SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE.

Farnell's Organ on the Election—Starts for Paris.

DUBLIN, Dec. 24.—The United Ireland newspaper in referring to election in North Kilkenny says: "Kilkenny has declared for Gladstone against Parnell. The battle was fought with every weapon which hatred, malice, ingratitude and treachery could supply, but it must be remembered Kilkenny is not Ireland. They shall be forced to renew the wage of battle at every spot on Irish sod 'from the center to the sea.'"
The Freeman's Journal says Parnell starts for Paris tonight to meet his trusty lieutenant Wm. O'Brien.

A Base Advantage of Laboring Men.

PORTLAND, Dec. 24.—It is thought that about half of the laborers lately discharged from the sound extension of the U. P., now in this city have concluded to discount their time checks twenty per cent., which is offered them by J. H. Smith & Co., and it is stated that many of them are now being paid off on those terms.

World's Fair Proclamation Signed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—The World's fair proclamation has just been signed by the president.

DEATH OF J. M. ADAMS.

Well-Known Politician and Editor Dies of Lung Hemorrhage.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Dec. 22.—James M. Adams died here to-day of hemorrhage of the lungs, after an illness of several months. He was stricken on the street and died in an hour. Mr. Adams was one of the most widely-known men in the state of Washington, having been here since 1880, when he was made receiver of the United States land office. He was, after serving the term, made register of the United States land office at Spokane Falls, and since his retirement from that place has been living on his ranch near this city. He was born about forty-two years ago in Eastern Kentucky, and was prominent as an earnest Union man during and after the war. He established the Signal of this county, and after removing to Spokane Falls became editor of the Daily Review. He was a man of strong and cultivated mind, and has made his impression on all he has ever met in politics and social reforms. He leaves a wife and two children.

SPokane Falls, Dec. 22.—Mr. Adams was born in Kentucky in 1852. He was a practical printer and was once connected with the treasury department at Washington. He was appointed register of the United States land office in Spokane Falls by President Cleveland, although he was a republican in politics. His health suffered from over-work, and he resigned the editorship of the Review. After his retirement from the land office he went to his place in Yakima county, where he died.

READY TO SURRENDER.

Most of Sitting Bull's Band Have Come In.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Dec. 22.—Dispatches to General Miles from Colonel Sumner to-day show that nearly all Sitting Bull's followers, together with Big Foot's band, have surrendered to him. Colonel Sumner's dispatch said this disposes of all the Indians along the Cheyenne river, and if there are any more of Sitting Bull's people out he does not know where they can be. General Brooks reports the arrival of friendly Indians at the Bad Lands camp, and says the capture of Sitting Bull's people and Big Foot's forces will aid the efforts of the friendly to bring in the hostiles. An Indian scout reports to General Brooke that Short Bull's followers are anxious to come in but are withheld by the threats of Kicking Bear, one of Sitting Bull's agents. The scout thinks, however, the friendly will at last succeed in bringing out Short Bull's followers.

A report reached General Miles via Missoula, that two companies of soldiers in the Yellowstone region were surrounded north of Cave hill by 500 or 600 Indians, and had sent a courier out with a notification of danger to settlers. General Miles says there are Indians in that vicinity, but discredits the report that the troops are hemmed in. He has, however, ordered reinforcements sent.

HART'S RANCH, (Near Bad Lands,) S. D., Dec. 22.—About 170 Indians from Cheyenne agency are known to be coming to Short Bull and Kicking Bear's people in Bad Lands. The forces of General Carr and Colonel Sumner are now out to intercept them before they reach Bad Lands, and the report of capture is momentarily expected. Should they make any resistance a fight will take place. It is reported there are about 500 Indians nearing the hostile camp, who are going to make a strong effort to bring them in, but no success is expected from this move. Hump and Big Foot, of the Cheyenne river Indians, are known to have gone into their agency, so no assistance can be expected from them. Should these Indians from the north succeed in stepping through the cordon established around the hostiles and go into the Bad Lands an effort will be made to keep them there. It is certain there are now enough troops around the Indians to compel their absolute surrender. Two companies of the Seventeenth infantry, comprising over 100 men, reported to General Carr today; also forty-six Cheyenne Indian scouts reported, which now brings the strength of this command up to over 700 men.

McCarthy Pleased at the Result.

