The Tygh Mountain Road.

Surveyor E. T. Sharp has returned from the Tygh Ridge country, and informs us he has made a preliminary survey of the proposed Tygh hill road, which the state is asked to aid in building and finds that it can be built over the mountain, affording a comparatively easy grade not exceeding eighteen inches to the rod. He has made a lengthy report on the road, and sets forth the advantages to be derived by the large section of country, already occupied by settlers in Mr. E. S. Olinger, of Hood River, is in Tygh Valley and Oak Grove in giving them an outlet for their produce which Mr. I. H. Taffe, the Grand Duke of they are now unable to avail themselves of. The state funds cannot be used in a more beneficial manner than in removisiting relatives here. The charity that begins at home and appropriation asked.

Spurious Money in the Northwest. Secret Service Agent Harris returned to this city late Thursday evening after an absence of about two weeks in Washington and Oregon, where he had been sent by the treasury department to look flooding that part of the country with bad paper money. Mr. Harris was in Portland for several days locating the counterfeiters, who were raising five-dollar national bank bills to $20. The work was cleverly done, and is considered as neat a piece of "raised" work as has yet been seen.

his men to Whatcom, Wash., where they were taken into custody, but were released for want of sufficient evidence. On Nov. 15, at Tacoma, Mr. Harris ran across counterfeit ten-dollar bills with the vignette of Daniel Webster, and had one of the gang shadowed and arrested, but his trial has not yet come off. Counterfeit five-dollar pieces are also in existence, and Mr. Harris states that the entire country has been flooded with the spurious coin. While in Portland Mr. Harris arrested one Professor S. Brown for issuing his advertisement on a bill similar to a bank note. Brown was fined

The Clock Stopped When He Died. The sentimental and superstitions who are given to tracing the laws of coincidences will find an interesting subject for their attention in the recent death of a jeweler in Bucyrus, O. For many years it has been the office of a skillful German watchmaker, named Frank Kehrer, to attend to the town clock, which is in the steeple of the court house. During the past few months the health of Mr. Kehrer has been poor, and the clock, deprived of his careful attention, has been keeping indifferent time. Monday morning the timepiece struck 5, and a few moments later it stopped. Early risers who heard the chime affirm that there was something indescribably weird and peculiar about it. Later risers, noticing the clock hands pointing to 5:05, commented upon the subject and its aged guardian. Later in the day the news spread that Mr. Kehrer's condition had suddenly become worse and that he had died at 5:05 that morning. The hands of the old town clock still point to the identical time when the active mind and skilled hand of its master were paralyzed

His Half Dollar Was Glass. A striking illustration of the quantity of bogus coins now in circulation in this cently. A customer who had made a small purchase tendered a fifty cent piece in payment. The clerk pushed it back across the counter and shook his head. "That half dollar's a little too new," he remarked. "What do you mean?" demanded the customer. show you," replied the clerk, picking up the coin and then letting it fall sharply on the counter. The shock caused the counterfeit to fly into fragments. It seems necessary to again call atten-tion to the fact that the much used word "cloture," which congressmen so de-light in uttering with an infinite variety of accents, means nothing more or less than the "previous question." The word is an unnecessary importation from the French and is almost synonymous with the English "closure." The demand for the previous question and the stifling or "closure" of further debate is all that is meant by the mysterious Charles E. Dunham, to Lida Dunham, Gallic term.-Chicago News.
