THEY EAT OUR SALMON.

The Australians Are Now Eating "Fresh Salmon on Ice" from San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The Australians are now eating fresh California salmon on ice. In the season between February and July they have no home supply of fresh salmon. Over a ton was shipped last February and found a ready market.

The Monowai took an equal amount last week. If the last shipment is satisfactory others will follow.

The experiment is a novel one and may result in establishing a steady business.

The Australian trade can easily consume from ten to twenty tons of our salmon.

Swift's Remains Brought Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The steamship Belgic arrived this morning from China and Japan bringing the remains of the late United States minister John F. Swift.

The casket containing the remains was placed on a caisson drawn by six horses, draped in black and conveyed to the Mortuary chapel of the Trinity church where they will be kept in state until Sunday, the day of the funeral.

Keeping Watch of the Etata.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The treasury department officials have been kept fully informed of the movements of the Chilian vessel Etata which escaped from San Diego, California, yesterday after being seized by the marshal. They refuse however, to make public the dispatches about the affair.

To Teach Italians to Obey our Laws.

BOSTON, May 7. — All the Italians of Boston are invited to attend a mass meeting at Faneuil Hall to-morrow night, which it is announced for the purpose of forming a society for the elevation of the poorer and indigent class of Italians who it is proposed to teach respect for and obediance to the laws of this country.

Peru Wants Reciprocity With U. S.

CHICAGO, May 7.—A Washington special says that Peru wants reciprocity with the United States. Peru is the only South America country besides Brazil which produces sugar in large quantities; so it is important to Peru that it insures a lasting, free market for this in the United States.

White Winged Peace Won't Hover Yet.

VALPARAISO, May 7.—President Balmaceda has rejected the demands of the delegates from the congressional or insurgent's party who have been trying to come to an understanding with the president by which civil war might be brought to a termination.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The comptroller of the currency has issued a call for a report of the condition of all national banks, at the close of business, Monday, May 4th.

"Garden Sass" Injured by Frost.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—Dispatches from many points in this state indicate that fruit and garden truck is badly injured by frost.

The President Will Dine on Salmon.

CELILO, May 7.—Here the president visited the cannery establishment of I. H. Taffe and was presented with a large box of salmon caught this morning.

Did not Inspect the Locks.

CASCADE LOCKS, May 7.—The presidential party passed through here at 9:35 o'clock this morning.

It Will Rain.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Forecast for Oregon and Washington, light rains.

Girl Expressions.

Every season women utter new exclamations of delight. Nothing is perfectly lovely or perfectly splendid any more. Julia Gordon in her "Successful Men," makes a guest refer to a stone pavilion as "a dear." Men like Barrymore, Kelcey and Andres Dipple are called by their several classes of admirers "a love." Effie Shannon is called "so violetty." Dorothy Tennant Stanley "is just sweet." Bernhardt "is adorable the way she walks." Things like Miss Leary's Lenten sewing classes are mentioned among the "very extraordinary," and the successful artists are "quite clever," and if their new books and pictures are "not bad" they are altogetner admirable.—New York Letter.

An open river would be a "freight rate regulator," and that is what the people of the inland empire are much in need of. If Portland will take prompt action and fill the "long felt want" she may rest assured of a volume of trade which would make her a city as large as San Francisco within five years.—East Oregonian.

The egg is hardly a coquettish affair at any time, but there is no denying that in this gay springtime it is full of chic.

LEFT NUMEROUS CREDITORS.

Frank Pilling, Theatrical Manager, Takes His Departure.

