporated, it is able to hold property, however the letter did not reach its destination before Mrs. Holton passed away.

"The size of the bequest is as great a surprise to us as to anyone," said Mrs. Saldie Orr-Dunbar, executive secretary of the association. "And we shall regard the bequest as a sacred trust in following its stipulations. This gift will enable us to enlarge our field nursing service and to hold more clinics, a work greatly needed."

In addition to this bequest some of $2000 are left to sisters in Columbus and Sioux City, Iowa and $1500 is given to Kathryn Ruger, at friend living in Portland. The further sum of $4000 is set aside for the benefit of Cyril Kenneth Holton, stepson, also a resident of Portland.

SNOW MELTING RAPIDLY
 Bend, Dec. 12.—A chinook wind and a warm rain today relieved this section after a week of freezing weather. The snow was melting rapidly this forenoon.

The Umatilla county court has decided to build a section of market road from Butter creek to Sheridan. The work will be started as early in 1923 as the weather will permit.

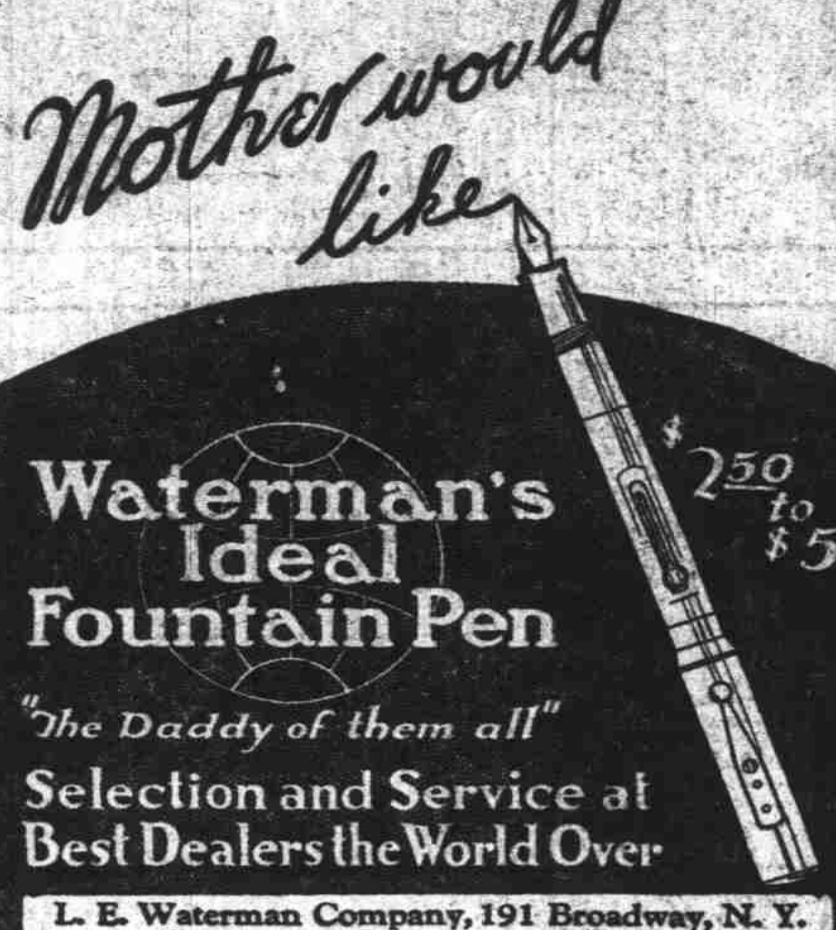

Italy Will Ratify Washington Pacts; China Raises Point

Rome, Dec. 12.—That Italy intends to respect and ratify the Washington agreements, including the Chinese 5 per cent duties provision, is the assertion of statesmen here. It is true that the Italians and Chinese are now wrangling over the ownership of certain former Austrian ships of the Austrian-Lloyd line. The ships took refuge in Chinese ports at the time of the war and were seized by the Chinese. The Italians declare that it was decided in Paris that all the former enemy ships should be pooled and distributed according to the losses of the various allies. They say the Chinese lost no ship and therefore should not keep any of the Austrian craft. The Chinese do not look at the matter in that light and continue to hold the ships. Arbitration has been proposed by the Italians but so far the Chinese have refused to consent to it. The government here considers the Chinese attitude unreasonable, but it has no intention of attempting reprisals. The contradiction of the Washington agreements which it looks upon as certain
