Chicago Wants Sherman's Body Crought Past het Doorway--The Cold Wave Going East and South.

ANOTHER MINING HORROR.

Frightful Mine Explosion--A River Called in to Aid in Relief.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 16.—The Meyer mine, near Scottsdale, Pa., is on fire. Four pumps are known to have been killed and six or seven men are now reported missing.

The fire was kindled by a miner's lamp, which dropped to the bottom of the hundred foot shaft and kindled the accumulated gas, causing a terrific explosion.

The mine caught fire and the large fan used for ventilation purposes was destroyed, and the interior of the mine was soon a mass of flames.

Moutz creek has been turned from its course into the mine. The Meyer Coke plant is one of the largest in the region, and employed 500 men. They had refused to go out in the recent strike.

THE DEAD HERO.

Few Callers at the House--Wall Street Will Close.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—There have been very few callers at Sherman's residence this morning. Yesterday and last night nobody was allowed to view the body. Members of the Stock Exchange this afternoon voted to unanimously close on the day of the funeral.

Arizona Murderers Reprieved--Cold Weather.

CLIFTON, Ariz., Feb. 16.—F. Nelson, colored, and Antonio Grinados, Mexican, both under sentence of death for murder of their wives and children, have again been reprieved. They were to have been executed on January 19th and again on the 13th of this month, but reprieves were granted on the ground that the grand jury which indicted them was an illegal body.

The longest spell of cold weather ever known here continued from February 1st to the 12th. The lowest point reached by thermometers was six degrees below zero.

Bold Robbery in a Bank.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—This morning while a clerk of the bank of Scotland was standing at the counter of the National Provincial bank in the act of making a deposit he was addressed by a stylishly dressed stranger. While the conversation, which only lasted a minute, was going on, another man, evidently an accomplice, snatched from the clerk a wallet containing bonds and checks representing many thousand pounds, and escaped.

The Cold Wave Going Away From Us.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The storm which developed Saturday in South Montana and is moving rapidly over the lakes, caused rain on higher temperature in districts east of the meridian of Chicago. Behind this storm high area follows, bringing a cold wave which will move into the Ohio valley, tonight and late over states west of the Alleghenians and north of Washington city.

OLD WORLD AFFAIRS.

Trouble Between the Emperor and Bismarck.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—The crisis in the feud between Bismarck and the emperor is becoming acute. In a conversation at an official dinner last night the emperor remarked that the attacks inspired by Bismarck were aimed at him and he feared he would soon be obliged to take severe measures to suppress these attacks, which were dangerous to the government and the empire. It is reported that Chancellor Caprivi has been instructed to publish a warning to Bismarck's paper, the Hamburger Nachrichten, to cease publishing its pretended revelation of government affairs on pain of prosecution.

Waterway Plans.

Legislature Committee Should Agree With the Convention.

WALLA WALLA, Feb. 14.—The executive committee of the waterway convention held a meeting this afternoon, and sent the following telegram to W. H. Grey and George H. Pope, of Portland:

"Kindly ask the legislative committee of Oregon and Washington to work as nearly in harmony with the expressed wish of the waterway convention as in their good judgement will be wise and best attain the effects sought. The amount asked by Senator Raley is fully endorsed, and will admit of more economical improvement than what was asked for in our memorial, which was only limited through fear of asking too much and getting nothing."

Also the following telegram was sent to State Senator George T. Thompson, at Olympia, Wash.:

"We respectfully ask such an amendment to your memorial as will make it in harmony with the wish of the waterway convention, as expressed in their congressional memorial, which asks for a boat railway at The Dalles and completion of the canal at the Cascades. Kindly advise with the waterway committee."

"OREGONIA" WAS HIS THEME.

The Delphian Medal Won by a Native Born Webfoot.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—The annual contest for the Delphian medal given this year for English poetry by the Delphian literary society, of San Francisco, took place on Friday evening. The competitors were Romulus Torrin, whose subject was "Napoleon at St. Helena," R. S. Coale, jr., who read a poem on "The Tale of Arakon," S. W. Langdon, whose theme was "Washington at Valley Forge," F. K. Wilson, who delivered a composition in verse on "The Curse of the Buccaneers," and C. Horatio Jessen, laureate of Santa Clara college, for the first canto of "Oregonia," a poem in Spenserian stanza, descriptive of the site of the poet's birthplace in the state of Oregon.

