WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

THE DALLES, March 11, 1891. Weather forecast till 12 m. Thursday: fair. Slightly warmer.

The Chronicle is the Only Paper in The Dalles that Receives the Associated Press Dispatches.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mr. Richard Sigman of Dufur is in the city. The Hon. E. O. McCoy, of Grants, is in the city.

T. H. Johnston, of Dufur, is registered at the Umattilla House.

Mr. Rufus Wallace of Rufus, Sherman county, gave us a pleasant call today.

B. S. Huntington is attending court at Goldendale. He is expected home today.

Everything quiet today, at the East end of town, and nothing is doing at the stock yards.

Within the last few days the price of wheat has raised in Walla Walla. It is now selling at sixty-three cents a bushel.

The young lady composers of the CHRONICLE office, very cordially thank Mr. David Garrison for a beautiful bouquet of spring flowers.

The regular 4:30 a. m. west bound passenger will have to rustle to get to Portland on time. She is due here tonight at seven o'clock—only ten hours late.

The freight train that left the Cascade a little after noon yesterday carrying the prisoner Parr in charge of constable Knightly, made remarkable time about four miles an hour, getting here about eleven o'clock last night.

A gang of fourteen men are engaged on Bridge street, near Ninth, breaking up the pile of rock, some time ago taken out of the intersection of these two streets. The broken rock will be ground up and used for making concrete for the new reservoir in the pines.

The Shasta Courier says: A Shasta county man has posted up this remarkable sign: "For sale: A Jersey cow to some man who will have a calf in the spring at a Bargain." The quiet solemn people up that way are anxiously waiting to see the customer. One of the elders said he would give the contents of the contribution box for the next six weeks to see the man who is going to have a calf this spring.

The man Thompson, who is charged with being an accessory in the shooting scrape, at the Cascades, is out on bail. His bondsmen are J. T. Peters of this city and Mr. Frizzell of the Locks. Parr has been committed to the county jail, without bail, awaiting the results of McCormack's injuries. McCormack is still very low and his life hangs on in the balance, with the chances very much against him.

Mr. Charles Schmidt of the Wasco warehouse, reports that while little business is being transacted there, the wool men are already making inquiries about the prospects of prices for the coming clip. In answer to the question, what is the outlook? Mr. Schmidt replied that the prospects for good prices and good times, all round, were never brighter.

Captain Donovan has just returned from a trip to Canada and the east. He visited New Brunswick where he found five feet of snow, and everything frozen up. He says the people here have no idea of the coldness one meets on such a trip. He came back by the Northern Pacific and describes the trip, part of the way, like running a train through a narrow street, from the immense piles of snow on each side of the track. He was exceedingly happy to get back to The Dalles and thinks there is no place like it.

The CHRONICLE reporter was shown this morning some very neat and beautiful oil paintings, by Miss Maggie Larsen a daughter of J. H. Larsen of this city. Miss Larsen is a pupil of the Sister's Academy in this city, and her work reflects great credit upon herself as well as her instructors. The subject of her sketches are Mt. Tamalpais, from Hip Ross valley, California, the Falls of Minnehaha, Mt. Hood, scenes on the Columbia river, and others. A little picture of pansy blossoms, struck our special fancy. It displays the handy-work of an accomplished artist. Miss Larsen expects to graduate next June.

Last Call—Last Chance.

Messrs. Livermore & Andrews the makers of the luxurious easy chairs at 77 Court street, hereby give notice that they will close out their business on April 1st. Parties wanting chairs should give their orders in at once in order to have them made before we close out.

IN MEMORIAM.

Highland Grange Passes Resolutions on the Death of a Brother.

WHEREAS, It hath pleased the Almighty disposer of events, to remove from our midst, on the third day of February, 1891, Brother H. M. Baxter, now, therefore Resolved, By Highland Grange No. 206 of which he was master for a time, and served with honor to himself and the grange, he was honored, beloved, and respected by all the members thereof. He was noted for his uniformly courteous treatment of all in his presence, firm in maintaining his convictions of what he deemed right or wrong, he freely expressed them on all proper occasions, yet ever treated those who differed with him with all due courtesy and respect. His mind was of no ordinary mold. He possessed the faculty of expressing his views lucidly and forcibly, on any matter he thought proper subject for consideration. As a member of Highland Grange he was a bright and faithful member, and will long be missed from its councils.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning sixty days and that a copy of these resolutions be furnished for publication to The Dalles CHRONICLE and the Wasco County Sun and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased, and also that these resolutions be made a part of the minutes of Highland Grange.

By order of committee. EZRA HENSON, Master.

WORKING FOR AN OPEN RIVER.

