Table with columns: Pacific Coast Time, BAR., Hum., Relative Hum., Dir. of Wind, Nature of Sky, State of Weather.

Maximum temperature, 71; minimum temperature, 58. The river is standing at 17.70 feet above '00,' being a rise of 4 feet within 48 hours.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

THE DALLES, May 9, 1891. FAIR Weather forecast till 12 m. Monday; fair warmer.

The Chronicle is the Only Paper in The Dalles that Receives the Associated Press Dispatches.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

If New Orleans wants to redeem itself it should lynch the lottery.

From Mr. Teague of Dutch Flat we learn that the folks there had a "glorious rain."

One car of sheep for the Sound was shipped from the stock yards this morning by Jack Anderson.

Napoleon Perrault, a Canadian, today declared his intention to become an American citizen.

J. T. Peters & Co., will soon put in the steam laundry building a complete set of planer and box factory machinery.

We regret to learn that the wife of Henry Williams of Eight Mile is ill with measles. Her condition however is not dangerous.

John Irvine, Esq., formerly an old resident of the Irvine farm, Chenoweth creek, near this city, and now a citizen of Lake county, is in The Dalles visiting relations and friends.

From the kind of load, that Charley Denton had on his wagon this morning, as he drove through Second street it is believed he has taken out license to peddle "beats."

The county court has granted full citizenship papers to Thomas E. Wickens and to Ernest Jordan, former subjects of the British Empire and to John Schasser a former subject of the German Empire.

A new barber shop has been opened in the East End by Peter M. Stack, in the store occupied by F. Dehm, the watchmaker. Mr. Dehm is going to have a sign put out with the legend, "If Peter don't shave you I will."

From J. B. Havelly of Boyd we learn that the rain fall at his place was twenty-eight hundredths of an inch, sufficient to wet the ground "clear through." The prospects for good crops is very encouraging.

The most potent and most perfect remedy for sleeplessness is to drink hot water. It can be heated over the gas or over a spirit lamp, and one who tries it will find himself going off to sleep like an infant.

There will be a match game of base ball between the academy and The Dalles nines this afternoon at the fair grounds; a close game is expected. As we go to press before the game is completed a full report will be deferred until Monday.

Jack Robinson, who is known here as having been connected with Hitchcock & Frasier, the contractors for the reservoir, at the presidential reception the other day in Portland had his pocket picked of a hundred and forty dollar gold watch and chain.

From the Wasco Observer we learn that the contract for transcribing the records affecting the new territory lately added to Sherman county has been given to Geo. H. Thompson of this city. The price to be paid for the work is 6 1/2 cents a folio.

There are 34 new steamers in various stages of construction on the Willamette and Columbia rivers. This business is more promising in these sections than it has ever been before. Portland is the headquarters for the boat building industry in the northwest, and has turned out more fine passenger boats than any other point on the coast.

An incident happened Thursday at the Cascade Locks which was neither down in the programme nor reported in the dispatches. When the presidential train came to a stand at that place a big burly son of the Emerald Isle, standing about six feet from the president, called out in his loudest tones, "Three cheers for Jim Blaine," and they were given with a will.

In the Notre Dame Scholastic for the present month is a very excellent article on the tragedy of the Roman Cincinnatus and the Greek Neobolus written by Mr. N. J. Sinnot, son of Colonel Sinnot, of the Umatilla House. The article reflects very great credit on the talents of its author as well as on the thorough educational training of the Notre Dame college.

From W. L. Ward we learn that the free bridge road across the Deschutes was never in so fine a condition as it is under its new keeper John Harris. Mr. Ward says there is not a rock or stone on the road from one hill to the other, and that the road is in better repair than he ever thought it could be placed in. Mr. Harris deserves the credit for all this as well as for having reduced the toll 50 per cent.

Peanuts have been raised in Yakima county, Wash., that gave a gross return of $60 an acre.

Dr. Tucker will sell his household goods at a bargain. See his advertisement in another column.

Last Tuesday a fine rain fell at Wamic which leaves the ground and crops in exceedingly fine condition.

The Klickitat Leader says that wheat averaged last year 10 cents a bushel more at The Dalles than at Columbus.

On a rock, that looks like some species of petrification, in the office of George Rowland is written the following: "Found near the north pole in the year 1530 by George Knaggs." The Chronicle submits that this is the earliest record of Mr. Knaggs yet discovered.