Hill Grows Sarcastic.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Governor Hill, who is stopping at the Hotel Normandie, was shown Watterson's second letter, and was asked if there was anything he had to say about it.

"I have only this to add," said the governor: "Mr. Watterson now affirms that the letter felt to be offensive in its defense of me, and in motive and role assigned to me, was in fact written by him, and in fact written at the time of its date. My reasons for believing the letter a forgery were three: First, I had never received it; second, I thought Kentucky good manners would have required my receipt of the letter and my assent before its publication; third, it says the writer never held office, and I remember Mr. Watterson's brilliant career in congress. I do not seek to fathom Mr. Watterson's motives, and I accept whatever explanation he offers."

Fraudulent Fertilizers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Professor E. W. Hilgard, of the state university, speaking of fraudulent fertilizers sold to farmers, advocates a law compelling manufacturers of fertilizers to submit their products to an official analysis and to affix a label on all packages. He says much fraud is practiced, and cites the case of a farmer in San Bernardino county on whom agents tried to palm off ground shells as bone meal. The professor has written to members of the legislature, and hopes that the action will be taken.

London Papers Ulogize Sherman--The White Chapel Murderer.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The London newspapers this morning all contain long obituary articles which are highly eulogistic of General Sherman.

The latest discovery in connection with the White-Chapel murder, bids fair to connect Saddler now in custody with the crime.

Opinions differ as to whether the murderer is "Jack the Ripper," or not. The inhabitants of Whitechapel believe he is, but the police have not committed themselves to an opinion on the subject.

India an Importer of Silver.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Referring to Seligman's statements before the coinage committee at Washington that India would send immense amounts of silver to America, instead of sending the same to China, a gentleman well versed in eastern exchange points thought that India never sent any silver to China. India, he says, often imports silver from China. India always absorbed silver and will probably continue to do so in any event.

A costly New Necklace.

No account of the jewels worn by women prominent in Washington society would be complete without a mention of the magnificent diamond necklace purchased two winters ago by Col. John D. Langhorne for his wife. The necklace, brought to Washington by a dealer in precious stones, was first placed on exhibition by one of the leading jewelers in the city, and for several weeks thereafter was more widely talked and written about than anything of the kind since the international discussion over the diamonds sent by the khedive to Gen. Sherman's daughter upon the occasion of her marriage to Lieut. Thackeray.

The stones were not only of unusual size, but each one was absolutely flawless, and it was said that the collector had traveled from end to end of Europe in order to obtain the number of stones necessary for the completion of the necklace. Finally, after many conflicting rumors as to the ultimate destination of the necklace, it was purchased for a small fortune by Col. Langhorne as a Christmas present for his wife. Subsequently it was decided to place it for safe keeping in the vaults at Riggs's bank until the undesirable tumult of talk concerning it had subsided.—Washington Letter.

Miss Abbott's Care of Her Health.

Miss Abbott's illness is a grim sarcasm upon the exceeding care which she took of herself for the last twelve years. No other woman upon the stage exercised greater vigilance in the protection of her health. The pains which Miss Abbott took to secure proper rest and sleep made that lady a veritable terror to hotel proprietors. She invariably insisted upon a room at the top of the house, and this apartment had to be hung around with blankets and quilts to exclude light and noise. The dread of draughts kept her in constant terror, and never during the season would she venture out of doors without being enveloped in furs and rugs. Of horses she was particularly afraid, and although she was compelled to employ them almost constantly, she never had a feeling of security when in a carriage. Never was there a woman so completely a slave to her regard for the welfare of her physique, and so hard to understand how she came to violate the injunctions of the physician who apprised her of the consequences likely to follow her appearance in Salt Lake City while a severe cold was upon her.—Chicago News.

On the Transcaspian railroad women are being employed by the government as ticket agents and telegraph operators.
