The recent death in Canada of Mrs. Sterling, mother of Charles M. "I have seen all the tragedians of the past quarter of a century, but none that compared to the scene on that occasion. The mother, every line in her face showing the most intense suffering, and her heart nearly broken, while the son, knowing that the truth would kill her, stood like a statue, his face showing the pallor of death, assuring her that she was mistaken. Such intensity of action was never produced on any stage. It could not be."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Buried in Perfume

Passing throngs gazed curiously at a strange plant that sprang up in the windows of the Chinese laundries. People without poetry in their souls darkly hinted that the almond eyed Mongolians were raising onions. The emperor's subjects were innocent of the base charge. The essence of human emo-tions was clustered in the white and yellow petals of the flower.

The plant is called a Chinese lily, and Chinamen at this season of the year import it from their native land. They place it in a vessel filled with pebbles and water and the flower is in full bloom till Christmas, when it imparts a beautiful odor that fills a room with perfume. The grateful foreigners have presented their friends in this city with pretty specimens as a token of their gratitude for kindness shown them.-Pittsburg Dispatch.

It ount of the tac es bonnet Repairing and Cleaning to cart wheels and steeples, but now they are the most modest, low and snug little hats. . As for the bonnets, at the opening night of a new play at the Bijou two well known bankers and the president of a trunk line railroad escorted their wives to front seats, and all the men in the house felt like breaking out with applause. This was because these wealthy men's wives wore bonnets that just covered the tops of their heads-little confections of lace that looked pretty and stole no one's view of the stage. - New York Sun.

> Electricity in the French Navy. The French minister of marine has decided that every military port shall send to Paris two foremen and two working electricians to study the various systems of electric lighting. A further evidence of the extent to which the government of France is recognizing the importance of providing its navy with the fullest pessible instruction in electrical matters is afforded by the fact that lectures on the theory and use of electricity and its employment for naval purposes are being given at the Brest observatory, and they will be continued for four months.—New York Commercial Advertise