BOSTON, Mass., May 5.—Frank J. Pilling, the well-known theatrical manager, brother-in-law of John Stetson, the owner of several museums through the country, and a bowery theater in New York, has, with his wife, one of the famous Stokes sisters, disappeared from the city, leaving numerous unpaid bills and lapsed mortgages enough to keep an accountant busy for a month to come. He received his start in his theatrical career through marrying a sister of Mrs. Stetson, and did an excellent business, but poor investments in real estate and seaside summer resort property led to his heavy involvement, and when the mortgage became due on his theater here last week he left the city for parts unknown, being followed Saturday by his wife, who, with his power of attorney, has collected all moneys and deposits due him. Warrants are out for his arrest, and Mr. Stetson is in a violent state of mind.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Warner Miller Will Report Progress During His Intended Visit.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—A dispatch has been received by Captain William L. Merry from the office at New York of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company saying that president Warner Miller would come to San Francisco via New Orleans. It is possible that he has gone to Tampa to inspect pine timber, which grows largely in Florida, and which is used in large quantities at the Nicaragua canal works, being especially adapted for piles. It is supposed that some of president Miller's party will accompany him to this city. The tour of inspection proceeded without accident after the initial disaster of the shipwreck on the way down to Greytown. President Miller will have the latest facts concerning the progress actually made in canal construction, and also concerning the nature and extent of the work to be accomplished, to communicate upon his arrival in this city. Up to date no details have been forwarded.

STAND UP FOR THEIR RIGHT.

Resolutions Adopted by a National Colored Association.

CINCINNATI, May 5.—The American Citizens' Equal Rights Association, composed of cofored men, held a convention here today. They adopted a series of resolutions, affirming their purpose to secure the full and free exercise of every right given them by the constitution. They entered a protest against the efforts of a few so-called leaders of the race to induce the administration to recognize them to the exclusion of the more progressive class, whose aim it is to work in the interest of the whole people. They also called the attention of the organization to the fact that colored men were appointed to office mainly in the south, where the only political service the colored men can render is to send delegates to the national conventions, and are denied to those in the northern states, whose votes are necessary to the success of either party. James M. Townsend, of Indiana, was elected president. Among the vice presidents is Rev. J. E. Johnson, of California.

WORK OF THE FLAMES.

The Vatican Authorities Alarmed by a Fire in the Mounted Police Barracks.

ROME, May 5.—The Vatican and government circles are greatly exercised over rumors in circulation in this city about a fire which was last evening discovered in the barracks occupied by the carbineria, or armed and mounted policemen. Notwithstanding the utmost efforts of the soldiers and firemen the flames soon spread to adjoining outbuildings, where were quartered the horses of the police and the forage for their maintenance. The rumors referred to are to the effect that the fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin and the work of the socialist element of the capital. However this may be, it is certain that the Vatican authorities were so much alarmed that they at once ordered the Swiss guard under arms during the entire night.

OVERTURES FOR PEACE.

Steps to Put an End to the Chilian War.

PARIS, May 5.— An official dispatch received from Chili says it is proposed that three members of the congressional, or insurgent party, and three members of the Balmaceda, or presidential party, should be appointed to confer upon and discuss some arrangement which would bring peace to Chili. President Balmaceda has solicited the good offices of Brazil, the United States and France in the effort to restore peace in Chili. He had asked these three countries to unite in any endeavors which they may make in this direction.

OLDEST TWINS LIVING.

Sisters Eighty-seven Years Old Who Can Scarcely Be Told Apart.

St. Cloud, Minn., boasts the oldest living pair of twins in the country. Rosina and Crescentia Sutterlee were born in Zell Baden, Germany, Feb. 22, 1804. Crescentia was married in 1835 to John Fritz, at their home, and in the year 1848, together with her husband and only son, Andrew Fritz, now a prosperous and highly respected citizen of St. Cloud, immigrated to America and removed to Sandusky, O., where they resided until 1857.

From there they went to Minnesota, locating at St. Paul, and in 1861 removed to their present home, which is still his home. Rosina, the other twin sister, was married to Edward Sweth in 1831. Five children were born to this couple, all of whom have since died—three in Germany, the other two in this country. Her husband died in Germany, and as a widow she came to this country in 1868, residing with her son-in-law, Henry Koester, ever since. The parents of the two women both reached the age of nearly ninety years, and present indications would predict a longer lifetime for the twins than that of their parents.

