OHIO EDITORS FIGHT.

Two Editors of Sunday Papers Fight for their Lives in a Crowded Street and One is Killed.

Big Floods in the East—Pitiful Appeals for Families of Dead Miners. No Recount for New York.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 23.—A shooting occurred on the most crowded portion of High street today in which about fifteen shots were fired. The shots were exchanged by W. J. Elliott of the Sunday Capital and A. C. Osborne of the Sunday World and grew out of an exchange of slanderous articles.

A bystander named Hughes was shot through the head and died instantly. Osborne was shot through the head and died soon after while a brother of W. J. Elliott was shot through the arm and back and a number of others were slightly wounded.

STORMS IN THE EAST.
High Water in Ohio is Doing Much Damage.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 23.—The outlook for the Ohio river flood grows worse today. In addition to the rise at Pittsburgh this morning the weather reports show there is almost a certainty of additional rain throughout the Ohio valley within twenty-four hours. There seems some hope in the fact that the river is falling rapidly at Wheeling and at Parkersburg and also that the headwaters of the Great Kanawaha are falling.

The effect of the flood here at this stage is inconvenient but not disastrous. The lower portions of Newport and Covington are submerged but none of the large manufactories are as yet interfered with.

The waterworks at Portsmouth are stopped by the overflow while Parkersburg has lost its gas and water and is in danger of a coal famine.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the river stood at fifty-five feet five inches and rising at the rate of an inch an hour. Reports from up and down the river show many towns flooded.

IN MUCH DESTITUTION.
The Families of the Miners Killed at Springhill are Suffering.

SPRINGHILL, N. S., Feb. 23.—The mayor of Springhill has issued an appeal to the public in the cities and towns throughout Canada and the United States asking for aid in behalf of the widows and children of those killed in the mine disaster. Something must be done at once for the relief of the suffering and destitute, by reason of all means of support being snatched away. Today there is mourning in the houses and it is evident that great suffering will ensue unless the response to the appeal is hearty and prompt.

A MEXICAN HORROR.
A Negro that has Practiced Cannibalism.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Herald tells a terrible story from Rio Janeiro, telling of the imprisonment at Salinas, state of Minor Gercies, of a negro, Clemente Viliza, who tells without reserve of cannibal practice, which led to his arrest. He says he was starving and killed his victims to sustain life. He helped to consume nearly half a dozen people.

Into the Promised Land.
ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 23.—As a result of an editorial in the Traveler daily paper of this city which said letters had been received from Congressman Perkins and others saying that settlers on the Cherokee outlet could legally hold their homesteads, thousands of people have gone quarter sections for 15 miles in South Kansas border and occupied at the lowest estimate 10,000 acres.

Washington's Birthday.—Unveiling a Statue.
PITTSBURG, Feb. 23.—The observance of Washington's birthday was more general here today than ever before. The equestrian statue of Washington erected by the United Order of American Mechanics at a cost of $10,000 was unveiled in the Allegheny park in the presence of at least 10,000 people.

A Missing Professor's Body Found.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 23.—The body of Professor Bancroft, who has been missing since last Monday, was found this morning in Dyer's pond. Bancroft was professor of rhetoric and English literature in Brown's University. He had not been feeling well since last December and Monday went out to walk and never returned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—The house has adopted conference report on bill for amending the act providing for allotment of land in severalty to the Indians.

THE HAWAIIAN CABLE.

Father Interviews With Prominent San Francisco Merchants.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Merchants and men of influence here are much interested in the Hawaiian cable proceedings. Several of them interviewed today said:

Captain William Merry: "The Hawaiian and Australian cable will be of great benefit to the United States, and especially so to San Francisco. The projected connection with the Farallone islands is a minor advantage, increasing its usefulness. Honolulu will become a port of call and a coaling station when the Central American canal is completed, and this will make the cable still more valuable."
Adolph Spreckles: "The United States should control any cable that may be laid to the Hawaiian islands. Our commercial interest in the islands alone warrant this. If any foreign power should lay a cable to the islands they would simply derive their revenue from leaving a toll upon American commerce."
D. A. McKinley, Hawaiian consul: "The island wants a cable and we think you ought to want it still more. We are willing to give a liberal subsidy, and the American government should not be backward in aiding in every way an enterprise that affects her in so many ways."

Frank Jaynes, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company: "I consider the plan entirely feasible, but I do not think it will pay the projectors. As to the benefit we will derive throughout the country there is no question. The advantages seem only too apparent. The importance from a political view is even greater than from the commercial standpoint. Undoubtedly the government should see to it that the cable is laid and remain under American control."

ANXIOUS TO COME HOME.
Shoe Operatives Deceived by Alluring Promises From Venezuela.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Jacob F. Goss, a Lynn shoe worker, employed as a monkey sticher, returned from Caracas, Venezuela, today, where he has been located since last December. He relates this story:
"Last December in response to an alluring advertisement in a local paper for skilled operatives to go to South America to teach the native workmen the art of producing foot wear by machinery, Goss entered into communication with the agent of the firm of Paul & Co., of Caracas, a Spanish concern, the result of which was that he signed a contract to work for the firm one year at $25 per week, and, with several other workmen from Lynn and other New England shoe centers, he embarked for South America. On their arrival they found that, though the house of Paul & Co. was a reliable concern, the proposed shoe factory had not been completed, and this necessitated a delay of several weeks, during which the workmen idled in the finishing of the building. They had all signed contracts, but at the expiration of the first week they discovered that what they received as compensation for their labor was less than half that stipulated in the contract, and they immediately remonstrated, but could secure no satisfaction from the firm. As a last resort they visited the American consul, and producing the contracts which they had signed, asked if they could not be enforced. The consul's reply was that the contracts were worthless. The workmen were without money, the climate did not agree with them, and they endured, with the exception of Goss, and are still enduring, great suffering. The natives treat them with contempt, and their lot is a most unhappy one. They are forced to remain there, because they have not funds with which to return. When Mr. Goss left with the money sent him by friends, the factory was not completed and his unhappy companions were in the greatest distress, being in absolute want, without decent clothes, and living in the negro quarters for lack of means to get better. Mr. Goss wants the government to bring them home."

