WHERE THEIR STRENGTH LIES.

In our opinion the main strength and power for good of the Farmer's Alliance movement consists in their absolute independence of the two great political parties. So long as they hold the balance of power they can enforce concessions to their demands.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

Whatever good the jury may have effected in the past and whatever benefits other countries may derive from it now, in the United States it is fast becoming a law word and a mockery.

THE AUTHOR OF THE "CONGEALED ELEMENT."

There is one crime that the CHRONICLE in its heart of hearts, never laid to the charge of Hon. E. O. McCoy. It never accused him of writing his own defense.

SUDDEN CONVERSION.

It is a fact that was well known at the time and well attested that E. O. McCoy busied himself going around among the members of the house, the day before the final vote was taken on the Raley bill urging the members to vote for it.

New England hotel men do not propose to get "left" in the matter of ice next summer. A big supply of that indispensable article has already been laid in by most of them.

Eggs, albeit not religiously classified, are very precious during the Lenten season.

Senator Watkins Takes a Hand.

THE DALLES, Or., March 21, 1891. EDITOR CHRONICLE: In an editorial in the Times-Mountaineer of Thursday, that paper commenting upon Representative Jennings's House Bill, No. 204, I believe uses this language:

We are informed that on the last day of the session the senator from Lane asked for unanimous consent to call up bills which were low on the calendar. A senator from Wasco county—whose name was not Hilton objected and this bill was killed.

As I was the only senator from Wasco county, except Senator Hilton I presume this charge relates to myself. The statements are false in every particular and the records will so show. The truth about the matter is just this. A day or two before the legislature adjourned, Senator Eakin of Lane county introduced a written resolution which was sent to the clerk's desk and read. The resolution in brief proposed that the roll of the senate be called; that as the name of each senator was called he should have the right to select and call up any bill he saw fit and put it upon its final passage.

As I am not a mind reader I had no idea then and have not the slightest idea now what bill the senator from Lane Co., would have named on call of his name if the resolution had prevailed. Again, the senator could at any time he wished have moved to suspend the rules and take up House bill No. 104 and as he did not do so, I think it is but fair to presume that he did not introduce the resolution for the purpose of getting up that bill.

The charges of the Times-Mountaineer are false and I believe maliciously and knowingly so. GEO. WATKINS.

AN OUTSPOKEN MAYOR.

A New Orleans Official Thinks the Lynching Affair Correct.

Mayor Shakespeare of New Orleans makes no bones about his feelings in the lynching matter. He declares bluntly to a Tribune correspondent that Parkerson and his associates did just right. He saw the citizens' call in the morning, and knew something was going to happen.

"Where were you during the riots?" "Attending to my private business." "Did you take any measures to prevent the tragedy?" "No." "Don't you regret it?" "No, sir. I am an American citizen, and am not afraid of the devil. These men deserved hanging. We expected a disagreement, and had made arrangements for a retrial. When I heard of the verdict, I was frozen in my seat. These men who did it were all peaceable and law-abiding. The Italians had taken the law into their own hands, and we had to do the same. It was what they did in Italy. The Mafia got too strong for them and what happened? The sovereign took hold of it—the king. Here the sovereign also took hold of it—the people. I'll stand up for law-abiding Italians fast enough," added this outspoken executive, "but those men out here—why they hoisted the Sicilian flag above the stars and stripes and one fellow stamped the American flag under his feet. I am an American and the foreigner who comes to our shores and abuses or repays our hospitality with base ingratitude must suffer the consequences."

A short time ago the following notice appeared in the columns of the Times-Mountaineer:

Politics in this portion of the country will be badly mixed hereafter, as is apparent from the present trend of affairs. Republicans are arrayed against each other, and the bitter feeling existing will do considerable towards insuring victory for the Democratic party. Difference should be healed, and the Times-Mountaineer will take the initiative in holding out the olive branch towards any Republican who differ from it on local questions.

Just now this republican editor is holding out the "olive branch" to Senator Watkins. He is attempting to do, in the case of Senator Watkins, what he blames the CHRONICLE for doing in the case of McCoy and Hilton.

A Missouri Poet.

A Missouri poet uncorks in the following style: "I was out in the gloaming, way up in Wyoming, a maiden sat combing her golden hair; when heated with roaming, all panting and foaming, there came up and hugged her, a grizzly bear. It didn't affright her, the bear didn't bite her; she lay back and murmured, 'still tighter, dear!' This broke up old Bruin, he left off his wooing, sneaked back to the mountains and hid for a year."

The salmon will have a hard time getting above the dalles of the Columbia says the Oregonian. New wheels are being placed in position at nearly every available point on each side of the river at the cascades and the dalles, and arrangements have been made to ship two carloads of the royal fish to Eastern markets as soon as the close season is over. Unless something is done soon in the way of establishing fish hatcheries for the Columbia there will be an end to the salmon industry in a few years. Even a goose laying golden eggs could not satisfy the cupidity of man.—Astorian.

THE DALLES.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY. It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

THE LARGEST WOOL MARKET. The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped this year.

THE VINEYARD OF OREGON. The country near The Dalles produces splendid crops of cereals, and its fruits cannot be excelled. It is the vineyard of Oregon, its grapes equalling California's best, and its other fruits, apples, pears, prunes, cherries etc., are unsurpassed.

ITS PRODUCTS. The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of $1,500,000 which can and will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickital valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH. It is the richest city of its size on the coast, and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop, more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed! Its climate delightful! Its possibilities incalculable! Its resources unlimited! And on these corner stones she stands.
