A DARING SCHEME.

Bankers in New York Attempt the Most Startling Deal Since the Great Black Friday.

Horrible Blundering by a Nebraska Sheriff—The Jackson-Corbett Fight was "No Contest."

NEW YORK, May 22.—A financial article in the Telegram says: "Ten bankers in Wall street each put up $60,000 making a total of $600,000 with which to pay the interest of $15,000,000 in gold which they are going to buy and hold for sixty days. This syndicate intends to compel England and Russia to pay a handsome premium on gold they buy or leave it in this country. It is one of the simplest yet most daring deals that has been attempted since Jay Gould and Jim Fisk tried to corner gold and brought on that day which is always referred to as 'Black Friday.'"

GENERAL COLTON'S ESTATE.

His Mother and Sister Recover $20,000 From it After Seven Years Waiting.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Master in Chancery S. C. Houghton today rendered his decision in the case of Abigail and Marth Colton, respectively mother and sister of the late General Colton, against Ellen Colton, widow of the deceased.

The suit was brought seven years ago to compel the fulfillment of the terms of the will relating to provisions made for the complainants. After a considerable litigation the matter was referred to master in Chancery.

The estate is valued at over seven hundred thousand dollars. The report awards seventy-five dollars monthly to each of the complainants for living expenses, and finds that by the terms of the will there is due them including interest about twenty thousand dollars.

PRESBYTERIANS IN COUNCIL.

Discussion of the Confession of Faith is Dodged for this Year.

DETROIT, May 22.—At the Presbyterian general assembly this morning the report of the committee on confession of faith was read by the chairman, Rev. William C. Roberts, president of the Lake Forest university. After reading the report it was moved that it be sent down to Presbyterians as recommended by the committee, and the committee continued to make a final report to the next assembly. The motion was unanimously adopted and the great debate is over this year so far as the general assembly is concerned.

HORRIBLE BLUNDERING.

A Rope Breaks and a Murderer has to be Strung up a Second Time.

BROKER BOWE, May 22.—Albert Havenstein the murderer of William Ashley and Herman Bolton was hanged at 1:30 this afternoon. When the trap was sprung there was a slip, a groan, and the body fell to the ground, the rope having broken. Havenstein, half conscious at the time, was picked up by the sheriff and deputies and brought back to the gallows. The rope was doubled and the trap again sprung. This time his neck was broken and death was apparently painless.

TRYING TO PROVE A FORGERY.

Davis Will Contestants Claim the Writer of the Instrument is Known.

BUTTE, Mont., May 20.—The Davis will contest set for today had hardly opened when Warren Poole, counsel for contestants, filed two motions, one for a continuance, the other for a suppression of certain affidavits taken in Iowa. In support of the first an affidavit of Henry A. Root is filed setting forth the recent discovery of the identity of the handwriting in which the alleged will is written, with that of J. E. Eddy, a grandson of James Davis, one of the witnesses to the will. The similarity extends to the phraseology and spelling of the words, proved by photographic copies of the letters. This discovery was only made last Monday, and delay is now important to enable the contestants to secure further evidence.

Eddy was a resident of Davis county, Ia., in 1880 to 1883, and did business and carried on correspondence for James Davis. He signed James Davis name to letters sent to various people. It is alleged the will was not made by the late Judge Davis, but was written subsequent to the death of James Davis and Job Davis, and that the will and signatures are the work of Eddy. Time is necessary to complete the chain of evidence now discovered. This was not opposed by the proponent of the will and the case was continued until June 22. The great array of counsel here now will leave at once. Colonel R. G. Ingersoll is among the counsel for the contestants and came here with his wife and daughter.

REIGN OF LAWLESSNESS.

Rough Characters Rule in New Towns on the Great Northern Extension.

HELENA, Mont., May 20.—John Wilson, a former resident of Helena, and a gentleman of known integrity, arrived from the Flathead country today and reports a reign of lawlessness in that section. Within the last few months 3000 or 4000 people have stampeded that country in advance of the boom expected upon the arrival of the Great Northern Railway Western extension. Two new towns, Columbia Falls and Kalispell, have suddenly sprung up, and a million dollars' worth of lots sold in them.

Among the motley population is a large contingent of very tough characters. Mr. Wilson reports that acts of violence are of frequent occurrence. Three men were killed within a few miles of each other, on Monday, the day he left, although he did not learn their names. One was an innocent workman in Colter Brothers lumber camp, a man having fired at one of the proprietors, missing his aim. The second was killed in a stabbing affair on the east fork of the Columbia river, and the third corpse is that of a carpenter shot in Columbia Falls. But one man is under arrest.

The nearest telegraph station is Ravalli, distant from the scene of violence 100 miles, and details are meager. Officers of the law are few in number, and can afford little protection.

ALL KINDS OF WEATHER.

Cold Wave Traveling Down the Pacific Coast This Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—The signal service reported today that a cold wave is coming. It had its rise in British America, somewhere near Hudson bay, and has been traveling down this way ever since the first of the week. At 5 A. M. snow was falling heavily along the line of the Southern Pacific in north-eastern Nevada and in the neighborhood. In Montana it was at zero this morning, and all through eastern Pacific coast states the temperature is falling rapidly. This will dispel the heat in the Sacramento valley.