P. T. Knowles, of Wamic, will start Monday on a trip overland to Montana with the S. B. remedies. He has the handsome wagon we spoke of a few days ago and drives a fine team of his own with a big "S. B." cover on them. It is a splendid rig and will attract much attention.

Hon. E. O. McCoy has bought out the interest of O. M. Scott in the two warehouses at Biggs and Rufus. These warehouses were built about three years ago and must be valuable property as by their means Mr. McCoy has a practical monopoly of the grain market of nearly all Sherman county, and that is better than all the portage railways on the Columbia river.

A birthday party was given a few evenings ago at the residence of Mr. I. C. Nickelsen in honor of his daughter Miss Julia's attaining her 12th year. Quite a number of the young lady's playmates and companions were in attendance. After a very nice menu, in the way of refreshments had been discussed the young people engaged in enjoyable games, both outdoor and in, until about 8 o'clock when they separated, after having spent a very pleasant time. The presents given to Miss Nickelsen were many and appropriate.

A late number of the Chicago Inter-Ocean contained a caricature entitled "Two Sensations" which contributes a further addition to the notoriety of Oregon's governor. The Inter-Ocean adds: "It is estimated that Oregon has merchantable timber amounting to 400,000,000,000 feet. At a moderate price, says an authority, it would pay the national debt twice over. The time is coming when it will be of more value than any mines of gold or silver. The world is just waking up to the value of growing forests."

Steps Taken for Celebrating the 4th of July.

A meeting was held at the Board of Trade rooms last evening to make arrangements for celebrating the coming 4th of July. Those assembled were called to order and Mr. J. S. Fish was elected chairman and H. J. Maier, secretary. The chairman stated the object of the meeting and after considerable discussion as to the proper course to pursue to get up a rousing 4th of July celebration, it was moved and carried that the chair appoint the following committee.

Executive Committee—C. Stubeling, M. T. Nolan, J. O. Mack.

Committee on finance and soliciting—W. H. Lochead, Geo. Blakely, Ad Keller, J. Hampshire, M. T. Nolan, A. Buchler, J. Menifee, J. S. Fish, Ed. Williams.

Stockholders.

Don't forget the Wasco Independent annual meeting on Monday at 3 o'clock p. m., at the Academy building.

From New York to London in six days and twenty hours. This is the astonishing quick time made by the new twin screw mail steamers, the Columbia, Augusta, Victoria, Normannia, and Fuerst Bismark. Apply for tickets to I. C. Nickelsen, agent in this city. Parcels and money forwarded to all parts of Europe by Globe express.

In Mr. Herbring's show-window we saw this morning an entirely new thing in the way of gentlemen's shoes. The uppers are made of "ooze calf," and are very soft and light, and seem admirably adapted for summer wear.

Shaw and Smith who are fishing with pound nets on the Washington side of the Columbia, opposite Hood River, caught a carp that weighed 8 pounds in one of their nets the other day.

The granger store will have a new line of wagons, buggies, and general farming implements by the early part of next week.

From J. D. Wilcox of Kent we learn that they had a fine rain there that soaked the ground thoroughly.

Mr. J. B. Mowry of Wasco came into the city last evening and gave us a pleasant call.

Hon. F. P. Mays came up from Portland on the noon train.

Italian indignation takes the form of pelting tourists with stones, according to the report sent out from Florence lately. Every one will sympathize with the unfortunates thus brutally assaulted and condemn the contemptible cowards composing the mob. But it will have one good effect. It will turn the tide of tourists in another direction, and Italy will suffer by the loss of American dollars. Of course, Switzerland, the Tyrol, and other regions will receive their quota as before, but some of the tourists in turning back from Italy may conclude that there are a few points in their own country worth seeing. Once the movement westward is started, it will increase to mammoth proportions. The west has the scenic attractions, and they captivate and enthrall. One visit will but whet the appetite for more, and Italy's loss will be our gain.

One of the vacant "garters" will be conferred upon King Charles of Romania.

The thing to do is to get salvation before you wear out your brain in trying to understand it.

Dress Cutting a Specialty.

The Baby King of Spain.

Little Alfonso XIII, king of Spain, whose fifth birthday will be celebrated in May, leads the most joyless life imaginable. He is sensitive and sickly. He is frequently taken down with violent attacks of colic, which last for days and shake his tiny weak body into a condition of pitiable thinness. Consequently he is undersized, white and languid. His mother coddles him and watches him so closely that he rarely, if ever, has an opportunity for a bit of boy's play or other healthful exercise. He passes only one hour daily in the open air, and this by the side of his mother in the royal carriage. Occasionally he is allowed to leave the carriage and walk in the park sedately in the society of his nurse, his English governess and the Countess of Peralta.

