A HOPEFUL MOVEMENT.

The remarkable movement that is going on over all this broad land and threatening like a mountain avalanche to sweep everything before it, has within it some things that ought to be hailed with joy by every lover of a government of the people and by the people.

All this is promising and healthy and hopeful, and deserves the encouragement of every man who loves his country better than his party; and so far as the movement tends to purify the foul stream of American politics and retrieve the masses from the pernicious control of political bosses it has our hearty sympathy and support.

THE ANTELOPE CHARTER BILL.

Referring to the communication in another column, signed "Piper H.," inquiring as to the fate of the Antelope charter bill, we have only to say that the bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Hilton, and passed that body, we believe on the 5th day of February, leaving plenty of time for it to come up in its regular order in the house before the close of the session.

On last Friday and Saturday, without any special solicitation on the part of any one, twenty-six new names were voluntarily handed in to be added to the subscription list of this journal.

weeks that from six to fifteen names have not been added. The stand that the CHRONICLE has taken in letting the people know the truth, no matter who it may hurt, has received the endorsement of a constantly increasing constituency and there is not a paper published in this country today so carefully read or so earnestly sought after as The Dalles CHRONICLE.

A Bright Future.

The outlook for this section is exceedingly bright, the forfeiture of the Northern Pacific land grant being one of the important factors in giving us new life. Hood River than to any other section, for the reason that all the lands were in the forty mile limit, and consequently, just half of them were railroad lands. The forfeiture act, in other words, doubled the amount of available lands and will attract, and is attracting immigration. This act was more important to this section for another reason which is that the Hood River lands are the most valuable of any included in the grant.

Is Disease a Punishment.

The following advertisement, published by a prominent western patent medicine house would indicate that they regard disease as a punishment for sin: "Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a severe cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. This can always be done if you choose to, as nature in her kindness to man gives timely warning and plainly tells you in nature's way, that as a punishment for some indiscretion, you are to be afflicted with a cold unless you choose to ward it off by prompt action."

What Became of It.

EDITOR DALLES CHRONICLE: Can you inform our many CHRONICLE readers, in this vicinity as to what has become of the Antelope Charter Bill submitted to our representatives in the last legislature. We have held a very interesting school meeting where our best citizens expressed a willingness to build a $1500 school house, providing our efforts to incorporate the town were successful.

HOW PEOPLE SAY GOOD-BY.

Observations on the Subject from a Traveling Salesman of Chicago.

"When I'm on the road," said a traveling man at the Sherman house, "I make a study of the different manners in which different people bid their friends good-by. A business man comes on the car with his wife, gets a seat for her, puts her bundles in the rack, presses her hand, and perchance gives her a matter of a fact kiss and is gone, and the whole has been done so quietly that no one has taken any notice of it."

"Then they kiss. 'Hope you'll have a nice trip.' 'So do I.' 'I shall be lonesome till you come back.' 'Oh, pshaw!' 'What's wrong, dear?' 'I forgot the novel I was going to read on the train.' 'Too bad, but you can get another.' 'What a pretty dress that lady at the end of the car has.' 'I think the stripe is too narrow.' 'Well, I guess the train is starting, so good-by.' Another kiss. 'Good-by.' And thus they go on as long as the train will wait for them."

"The wife was provided with a seat, and the husband, who was to be left alone, went outside and talked through the open window to her. She was giving him detailed instructions how to look after the household during her absence. The engine began blowing off steam and it was necessary for her to speak very loud to make her husband hear. The noise suddenly ceased just when she was in the middle of one of her sentences, but she did not seem to be aware of it, and the passengers all smiled as she shouted on the still air. 'And don't forget to change your underclothes every Sunday.' I don't know of anything more mixed with tears and smiles than are the good-bys spoken at the railway stations."—Chicago Herald.

Statuary for the People.

Statues of fine Carrara marble are choice and elegant additions to any room. For those whose means do not admit of such expensive decorations are the plaster casts of the art stores, which may be protected by enameling or painted in ivory tints. Nearly all of the choicest bits of statuary, such as the Winged Mercury, the Venus de Milo, and all the well known figures of ancient gods and goddesses are to be had in plaster, and are often excellent imitations of the marbles, and very gratifying to the lover of artistic forms. With careful usage they will be ornamental for a long time. Bas-reliefs in plaster, hung against plush, felt or plain silk panels, are effective and artistic.—New York Ledger.

Japanese Bells.

Bells were in use in China, Japan and India long before they were known in Europe. In the space fronting the temples of Nikko, Japan, there are enormous bells of exquisite purity of sound, too heavy to be suspended in any tower which this people build, and so they are swung on low frames of stout timber, the bell being only three or four feet from the ground.

They are rung by means of battering rams, made of long joists of hard wood, suspended so as to swing by the united aid of many human hands. They give out soft and muffled, though deep and far reaching, notes.—Youth's Companion.

What Corundum Is.

Corundum, as the reader probably knows, is the oxide of aluminum, the crude form of the sapphire, and on account of its hard surface is used to grind metallic surfaces, particularly tools. It differs from emery in a greater freedom from oxide of iron, the latter containing about 25 per cent of this impurity, while corundum contains a much smaller proportion. The larger part of the corundum wheels in existence are used by manufacturers of agricultural implements and of stoves.—Springfield (Mass.) Homestead.

A Mistake in Transmuting.

A gentleman in San Francisco learned that an estimable lady in Los Angeles had suddenly lost all her property and was in a condition of actual want. He telegraphed to a friend, a lawyer of Los Angeles, "Assist Mrs. — immediately." The word "assist" was changed to "arrest," and the poor woman's misery was increased by a night in a prison cell.—New York Times.

No Money Needed.

"You owe me five dollars, papa," said Ethel. "And Ethel owes me five," said mamma. "Well," returned papa, "inasmuch as mamma owes me five, let us call it all off, and so square the family circle."—Harper's Bazar.

Of Course.

"Do you shave at the barber's?" "No." "Ah, shave yourself, eh?" "No." "How then?" "The barber shaves me!"—American Grocer.

THE DALLES.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

THE LARGEST WOOL MARKET.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped this year.

THE VINEYARD OF OREGON.

The country near The Dalles produces splendid crops of cereals, and its fruits cannot be excelled. It is the vineyard of Oregon, its grapes equalling California's best, and its other fruits, apples, pears, prunes, cherries etc., are unsurpassed.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of $1,500,000 which can and will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH

It is the richest city of its size on the coast, and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop, more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed! Its climate delightful! Its possibilities incalculable! Its resources unlimited! And on these corner stones she stands.