CLEVELAND'S LETTER.
What Watterson of the "Courier-Journal" Says.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The Herald's Louisville correspondence telegraphed: I found Mr. Watterson in his office in the Courier-Journal building this afternoon, and asked him what he thought of Mr. Cleveland's statement in regard to his candidacy. Mr. Watterson said: "It is yet too early to speak very positively about the next democratic national convention. The attitude of the democrats of the west and south toward the free coinage of silver and Mr. Cleveland's letter creates dissonance, the end of which is not easy to see. Again is the fact that the New York democrats may force the party to leave New York out altogether in the search for a candidate. Mr. Cleveland's letter was brave and honest, but was inopportune. He could, I think, have offered to yield the thing to the kindly action of time, standing upon his record. One thing, however, is certain, and it is the key to the situation. If the democratic party can be brought to send a question like that of revenue reform to the rear, advancing in its place the question like the free coinage of silver to the first rank, it will be beaten out of sight, and will richly deserve to be beaten."

New York Gets No Recount.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The house committee this morning adopted a report adverse to the claims of New York city for a recount of the population of that city.

THE FIGHT A FAKE.

It is so Termed by a Director of the California Athletic Club.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—"What do you think will be done at Monday night's meeting of the board of directors?" was asked by a reporter of Colonel McLaughlin, one of the directors of the California Athletic Club, today. He replied:

"I don't see what we can do but decide the match a fake, for it surely was on La Blanche's part. I thought that after a man treats us in this way, by training up to the last moment and then going off and getting full, should be dealt with accordingly."
The colonel will take this stand at the board meeting Monday night. In betting circles there is much anxiety as to which decision will be given by the directors, who have constituted themselves the tribunal for that purpose. The pool men and other stakeholders have not turned over any money, contending that the contract signed by the men makes a referee's decision invalid. The general feeling is that Mitchell should be given the entire purse and all bets be declared off.

ARRESTS MAY FOLLOW.
For the Death of an Iowan Under the Christian Science Treatment.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 21.—Much interest is felt here in the investigation of the death of William Protzman, who it is alleged died under the Christian science treatment. Protzman was 24 years old and had good health until December 17, last, when he was attacked with colic, which grew into typhoid fever. The jury found he received no medical treatment, except "silent prayer," that dietary rules were disregarded, and that he was otherwise neglected. The conclusion of the jury is that Protzman came to his death by reason of practicing upon him of the teaching of the association of persons calling themselves Christian scientists, and from no other cause. The jury further say in their opinion Protzman would have lived had proper treatment been given him. It is expected arrests will be made later on.

RAILROAD NEWS.
Construction Work Stopped by the Stormy Weather.

TACOMA, Feb. 21.—The stormy weather of the past week has greatly retarded railroad work in the northwest. The Northern Pacific construction work in this state has been brought almost to a standstill. The partial suspension of the work on the extensions to the South Bend section and Ocosta has been made compulsory. The surveying parties of the Great Northern who have been working in eastern Washington have practically suspended work for a few days. The delay will not seriously affect the work in other localities. Colonel Heustis, whose firm has charge of the Union Pacific work towards the ocean said today that it is impossible to do anything in the way of construction under the present circumstances. They are doing a small amount of work so as to prevent their workmen from scattering.

THE INDIANS RETURN.
They Are Dissatisfied With the Results of the Trip and Predict More Trouble.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The band of Sioux, who arrived here Tuesday, on their return from Washington to Pine Ridge, left for their destination last night. Before leaving, American Horse made this significant declaration:
"I signed the Sioux reservation treaty, but when I saw how the mouth of my people were closed in Washington, I told Little Chief Noble that I would be no longer the leader of my people, but would mingle with them as a warrior in the ranks, rather than lift my voice again in behalf of the white man."
Louis Prineau, of the Standing Rock agency, and one of the interpreters with the party, said in view of this last visit and the excitement of last fall, there will be trouble in the spring.

The Tug Business Unprofitable on Puget Sound.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—It is rumored that the Merchant's Towboat Company's tug Sea Lion is to be ordered to return here from Puget sound. The statements are made that the long runs without tow and low rates are factors that have caused the Sea Lion to be very unprofitable in the work up north. Although fuel is cheaper on Puget sound than at this port, the distance a tug has to travel before she picks up a vessel, and the long tow she has to make when employed, causes a large consumption of coal. This expenditure of coal is by no means compensated for by the rates of towage, and rather than allow the tug to lose money she will return here for employment.

Washout—S. P. Train Delayed.
PORTLAND, Feb. 23.—Owing to a washout in Cow creek canyon the Southern Pacific overland passenger due here at 9:10 this morning will not arrive until 3 a. m. tomorrow. The washout occurred in the same locality as that of last year.

Sent up for Ninety-nine Years.
TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 23.—John A. Williams the leader in the Cotton Belt train robbery of June last has been convicted and given ninety-nine years in the penitentiary.

At no time in the history of Eastern Oregon have the prospects for "good times," and all that the term implies, been brighter than at present. While the present storm may work a hardship in some instances, yet the vast benefits that will result from it next spring and summer are almost innumerable.—Oregon Blade.
