Forest Fires Prevailing in New Jersey---Fears of u Negro Riot in the Indian Territory.

OTTAWA, May 2.- In the house yesterday Laurier, leader of the opposition arraigned the government for the insulting epithes which Sir John MacDonald and other members of his cabinet had showered upon the United States during the recent campaign. The result of the recent campaign. The result of the recent elections, he held was practically a victory for the hberal party and their policy of unrestricted reciprocity.

Sir John in reply said government had every reason to congratulate themselves for the manner in which the country repudiated the liberal party and their policy of annexation. He regretted the loss of several of his supporters, who had fallen in battle but defeat was due to the McKinley bill and not to any charges that could be directly brought against the government.

President Harrison and Party Reach

Sacramento, California. SACRAMENTO, May 2.—The presidential party arrived here this morning and as his train drew in at the beautifully decorated union depot in Sacramento, a salute of twenty-one guns was fired and as the president stepped from the train an immense crowd greeted him with cheers. Mayor Comstock spoke a few words of welcome, and the party then entered carriages and were driven to the capitol. Representatives of the Grand Army posts acted as guards of honor. At the capitol President Harrison made an appropriate address. After the speech making the president held a short reception in the governor's office, after which the party were escorted back to the train.

NEW YORK, May 2 .- A great section of New Jersey extending from Point Pleasant to the southern extremity of the state is being desolated by fire and unless rain comes soon the pine and cedar forests are likely to be wiped out. fornia League managers are in the air. They don't know just where they are standing on the national agreement proposition, and so far no concerted action has been taken looking toward a settlement of the difficulty. Colonel Robinson says, and Manager Harrison corroborates him, that the president of the league had been instructed to secure admission to the national agreement, but when a reporter asked the supposed head of the league the plain question whether or not the California League to let the national agreement alone. So would the Sacramento management, but it is certain that Secretary Young considers the California League under the jurisdiction of the national board of control, or otherwise he would not have threatened the Californian with expulsion from the national agreement, if the disputed players were not at once re-leased to the clubs claiming them.

When asked by the magistrate if captain Verney said what he wanted the girls for, Adelaide replied promptly: "He said he wanted to seduce them, and that they must be virtuous." This created a great sensation. Verney, when asked if he had anything to say in his own behalf, said he would say nothing it this cast. said he would say nothing in this court. What a Bore It Is to Be a President. [Astorian.] It isn't much fun to be the president. In fact, it must be a bore. Poor man! Doubtless he got tired of the bother and the persistence of the office seekers at the national capital and put up a little trip with his wife and a few friends out into the breezy boundless west. He thought he'd have a month's rest and a good time. Probably he would if he could do like one of us, buy his section in the Pullman, give the porter a four-bit piece, take out the latest magazine and a cigar and have a rest as the train rolled along, and when he tired of read-ing look through the frame of the carwindow at the magnificent panorama. But the president can't do that; he must have on a smile and a stiff collar. and make a speech at every cross-road, and left. He is and be stared at like a five-legged calf or a two-headed elephant, and no matter how he feels must shake hands with all hands and talk and be interested, when he probably wishes the whole lot of 'em a well-known physician of this city, attempted suicide last evening by shooting thousand to one; so many of all others. himself. It is not at all likely that he will want to crawl from his nice warm cot, whether we want him to come or not, and go on board a windy boat at 3 o'clock in the morning to come down the Columbia river. None of us would; we can't expect the president of the United States to do what we would positively refuse to do. Of course we would be glad to see him come, and Astoria would spend a thousand or so entertaining him. He would see the oldest settlement on this northwest coast; a city rich in historical asso-ciations; a city made famous by the pen of the poet and the pencil of the painter; he would see the greatest government work now going on in this great country over which he presides, but unless he changes his programme it is unlikely that he will visit Astoria.

WANTS THE SHOE OFF.

Robert Snyder's Amputated Limb Fains Him. Spokane Review

Robert Snyder, the mill hand whose right leg was sawed off below the knee about two weeks ago in the saw mill at Hauser Junction, Idaho, where he was employed, and who was brought to the hospital in this city for treatment, is rapidly recovering. He complains considerably, however, of pain in the amputated leg and foot.

The shoe lacing is drawn so tight, he says, that the foot often feels as if circulation were being impeded, as when it is said to be "asleep." He says that at the first opportunity of getting word to his friends at Hauser Junction, he will ask to have the foot dug up and the shoe
