WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

THE DALLES, May 12, 1891. Weather forecast till 12 m., Wednesday; fair followed by light rain. Warmer.

The Chronicle is the Only Paper in The Dalles that Receives the Associated Press Dispatches.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The surveyors will start on the Dalles portage railway tomorrow.

Hon. C. M. Cartwright of Hay Creek is registered at the Umatilla house.

Work has commenced on the Fossil flouring mill, and there is great joy in that city.

From the Capital Journal we learn that Hon. J. D. Lee of this city was in Salem last Friday.

A car load of material for the construction of the new boat has arrived at The Dalles. The rest of the material is being prepared at the contractor's shops in Portland and when ready will be shipped here to be put together.

From the Fossil Journal we learn that B. Kelsay of that town left a few days ago for Kent in this county to superintend the shearing of the large bands of sheep belonging to himself, brother and sons. After shearing, Mr. Kelsay will take the clip to The Dalles. He expects to have 130,000 pounds for sale.

The assessment roll just completed for school district No. 12 shows the value of taxable property in the district, exclusive of indebtedness and exemptions, to be $1,529,938, an increase of $59,938 over last year. At six mills on the dollar, the rate levied at the last annual school meeting, the taxes for this year will amount to $9,179.63, an increase of $345.52 over 1890.

Last Saturday morning at 7 o'clock, the astronomy class of the Wasco Independent academy and several friends gathered at the building to view the transit of Mercury across the sun. About 7:30, through the telescopes a dark brown spot was seen on the sun's disk, nearly two-thirds of the way across appearing to be crossing from the south to the north.

Company D, 3d regiment O. N. G. held an election Saturday night last at Hood River to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of first lieutenant Stranaban. Second lieutenant A. Winans was promoted to first lieutenant and sergeant Laurence Blowers was unanimously elected second lieutenant. These selections are first class in every way. We are personally acquainted with nearly every man in company D, and we unhesitatingly say that we don't believe there is a finer body of men anywhere. From repeated conversations with members of the company we know they take peculiar pride in their connection with the O. N. G. and are making every effort to make a creditable showing at the next encampment. The boys are drilling hard and we shall be surprised if company D, falls far behind the older companies.

Henry Parr the prisoner from the Cascades who is awaiting trial for having engaged in a duel with Pat McCormick is fast developing judicial qualifications that may one day land him on the bench if he don't take care. He has decorated the walls of the jail with a written code of laws not so much for the government of the prisoners as for the imposition of fines on new comers to supply a depleted exchequer with the funds necessary to keep himself in tobacco. Henry has constituted himself judge of the "Kangaroo Court" and from his decisions there is no appeal. His code imposes a fine of from 25 cents to $2.00 on all new comers according to their ability to pay and makes it a misdemeanor to spit on the floor or deface the walls, subject to a fine or punishment at the option of the judge. The punishment is restricted to cleaning out the cells or the option of a number of lashes on the bare back, which latter, owing to the limited power of executive authority, never goes farther than a threat. The writer was present the other day at the trial of a half crazy new comer who submitted with becoming meekness to the sentence of the court of a fine of "a dollar and six bits," which he devoutly promised to pay in tobacco when "Curg" would let him out. The judge had visions of honey dew and climax, but alas for the best laid plans of mice and men he has been looking ever since for a plug of tobacco that never came.

Postponed Until Evening.

The meeting of the ladies of the Congregational Sewing society, which was to have been held at Mrs. Palmer's to-morrow afternoon, has been postponed until 7:30 in the evening of the same day, in order to give the friends an opportunity to attend the funeral of Mrs. Force, which is to take place from the residence of Mr. D. W. Edwards at 2 o'clock.

Baby is sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he inquired of a druggist of the same city what was best to give a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family, if not the idol of his life was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. You know John Oleson, of the Watters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you? inquired the druggist. "His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it made the baby vomit very freely but did not injure it in the least, and what is more, it cured the baby's cold. The teamster already knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For sale by Snipes & Kinnersley.