Resolutions Passed by the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

PORTLAND, March 9.—At a meeting of the chamber of commerce tonight the following resolutions were adopted:

"WHEREAS, the state legislature at its last session failed to pass any law that would insure the opening of the Columbia river from Celilo to The Dalles, and 'WHEREAS, believing it to be of paramount interest not only to the retention of the commercial supremacy of Portland as the metropolis of the state, but to the interest of the entire state of Oregon as well, and of equal interest to those sections of Washington and Idaho that border upon the great waterways, the Columbia and Snake rivers, therefore be it 'Resolved, That a special committee of twelve be appointed for the purpose of consultation and conference with representatives of these sections of the states which would be most quickly and permanently benefited by the opening of the river, with the object of ascertaining if some method cannot be devised for the speedy and permanent opening of the river traffic of the Columbia and its tributary streams."

PENILETON'S SENSATION.

More About the Shooting Affair—Easton Brought Back—Interesting Developments.

The true facts of the shooting scrape which occurred Friday night are about to be developed. Easton, the porter who was set upon, was brought from Portland this morning and his examination continued until tomorrow at 1 p. m. Foreman Lindsey, of the round-house, Engineer Ruhke and Mr. English, air-brake instructor for the Union Pacific, were placed under arrest this afternoon, and immediately gave bonds for their appearance tomorrow. Ruhke and English, instead of the tramp, were the two men, it is alleged, who tackled Easton and were driven away by his shooting, and Lindsay, the man who shot at and chased him afterward. It appears that on account of an insult a job was put up by Lindsay and his friends to scare the porter and drive him out of the country. They had probably not reckoned on his having a pistol.

Boat Building in The Dalles.

Mr. Alfred Kennedy and his son Arthur are building in the yard of Mr. Kennedy's residence on Ninth St., a small steamer for plying between this city and the Cascade Locks. Her extreme length will be 45 feet with 12 foot beam—over all—and a carrying capacity of ten tons. She will be equipped with accommodations for passenger as well as freight traffic. The keel, knees or ribs stem and stempost are in position giving one a good idea of her shape and general appearance. She is to be propelled by a screw operated by sufficient powerful engineers to enable her to do her work well. A little further west, on the same street at the shipyard of Mr. W. J. Jeffers, a beautiful canoe is receiving her finishing touches. She is built upon the Clyde model, stem, stern and ribs all of New York elm, imported for this purpose. The planking is a quarter inch fine, lapstreak and copper riveted. She is 16 feet long, 31 1/2 inches wide, with a depth from the hatch-combing of 12 to 14 inches, and will be rigged with a lateen sail of the latest and most approved cut. Her mounting for rudder etc., are nickel-plated. Her lines are very fine, and the whole piece of work we venture to say cannot be surpassed, if equaled, in any shipyard on the coast. Both jobs are highly creditable. Most people locate their ship building industries at the water's edge, but these gentlemen prefer to build beneath the drip of their own eaves, within easy sound of the dinner bell. It is a plain case of the mountain coming to Mahomet.

A Construction Company in Financial Straits.

MARION, Ga., March 11.—Application for a receiver for the Marion Construction company, engaged in building the railroad and one of the largest concerns in the south, was filed by John McTigue & Co. Two liens have been filed, one for $290,000 the other for $99,600. It is believed that the embarrassment is only temporary.

"BOYS, KEEP YOUR RECORD CLEAN."

[Last words of John B. Gough.]

CARRIE E. WALTON.

"Boys, keep your record clean." The lips of the speaker are mute, but his words are still warning the boys to stop in their mad pursuit.

To stop, I say, in their mad pursuit of wealth and honor and fame. To think of the devious winding ways by which they shall reach the same.

"Boys, keep your record clean." Your lips unstained by sin, Your lips as the lilies amid thorns, And a heart as pure within.

Fair as the virgin snow, Spotless and undefiled, Though around you the world is bright, Or the pitiless storms beat wild.

As you go out into the world, Go with a purpose true, Go with a sturdy, resolute will: Be one of the many few.

Ever do that which is right, Scorn to do that which is mean, And as you go through peace and strife, "Boys, keep your record clean."

Protect the Home.

"A man's house is his castle." Safety in our homes is of first importance. Right character is the result of correct home training.

The stability of the state demands it. The old Spartans claimed the children for the state and trained them at national expense.

Good foundations of character are laid very near the cradle. Educators are waking up to the importance of Kindergarten work.

Musicians begin practice early in life. Glass blowers will only teach their difficult trade to those who have been accustomed to handle glass from their earliest childhood.

Temptation to evil comes down on our young people like an out-sweeping tide, or a Johnstown flood.

The most delicate and precious materials are in our homes. The minds and hearts of little children.