BOULOGNE, Dec. 24.—Justin McCarthy arrived here yesterday. Regarding the election in Kilkenny he says the result surpassed his expectations. He believed the defeat of Schully would have the effect of disorganizing the opposition and induce many waverers to come out against Parnell.

After Our Bacon.

COLOGNE, Dec. 24.—The official here

THE UPPER WILLAMETTE.

Sufficient Water Now for Steamboats—Seven Expected to Run.

SALEM, Dec. 22.—The river here is rising, the register now showing twenty-seven inches of water above low mark, ample for boats. The Union Pacific boats are expected up and the Oregon Pacific down this week. There is thirty-one inches more water in the river now than in the middle of summer, and the bars are in better condition than when the boats went off for the season, the low water of summer having sluiced the channel. The new independent boat now being built at Portland for Eldridge and the Abernethy brothers will be completed soon, and expects to make a trial trip to Salem January 10th. It is said this vessel will be regularly on the upper river, giving seven boats for the central valley.

Important Election Decision.

NEWHAVEN, Conn., Dec. 24.—Intelligence of importance as bearing on contested government has just been received here. This decision Judge Hall (Rep.) in case of East Lynne he decides that pasters put on blank space under title "Judge of Probate" on prohibition ticket makes ballot illegal under state ballot law. Under Judge Hall's ruling this would throw out 3,500 prohibition ballots in the state and elect Morris Deryn by a large majority. Judge Hall's decision is more significant as it gives the democrat candidate the office in East Lynn district.

World's Fair Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—It is said that the president has completed his examination of the papers of the World's Columbian Exposition and they were referred to the secretary of state for preparation of a proclamation.

Senators Will Eat Turkey.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—The senate has adjourned until Saturday next.

No Interest in the Election.

Knowing that a local election was going on in Grenada, Miss., I asked a colored man, whom I found cutting wood about four miles out of town, why he wasn't at the polls.
"Wall, I doan' dun take a heap of interest in dat lechshun," he answered.
"But why?"
"Right smart o' reasons why, sah. S'posin' I git up to de polls an' Mars Smith says to me: 'Reuben, I want dem fo' dollars yo' owes me fur bacon afore yo' wote.' How's I gwine ter pay him, sah?"
"I see."
"S'posin' I git up to de polls an' Mars Jessup lays his hand on my shoulder an' says: 'Yo' ole black Reuben, whar's dat log chain yo' borrowed of me las' fall to haul sticks?' How's I gwine ter tell him dat some nigger has dun stole it away from me?"
"Yes."
"S'posin' I walk up to dat winder wid a wote in my han', an' Mars Roberts calls out to all de folks, 'Heah! de man whar knows sunthin' 'bout dat yearlin' I lost last summer! Does yo' reckon I could git dat wote in arter dat?'
"Hardly."
"An' s'posin'," he continued, as he leaned on his ax, "dat I should git all ready to wote an' Mars Ben Walters, an' Mars Tom Davis an' Mars George Turner should cry out to me: 'Whar's dem chickens? Whar's dem hogs? Whar's dat honey? Do yo' dun reckon I could lift a hoof to git out o' dat?'
"But yo' don't acknowledge that yo' are guilty of stealing hogs, chickens, honey and so forth?" I asked.
"I doan't 'actly 'knowledge to nuthin', sah, but I ze free to say dat dere has bin some of de meas' presumptious times around yere since de wah yo' eber heard tell of, an' de furdur I keep away from a white man de safer I feel."—New York Sun.

Curiously Rewarded.

An amusing instance of southern perseverance under difficulties recently came to our ears. A young lady from Louisiana had heard much of Mrs. Leslie Carter's beauty, and fearful that she would not see the new star in the south the enterprising girl made friends with the habitue of the Ladies' Athletic club, where Mrs. Carter is rehearsing, and coaxed the latter to find out if there was any secret communication between the buildings. Curiosity found a way, but a very small one, and the girls crawled through it and obtained an entrance to the Berkeley while rehearsing was on.

Miss Entete (this isn't her real name) enjoyed the breaking in more than she did the rehearsal. She says Mrs. Carter is being coached by Belasco, even to the least inflection of her voice. The admirable points about her are her abundant blonde hair and her dressing. She wore a negligee—one of those famous negligees—of shimmering blue which fitted her form like a mold. The two girls staid through about half an hour of "Did I say that right, Mr. Belasco?" and "Is that the way you want me to do it?" with which Mrs. Carter interlarded the dialogue of the play, and then commenced