The people of Madrid say that the total of the ages of these three companions is 160 years. The Countess of Peralta is at least ninety, and was the head governess of little Alfonso's father very many years before the miniature king was dreamed of. At all events, it is certain that the royal companions, with their 160 years, frown on all royal capers, for the occasional attempts of their puny charge to run or jump or throw stones are suppressed with military promptness.

Once in two weeks the son of the Duke of Casa-Truj is commanded to the palace to play with his sovereign, but there is little or no benefit in this for Alfonso XIII, since the three women of the 160 years are with the children constantly to prevent all boyish exuberance. So the small, unhappy sovereign worries along his narrow royal way with a burden of childish misery that has rendered him prematurely sad and indifferent.—New York Sun.

Fast Time in Bookmaking.

The fastest time on record for the making, compiling and publishing of a statute book comes from Oklahoma. The legislature recently adjourned in session 120 days. On the morning of the last day there had not been passed enactments that when printed would fill to exceed sixty pages of an ordinary law book. At the close of the last day the signature of the governor was placed on enough more to fill a statute book of 1,260 pages without the index.

Among these were included a code of civil and criminal procedure in both districts, probate and justice courts and laws governing crimes and punishments covering 200 pages. Within thirty-five days from the final adjournment these laws were copied, corrected and arranged in a manner that Chief Justice Green, of the territory, pronounced perfect, with side and head notes for each section. Within forty-eight hours after the compiling committee had turned in its last copy the printed volume, comprising over 1,300 pages, was turned over to Secretary Martin bound in law sheep.—Kansas City Times.

A Sinking Mountain.

Two or three miles west of Hiawasse and Brasstown, on the mountain dividing Hiawasse and Brasstown, on lot of land No. 87, in the seventeenth district and first section, and on the west side of the mountain, Mr. Hamilton, of Athens, Ga., is mining for corundum. He found that his supply of water, with which he used to wash his corundum, had ceased to flow. One of his workmen was despatched to find out the cause. He quickly returned and said that the mountain was sinking. Soon the alarm spread and parties started to solve the mystery.

They soon found that a very large fissure was opening in the earth in the shape of a semicircle, and large trees were falling in every direction. The amount of land encompassed was about forty acres. By examining closely they found that other fissures were opening on the southwest and northeast, crossing the mountain. The opening in some places is as much as six feet wide and the depth is unknown.—Cor. Atlanta Constitution.

A Recent Cable Dispatch.

The Anglo-Turco-Russian complication is growing more complicatedly complex. It now appears that the English-Romanian interests, being jeopardized by the contingency, or in fact proximity, of the ulterior understanding approximated by the Montenegrin protocol, and the disintegration of the ultimate conjunction precipitated by the Herzegovinian interpolations, the elementary attitude of the signatory powers is thereby annulled and confirmed. This, while it insures the autonomy of the Bosphorian conference, infallibly results in lowering the toll on the Suez canal eleven scudos each way, children and dogs half price. This in an immaterial degree devalorizes Premier Crispien's ultimatum eliminated by the Hungarian-Anstro-imbroglia, and the belligerents return to their corners.—San Francisco Examiner.

Died in His Confirmation Suit.

Charles W. Hungerford, a lad of sixteen, was to have been confirmed on Sunday in St. James' Lutheran church, in Reading. On Saturday afternoon he stopped work at the Reading railroad shops, and after eating his supper went out and procured his confirmation suit from the tailor. He carried it to the house of his brother-in-law, where he put it on to show to them. While they were admiring it he suddenly sank upon a lounge and became unconscious. Before a physician could be summoned he was dead. The cause of death was heart disease.—Allentown (Pa.) Register.

"The Rose of Brabant."

The dead Belgian prince was the handsomest young royal gentleman in Europe. Tall and powerfully built and possessing the golden blonde hair and fresh, bright complexion of the Flemish natives, he was an exceedingly attractive looking youth. The delicacy of his coloring was such that the slightest emotion would cause him to blush like a girl, a peculiarity that led his young sisters (between whom and himself a very warm affection existed) to tease him by calling him "The Rose of Brabant."—Paris Cor. St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
