The funeral of the late Chas. E. Dunham and his infant son took place yesterday afternoon under the direction of the Masonic fraternity of which Mr. Dunham was a member. Services were held in the Congregational church, where the Rev. Mr. Curtis delivered a touchingly tender and appropriate discourse. The church was crowded till scarcely standing room was left, and the funeral procession was one of the largest ever seen in this city. Father and child were laid side by side in the Odd Fellow's cemetery.

Astoria wants to increase the capacity of her water supply. D. P. Thompson owns the present system, and offers to sell it to the city at the price it cost him, $90,000 notwithstanding it pays him an interest of one per cent a month on $100,000. Mr. Thompson gives as his reason for wanting to sell, that it is part of his present financial policy to dispose of all of his holdings of that nature throughout the state and that if the Astoria built other water works he would have them to buck against and of course could not expect to have so much revenue from his property as it has hitherto yielded.

EASTER SERVICES YESTERDAY.

A Fine Concert at the Congregational Church in the Evening.

The Congregational church of this city was a bower of beauty yesterday. California as well as the hills of Oregon were laid under contribution and the floral effect was fine. Mrs. D. E. Thompson, of Los Angeles, sent 130 calla lilies by express to the church, as well as sprays of orange blossoms and cuttings from pepper trees. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, now of Seattle, sent from San Francisco a large amount of flowers; Mr. Brown, one of the Sabbath School scholars of the church, brought a large quantity of ferns and boughs for decorations from Hood River, and the many friends of the society sent in vases, flowers and plants until the whole interior of the church blossomed into beauty. Over the choir alcove was a festoon of green, in the center of which was a beautiful floral crown, while on the wall opposite of the entrance were the words "Christ is Risen," also in evergreens. The letters were very artistic and were the handiwork of Mr. Ainsworth, of French & Co's. bank. Miss Ives Brooks was chairman of the committee on decoration and the work was all exquisitely done under her direction.

In the evening the church was packed to listen to the exercises. A song by the school was first on the programme. It was followed by a prayer by the pastor Mr. Curtis, after which an anthem by the choir, "Consider the Lilies," was given in a manner that showed much careful practice and was indeed a treat for the audience. Mrs. Blanche Patterson was the accompanist which left nothing to be desired.

"The Seven Fishers" was the title of a recitation by Master Edward Baldwin, which came next on the programme and was well given. This was followed by a song by the school and Master Vard McFarland gave the audience a treat by a recitation in excellent voice and manner.

"Ashamed of Jesus" a solo by Mr. Ernst, the chorister, was most excellently rendered. He was in good voice and the selection was fine and a pleasing one. Miss Story gave a recitation "The Agony at Gethsemane," which was well received, after which an anthem by the choir "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung.

Bright little Patty Baldwin came next for a recitation and gave a "Child's Easter Thoughts" as her effort. It was well done and the little Miss deserves praise for her excellent work.

Miss Maie Williams of the choir sang a solo "Over the stars there is rest," in a manner that showed the exquisite flexibility and timbre of her voice. It was a rare treat to those assembled and added much to the pleasure of the entertainment.

Winterton Curtis recited the "Burial of Moses," in his best manner. He is always perfect in his recitations but his effort last night was far above the average. A short and instructive address on Easter was given in closing by Superintendent B. S. Huntington, and the Benediction was passed on what had been a very entertaining and satisfactory Easter service.

AT THE M. E. CHURCH.

The Easter service at the M. E. Church yesterday, was a very pleasant affair. The floral decoration, while neither elaborate nor expensive, was quite in harmony with the occasion, and did credit to the artistic taste of the committee. The music was delightful, and a solo by Myrtle Michell was the musical feature of the occasion. Recitations by Teel D. Traveller, Lorene Lee, and Master Hugh Frazer, were well rendered. Pledges and a collection were taken for the missionary cause, amounting, in all to about $80.

In the evening the pastor preached from the words of Mark xvi:6—"He is risen." The discourse was mainly a review of the proofs of that wonderful event—the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Mrs. Stowell sang a solo which was highly appreciated.

The pastor announced another revival service to begin next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Ford, of Dayton, will be present to assist.

A New Band Stand.

