For seven years, in the sixties, when Canyon City was a great mining camp, and the country between was full of treacherous Indian savages, Mr. Wheeler stocked and ran a stage between The Dalles and Canyon City. Mr. Wheeler's stage stock were frequently stolen. He was seriously wounded on Bridge creek during the outbreak by old Paulina's band. We would like to see a history of this country during those perilous times written by Mr. Wheeler. He was regarded by the early settlers as one of the bravest men, and a good Indian fighter.—Fossil Journal.

The Young People of The Dailes Visit Hood River.

Last evening a party of our young people were entertained at the residence of Hon. E. L. Smith, at Hood River. Excursion rates were granted by the Union Pacific and the party left on the 5:30 passenger, arriving at Hood River about 6:45.

The evening was perfect and before entering upon the indoor sports the way was led across the point by the new road to where Mt. Hood can be seen in all its glory of ice and snow with the graceful river bearing its name, winding down through the great canyon hundreds of feet below, in the foreground. From this scene of wild grandeur the party turned reluctantly and wandered back through the woods to the residence of Mr. Smith

The guests were then ushered into the parlors, made doubly attractive by the fowers and evergreens, that were used profusely in decorating, filling all the place with beauty and fragrance. Music and games were the order of the evening, and after partaking of an elegant repast, served in the spacious dining room, the party reluctantly broke up, after having spent a most delightful time, which will long be remembered by all who were

A CHILD'S EASTER THOUGHTS.

I have seen the bud and blossom, I have seen the chrysalid When It burst its bonds asunder Showing all the beauty hid.

I have watched the birdies batching Seen the walls of wondrous blue Break, revealing all the beauty That within its silence grew.

I have heard the wondrous story Of a Saviour crucified, How for us he suffered torture, How for us he lived and died.

How the angels came from Heaven Clothed in robes of dazzling light Bore Him back to God who gave Him Wearing crown and robe of white.

And they tell me bud and blossom, Egg and bird, but symbolize How our lives from grave and stlence Into fuller beauty rise.

When they hid my little sister In the grave so dark and cold, Then they said that God would keep her As an angel in His fold.

Mamma tells me she is happy With the good God up above, That she plays all day with angels Sings with them their songs of love.

Little sister, up in Heaven
When the angels came for you
Tears and earth dust dimmed our vision
Hid thy glory from our view. But I know you were not frightened Heaven to you was real and true And I think sometimes the angels Must have whispered words to you.

For you said in faith unquestioned Two dear Fathers have been given, I will love and trust them ever One on earth and one in Heaven.

Life and death and resurrection God and Heaven and angels bright All seems dark, I'll trust to Jesus He will lead me to the light.

An Open River.

EDITOR EVENING TELEGRAM: I endorse all you say about the necessity for an open river, but if the river is opened, will it be used by the steamboat com-panies? Will not the railroads at once put down the fares so as to make it unprofitable for the boats? What is the use of opening the river, if not to be made available for steamboating?

It is rumored among the knowing ones that the La Grande railroad shops will soon be removed to Pendleton and further, that the Huntington shops will be removed to Wilovale, the terminus of the Sumpter Valley Railroad, and the Grand Central Depot for the several railroads leading to Baker City will be located at the same place. Indications lead to the belief that the rumors will materialize. Should this be the case materialize.