The resemblance in appearance of the pair is so great that many times intimate friends, who have known them since their residence here, have been deceived in their identity. Rosina has often been mistaken for her sister. At a time the latter needed medical treatment and called in the doctor, who was a friend of her sister, and when she became convalescent she asked the doctor for her bill. He answered that on account of the many favors shown in business relations he wouldn't charge a cent, not knowing that she was not the sister he referred to.

Upon one occasion John Fritz, a grandson of Crescentia, who operates a photograph gallery here, induced the twin sisters to make a sitting for their photographs. When the picture was finished and shown to them they simultaneously spoke up, saying, "Which of the two am I?"

The grandchildren of Crescentia, of whom nine are living, have many times failed to identify their grandmother when in company with her sister except by their dress. They usually dressed alike. Rosina attends early mass in the Catholic church every morning, and her sister, who lives one and one-half miles from the church, attends frequently during the summer months, making the distance there and back on foot. The memory of the two aged ladies is good, especially that of Rosina.

Crescentia about two years ago discarded spectacles, which she had worn for many years, and since reads the newspapers and her prayer book without the aid of glasses. On bright days she can see the chapel on the so called Calvary Mount, nearly two miles distant from her residence. The two stand each about five feet four inches in height, and Crescentia weighs 235, while Rosina only balances the scales at 233 pounds. They have both been widows for many years, neither marrying after the death of her first husband.—Chicago Herald.

Ice and Flowers Near Mount St. Elias.

The fields of flowers skirting the forests surpass in rank luxuriance and in brilliancy of color anything of the kind it has been my fortune to see elsewhere. On the terraces and slopes of the mountains projecting into the Malaspina glacier one may walk for miles through flowery meadows, shoulder deep in a sea of bloom. No daisy meadow in New England is more thickly carpeted with blossoms than these remote, unexplored gardens of southern Alaska. Winter and summer lovely verdure and icy desolation are here side by side. One may stand on the border of an ice field miles in breadth and pluck as beautiful a garden of flowers and ferns as ever graced a May festival.

A few hundred feet above the timber line it is always winter. Near the lower limit of the summer's snow there are occasional summer slopes so situated as not to be swept by avalanches, which are covered with a dense plush of brilliant Alpine blossoms, and form a most pleasing contrast to the sparkling cliffs of snow and ice surrounding them. In the higher mountains there is absolutely no vegetation. Even the tints of lichens and mosses are absent from the precipices, and all the less rugged slopes are buried beneath snow and ice. —Israel C. Russell in Century.

Forgery Made Easy.

Forgeries are encouraged by the bad practices that have grown up in the commercial houses—the use of stylographic pens and aniline inks. Many large houses, recognizing the lack of character in a signature written with a stylographic pen, have discarded them altogether in signing checks and papers of similar importance, and other firms require documents to be signed with a steel or quill pen. A stlyographic signature is easily imitated, and when it comes to identifying the genuine signature a difficulty is met, arising from the effect of the movement on the essential characteristic features. Aniline inks are still more dangerous, because they can be copied exactly by the use of copying pads. —London Tit-Bits.

Great Britain's Unclaimed Hoards.

If all the boxes lying unclaimed for ten years or longer in the cellars of the Banks of England and Ireland, at Coutts', Drummonds', Child's and other well known bankers, were unearthed and their contents examined, wonderful treasures in the shape of plate, jewelry and other valuables might be handed over to the representatives of the original depositors. Many missing title deeds, wills and other valuable documents might also be restored to their rightful owners. —Chambers' Journal.

Waterproof Compositions.

A liquid waterproof composition has been placed on the market for coating articles such as leather, strapping, machinery, polished steel, brass and copper, which, it is claimed, will resist damp, heat, cold and acids. The composition is colorless, and does not rub or peel off, being only removable by the application of paraffin or turpentine.
