A correspondent from Fifteen Mile writes us that Mr. Horatio Stone, of Fifteen Mile Creek, died on Wednesday, May 27th., 1891, of Congestive fever caused partially by a diseased leg which has been a serious source of suffering to him for several years. The surveying party that started out over a week ago to survey and locate a road between The Dalles and some point in Sherman county met with a mishap that will delay the further progress of the survey for a short time. On one of the late very windy days the surveyor's instrument was knocked over and almost completely ruined. The party will take the field again as soon as the instrument is repaired or another procured.

The name McGinty has been honored in Irish story since Eochid II was crowned King of Ulster on Jacob's pillar by the prophet Jeremiah. What, therefore, was our astonishment and indignation, on finding that Jimmy McGinty, in order to secure the contract for constructing the reservoir at Mesplies, changed his name to McGintie. He pretended he was "French" and got the contract. Now he says he is going to wear side whiskers. What next?

Abbie Carrington, in the spring of 1887, after six consecutive seasons in Grand Opera, and having during this time sung the leading soprano roles in eighteen different Grand Operas, determined to take a much needed rest, which resulted in taking her into a new sphere of work, and has perhaps succeeded in showing still further the greatness of this phenomenal soprano. This change of course prevented her continuing in Italian opera but gave to the concert platform one who, though so high in price, has always proven a paying investment, and now seems to have become a permanent fixture of the Chautauqua Assemblies throughout the country, including Ottawa, Kansas; Crete, Nebraska; Glen Park, Colorado; Monona Lake, Wisconsin; Waseca, Minnesota, and the great Lake Chautauqua, New York.

Among the Schools of Wasco.

EDITOR CHRONICLE: With your permission I will give you a few items concerning the schools, from time to time as I journey among them; praising what I find to be good and making suggestions for improvement.

I am the more anxious to do this because I believe that in no other way can I more readily awaken an interest among patrons. And this seems in many districts to be the main thing that is lacking.

The short trip I made last week was not a very successful one, as will be seen below, for out of eight schools visited I found from one cause or another, only four in session.

I left The Dalles, Wednesday noon May 20th, and came to the Floyd school No. 14, where Miss Lura Welch is teaching. This school is small, only seven scholars being present, some staying away on account of sickness. Some of the pupils here are well advanced. They were just passing a written examination in history and physiology. It speaks well for Miss Welch's teaching that having taught here last year, she is employed again this year at an increase of salary. How much is lost in many districts by changing teachers so often. They have a dictionary and a good globe here, but need some wall maps. In this district, I am thankful to say, there is no fussing and quarreling.

Went on to district No. 15 near James Fulton's. The school was not in session but found a notice on the door "Teacher is sick."

The next morning we visited the school in No. 16, Miss Jeannette Graham teacher. She is a young teacher, but is giving good satisfaction. Here we also found just seven scholars. They have Webster's unabridged dictionary, but no other apparatus. Most of the scholars come on horseback. The house is small and unfinished but a good coat of whitewash would brighten it up wonderfully.

From here we went to the Johnson school No. 18, but found it closed on account of the death of one of the directors, Mr. Obarr.

Our next drive was five miles up the long ridge of the divide to Summit school near Mr. Canfield's. Near here we got one of Wasco's fine views—five snow-crad peaks at once. They have no school here. A great many have moved away, and only three scholars are left to draw public money.

From here we went on the down grade six or seven miles to Liberty school No. 20, where Mr. P. P. Underwood is teaching. We got there just as he was closing, but came back next morning and visited the school. They have a large substantial house, for which they deserve credit, but it needs painting badly. I saw no apparatus of any kind except two very small wall maps, and no suitable desk or table for the teacher.

The district is fortunate in securing the services of so excellent a teacher as Mr. Underwood. The black-board exercises in Written Arithmetic were very good, showing a thorough drill by the teacher in the handling of fractions, and some very apt pupils.

Next went to No. 30 in Long Hollow on the Canyon City road, Mr. T. W. Atkinson teacher, but found the school closed on account of measles.

As it was Friday afternoon we turned for home, stopping on the way at No. 22 on Eight Mile, Miss S. V. Cooper teacher.

The stay here for an hour was a real recreation. The exercises in declamation and dialogue were good, and the impromptu story writing by the children, and the mental black-board drill did credit to both teacher and pupils. All these exercises showed that both teacher and pupils were working hand in hand together. A number of parents were visiting, which was a great encouragement to the school. The house here is finished outside and inside and furnished with nice seats, teacher's desk and apparatus. Among the latter I noticed a set of anatomical charts one of the finest I ever saw. The people here are justly proud of their school house and their school.

A good ideal for a superintendent to labor for is a school house like this in every district in the county, with at least a six months school.

Next week I intend to travel east of the Deschutes. More anon.

TROY SHELLEY, School Supt.

The following incident happened to Madame Carrington, the prima donna, who presents "The Rose of Castile in the Vogt Grand Friday evening of this week, at the City of Mexico, during a performance of "Martha," and just as Mme. Carrington finished singing "The Last Rose of Summer," President Gonsaulis had passed over the footlights an immense pyramid of flowers, containing a variety of Mexico's choicest fruits, a nightingale and several canary birds and a package of gold coin, the whole surmounted with a beautiful rose, to which was attached a card bearing the following inscription:

"Strong in virtue and womanliness. Strong in character and charitableness. Strong in voice and sentiment. You sway the world at will in song. Birds—Inspiration, the soul of music. Flowers—Purity, Beauty and virtue. Fruits—Strength and perpetuity. Gold—Character and stability. The good people of Mexico love to do you honor."

Progress of the Portage Road.

Mr. Farley came up from the Locks last night and will return tomorrow. He reports that the survey will be finished today and that tomorrow orders for the material needed for construction will be made out and placed in the hands of those who will supply it. The survey would have been finished some time sooner had they not met with some difficulty in securing a landing place for the boats, owing to the presence of rocks. As many as three different soundings had to be made. All difficulty in this regard has been met, but owing to the present high stage of the river it will be impossible to finish the west end of the incline at present. This however can be done when the water recedes. Mr. C. C. Hobert has been chosen as master mechanic for the construction of the work. Mr. Hobert was master mechanic of the U. P. shops at this city for six or seven years and is in every way qualified for the position he assumes. The board is to be congratulated in the choice it has made in Mr. Hobert, for no one could have been selected more satisfactory in all respects. Mr. Hobert is a man of sterling integrity and of irreproachable character and it speaks well for the honest conduct of the portage road that a man of his well known reputation for honesty and integrity has been placed in a position so responsible.

Ship building is lively at this point. Three new vessels are on the stocks. That is there were three till yesterday when the new don't-know-what-to-call-er of Messrs. Haworth & Thurman disappeared. It is to be hoped that the craft has no dangerous designs against any foreign power with which this country is at peace. If the tin cans are loaded and the thing should go off there is no calculating what complications it might get us into. We don't believe the rumor that she has gone to sea with the intention of capturing the Itata or making an attack on Italian commerce; but she is gone, whether the wild waves say not.

Baby is sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he inquired of a druggist of the same city what was best to give a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family, if not the idol of his life was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. You know John Oleson, of the Watters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you? inquired the druggist. "His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it made the baby vomit very freely but did not injure it in the least, and what is more, it cured the baby's cold. The teamster already knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For sale by Snipes & Kinersley.

He wants it sick.—Mr. J. H. Straub, a well known German citizen of Fort Madison, Iowa, was terribly afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism when Mr. J. F.