The elder Mr. Crandall has drawn a very neat design for a band stand which the citizens of The Dalles intend to build for the use of the band boys during the summer evenings just as soon as they are able to procure the right to a suitable location for it. It is an octagon figure fourteen feet in diameter, with wainscoting on the outside reaching six feet from the ground and eight feet from the top of the wainscoting to the eave, or fourteen feet in full height. The entrance will be from a door in the side reaching to the center from whence steps will lead to the stand proper. The roof will be in form of a minaret surmounted by a handsome flag pole. It is intended to be lighted by electricity and will be an ornament to the place on which it happens to find a location. We know not what the powers that be may think about it but there is one place above all others where it ought to be located and that is on the open space on the east side of the court house building, and we hope the county officials may see the matter in the same light and grant permission, if it be so desired, to place it there.

The Dalles Lumbering Company have resumed work at the planing mill.

DRUGS AT A PREMIUM.

Brief History of a Leading Drug House of The Dalles.

It is the intention of the CHRONICLE to write up a short description of the different business houses of this city, and of its various manufactories and thus spread that information to the world. As fast as time and space will permit this object will be pursued until all are reached. In pursuance of such course we today have looked over the drug house of

SNIPES & KINERSLY

And give a few facts in regard to that extensive concern. The firm is composed of Ben E. Snipes and O. Kinersly. Ben is one of the well-known characters of Eastern Oregon, a man full of pluck and daring, who was one of the early stock men of this part of the country and with whose deeds of bravery and various escapades all the old settlers are familiar, and many of Ben's doings have passed into legends. He has won a fair share of this world's goods and is yet in active life and bids fair to largely augment them. He is now a resident of Seattle, but will always retain a warm spot in his heart for The Dalles.

Mr. O. Kinersly is the resident partner and has the entire management of what has grown to be a fine business. He is a young man with a level head and full of pluck and resource, and every year the business is growing in volume under his skillful handling.

THE BUSINESS

Was established in 1864 by H. J. Waldron, who ran it until January 15, 1879, when it was purchased by Snipes & Kinersly. Their store is 30x100 feet and three floors are constantly packed full of goods. They are in the heart of the city on Second street between Washington and Court streets, and their location could not be improved. The store-room is a very handsome one and is filled with everything that can be thought of in the line of drugs and patent medicines, as well as artist materials, toilet and fancy goods. Their trade in cigars is a large one. They carry Key West, imported goods and many favorite brands of choice cigars, and many of our smokers drop in there for the fragrant weed.

THEIR WHOLESALE TRADE

Is a large one. Snipes & Kinersly buy direct from the patent medicine and drug manufacturers and as they have capital to buy extensively, have built up a large wholesale trade. They have a number of customers at Prineville and on up the country for 250 miles, and their customers are constantly increasing. The firm carries a stock of about $40,000 and all doing a business of some $50,000 per year with a fair prospect of greatly increasing that amount in the near future.

THE EMPLOYEES.

Mr. F. J. Clark is the book-keeper, while Mr. R. L. Simmons and Mr. Donnell are salesmen. All are popular and obliging, and draw much trade to the concern. They are all good fellows and have the CHRONICLE'S consent to hold their positions till The Dalles has 50,000 inhabitants or they grow rich enough to set up large establishments in North and West Dalles.

It is with pleasure that we can point to the growth and success of as fine an establishment as that of Snipes & Kinersly's and we hope from time to time to chronicle their increase of trade and popularity. The trade of the country around us make such establishments a necessity and it speaks well for all that they are so successful.

Some Fine Workmanship.

W. E. Garretson, the popular watch-maker and jeweler of this city, has now on exhibition in one of his show windows a sample of his own handwork as a practical jeweler which may well surprise those who are unaware that jewel settings in the very highest style of that art can be performed right at our own door. Some time ago conductor Jim Carey of Fidalgo became possessed of three samples of American ruby picked up somewhere near La Grande, in this state. They are of a beautiful wine color of a purple tinge and Mr. Carey, wishing to make a present to his wife in the form of a set of earrings and brooch placed them in the hands of Mr. Garretson. The latter had them dressed in Chicago, and on their return he proceeded to give them a setting in a very chaste and elegant design of fourteen karat gold. The result is as pretty a set as any lady could desire. The work was, of course, all done by hand and is a credit both to the workman and the city.
