Beating the Cabby. Even if Representative Jason B. Brown does come from a rural district in Indiana, he has no hayseed in his hair. A few days ago he hired a cab in front of the Riggs house and drove around where he expected to meet a friend. But his friend was not there, and so he drove back to the hotel around the corner. The trip occupied just six minutes. "How much?" he asked the cabman. "Seventy-"you can only charge seventy-five cents an hour." "It's just the same for a portion of an hour," said cabby. "If that is the case," said Mr. Brown, "you can wait here for the balance of the hour. I will be in the hotel when your hour is up." Then he disappeared through the doorway. In less than fifteen minutes the cabby capitulated. "Give me twentyfive cents and I will go away," he said. He got his money and departed. - Wash-

A delicate question has lately arisen in the mind of his honor Mayor Bradford. When coasting was prime on Mulberry street the mayor, with his usual forethought for people's safety, carefully directed that an officer be stationed at the foot of the hill to arrest any who trespassed against the law which forbids the coasters to cross Maple street. "But, yer honor," exclaimed the policeman, "phat was I to do? I saw a ripper coming like a streak of greased lightning down the hill. Whizz it went across the street, and I tore along after it to arrest the miscreants. But who should scramble off the pesky thing but Alderman Holbrook and his lady, and the last of all came Parson Baldwin!" So his honor, the mayor, scratches his head and thinks and thinks and thinks.

In the St. Joseph hospital, Omaha, is a case that has attracted the attention of the best physicians of that city, and the equal of which is not known in medical history. It is that of Mrs. Mc-Kinney, wife of a railroad man of Kearney, Neb. The phenomenal feature of the case is that the woman's bodily temperature for six months past has ranged from normal to 171 degs. Fahrenheit, and has remained at 146 degs. for weeks at a time. Heretofore the high-est authenticated case of temperature not resulting fatally has been 114 degs .-Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Pessimistic Judge.

In the course of a case before the court of review, Saturday, when a learned counsel was referring to the alleged disfor Ravenna Park station, north of this city, brought suit in the superior court today for $10,000 damages against the Revenna Milling Company, charging it with fraud and false representation. The mill company agreed to crect a mill within thirty days from November 2, with a capacity of grinding 200 parrels of flour daily. Beck says he was basely swindled, and gave his money and lots believing the representation made him by the Ravenna Mill Company were true, but no mill has yet been built, and all is a myth. honest practices of the defendant, Chief strong; you must remember there are not very many really bonest men on this earth after all." Later on in the case, when the counsel spoke of the conviction which he hoped for, the judge again re-marked: "Well, after all, the line is a