Our people respect laws and proper authority. Laws are like a breakwater to protect our shores. Those who make and enforce good laws are the protectors of our homes. Our homes are invaded. None can be excused from defense. All good men and women must help defend those who are impoverished, disgraced, widowed, orphaned and crazed through strong drink with the "Weapon that is keener set And sharper than a bayonet; A weapon that comes down as still As snowflakes rest upon the sod, But executes the freeman's will, As lightning does the will of God."

In an address delivered at Indianapolis December 30th, Mrs. Gougar, said she had been keeping a death-book since January 1, 1889, in which she had noted the deaths of women killed by drunken husbands. She had recorded these deaths as she had read them in the daily papers. She had asked the audience to guess the number. One hundred, fifty, three hundred, four hundred were ventured. Three thousand and four was the number announced to the startled assembly. How long, O Lord! how long!

A Great Lady.

A great lady, in two senses, is Mrs. Villard (Miss Garrison, of Boston), who is now residing in Berlin. She was invited recently to assist in the fair for the charitable foundation patronized by the crown princess of Prussia, and was asked to fill the part of a barmaid. There are numerous shining examples of Americans in London having been "cast" for such a part in that city, for the sale of "American drinks" so called. Mrs. Villard, being on sufficiently friendly terms with the crown princess to state her objections, did so, and declined to assist in such an occupation, even for charity's sake. It is said that an apology was made to her, but for that we do not vouch. She afterwards took her place in the fair at a buffet, where there was nothing objectionable in the service, and it was noticed that the crown princess and princess were frequent patrons at her table. How many "spoiled Americans" there are who would have been so flattered at the request of royalty or so anxious to be noted among the serene highnesses in attendance as to lose sight altogether of the part they were required to play. A lady lending herself to the sale of American drinks to any comers, recommending the "virtues of mashes and cobbleries," is, unfortunately, not an impossible sight at an English fair. Mrs. Villard has set the fashion of declining to be barmaid either in the American or English line of business.—The Christian Woman.

Mrs. Villard, who is a daughter of the celebrated philanthropist, William Lloyd Garrison, is very kindly remembered by the members of the W. C. T. U. because she donated one hundred dollars to the free reading room of The Dalles.

Bob Burdett has said, "Speaking of the old Puritan Sabbath, as it was observed in his younger days, Oliver Wendell Holmes says: 'I have never got over the saddening effects of this early discipline. Indeed I have hardly recovered from it to this day.'"

If the stern old Puritan Sabbath, with its subduing, saddening effects, wrought out such joyous natives as Beecher's and gave to the world such a beautiful blending of tenderness and strength, laughter and tears, heart-deep pathos and sunny humor as Oliver Wendell Holmes, let us have another century of Puritan Sabbath.

Up to date the Sunday of the beer garden has failed to bring forth a Holmes or a Beecher. It has evolved a Johann Most and an August Spies, but somehow that sort of product doesn't seem to be up to the old Puritan mark of today, then heaven save the marks.

When you run up the bunting, remember that it was the steady going old Puritan Sabbath that hatched the Fourth of July. The day we celebrate, dearly beloved was not born in a Chicago beer dive on a Sunday afternoon.—Patriot.

The Benevolent Society.

The society of the "King's Daughters" met at the residence of Mrs. Samuel L. Brooks yesterday afternoon and transacted important business. The society has been in existence only a month or so and yet in that time has done much good work. The members will meet again next Tuesday afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. Harris, on the hill. They have a bright boy of 12 years of age that they are anxious to provide a home for. It is preferred that he be taken by some farmer in the country and any such person desiring a good boy could obtain the particulars from Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Brooks or any of the members.

Feminine Reasoning.

They are always in the right, aren't they, these women who bind their various wrongnesses into their own sweet, feminine selves? "Why do you try your eyes," said a "sensible" woman to a fluttering little flurry and feathery creature, "with that spotted veil?"

"But you don't wear any veil at all, do you?"

"N—ot very often."

"And your boots have thick soles and low heels?"

"Yes, but—"

"You don't carry any muff, I suppose?"

"No, I couldn't walk with my arms in any such cramped position; but how do?"

"And in summer you don't use a parasol?"

"Parasols are nuisances; but who told?"

"And you have a pocket where you can get at it, and you don't carry your purse in your hand, and you wouldn't use face-powder for anything, and you don't wear a yellow garter, nor a shoulder cape, and you aren't afraid of a check, are you?"

"But you never saw me until yesterday?"

"And when you were a little girl you never played with dolls?"—New York Cor. Denver Republican.

No Brains to Speak Of.

Dudely Caneucker went into a restaurant on Broadway and gave an order for some fried calf's brains. After he had waited almost half an hour, Dudely said to the waiter:

"Well, what about the calf's brains?"

The waiter shook his head and intimated that the outlook was gloomy.

"What's the matter with my brains?"

"There ain't any, that's all," replied the waiter, looking at Dudely sadly.—Texas Herald.