Nevada Crops Benefited.

CARSON, Nev., May 20.—There was heavy rains all day, and it is now snowing. The Carson river is rising rapidly and is coming into business houses on Main street in Empire city. If the storm keeps up a little longer the crops in Nevada will be heavier than ever before. Every stream and rivulet is swollen to its utmost capacity.

FROM SPOKANE.

Dishonest Express Agent Confesses.
SPOKANE, May 20.—Martin Wallace, agent for the Pacific Express Company, this afternoon visited Wasson, who was arrested and committed to jail last night on the charge of stealing money from the company, while on the Tacoma and Mullan run about two weeks ago, and succeeded in obtaining from him a complete confession of his crime. There were two packages of money stolen, he said, one was to a New York firm and the other was to an Omaha house. He secured from each package $600. He says that to avoid detection he destroyed the way-bills. He left the company's employ at the end of his run to Tekon, and since then has been in hiding at the resort of Kitty Miller. The whole amount, he says, was spent in the house where he was secreted.

Young Hearst's New Yacht.

NEW YORK, May 20.—There is being completed at the yards of the Herreshoff Manufacturing company of Bristol, R. I., what is to be one of the most palatial yachts afloat. It is the property of W. R. Hearst, son of the late Senator Hearst. It is expected she will be ready to slide off the ways in about ten days. The launching is to be an important event and a big crowd of people will witness the ceremony. When completed, if the yacht comes up to contract stipulations, Hearst will take her to the Pacific coast where, without doubt, in point of speed and beauty she will stand without a peer.

The West Shore Company Again Sued.

PORTLAND, May 20.—J. B. Bridges, the well-known contractor, yesterday commenced suit in department No. 1 of the state circuit court against the West Shore Publishing company and others to recover $2897 for balance due on contract for erecting the new West Shore building on Water and Columbia streets, and $708.08 for extra material furnished. The plaintiff states that he took the contract for erecting the building for $12,467. He received $9,600 on account, leaving a balance due him of $2,867. The $708.08 is for material not specified in the contract.

Catholic Teachers Restored.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Secretary Noble has directed the commissioner of Indian affairs to restore sisters Angelica O'Callaghan and Nincenta Coughlin to their former duties as teachers of the government school of the Menominee reservation in Wisconsin. The superintendent and matron of the school were not restored. It is understood that this action was based on the conclusion reached by Inspector Cisney, who investigated the trouble, but whose report cannot at present be made public.

A Window Decoration.

What is more beautiful for a low screen around the kitchen windows than sweet peas. If the kitchen is on the sunny side of the house they will luxuriate with no other fertilizer than the soap suds of the weekly washing. The seed should be planted very early in the season, in a rich, sunny place, as deep as six or eight inches. Some floriculturists plant them in the fall, putting them down the depth of ten inches and covering the ground with rich fertilizer. They must be given something for support as soon as they are out of the ground. Bushes may be used for this purpose, but a wire gauze of large mesh, painted a medium shade of green, is prettier than anything else. The new varieties of sweet peas are considerably larger than the old varieties and will cover a trellis from four to six feet in height. A mixture of black-purple sweet peas with the old fashioned rose and white "painted lady" looks very pretty on such a trellis.—New York Tribune.

Andalusian Enthusiasm.

If African women are to be transported to Granada to stily adorn these ancient ruins, the native Andalusian damsel would vie with them for the right, for the Andalusian is a far more beautiful gem, and worthy of being born in the shadow of the Alhambra or the Alcazar. Her form is soft and flexible, the quintessence of the word "pliant" applied to her. She crouches in the smallest corner, she robs the sharpest angle of its sharpness by sliding stealthily around it, she winds her supple body through the narrowest crevice. Her senses partake daintily of what may be offered to them. Her nose lingers but a moment above the fragrant chalice of the rose; her lips slip but a single drop from the fiery malaga and reject the rest.

Her most powerful sense, insatiable, yet held in check by her, and holding others within its wondrous ban, is her large, beautiful eye. In the midst of the snowy splendor of her face this strange, black flame is the confession of the extremes which unite in her breast.—Chicago Globe.

Best Time to Tune a Piano.

Most people let their pianos go until the ear cannot tolerate them, but a piano requires constant attention, and where the changes of the season are marked ought to be tuned at least four times a year. Where the tuning is occasional and not regular, either the spring after the fire are extinguished, or the early winter, after they are well under way, is the best time for tuning, for then the piano is least subject to climatic changes.—Interview in Seattle Telegraph.

The recent death of the "poet" Close.

In England, recalls the curious circumstances under which he received a pension. He was recommended for a pension by Lord Palmerston in a fit of good nature, at the instance of a friend of Mr. Close. The alleged poet was a mere writer of doggerel, and after much discussion the pension order was revoked. Lord Palmerston considered his blunder an excellent joke.
